Nike Supports UNC Athletics

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Nike Inc. signed a new 10-year contract for Nike to be the exclusive supplier of athletic footwear, apparel and accessory products to the Tar Heels effective July 1, 2008 and running through the 2017-18 school year. Nike provides the athletic department with shoes, uniforms, coaching gear, balls and other equipment. In addition to the apparel and equipment, which constitutes the majority of the value of the contract, Nike gives the University $2 million for the Chancellor's Academic Enhancement Fund. Chancellor Carol Folt has directed the funds to faculty support. Nike also provides support for team tours, travel and the hosting regular-season tournaments in several sports, including the 2016 Nike Carolina Classic at Fetzer Field August 19 and 21. The athletic department also received $1 million for signing the contract, with those funds having been used to overhaul lighting and sound at the Dean E. Smith Center.

His telephone number is 919-843-6405. Thank you for all your generous support.

2015 UNC Women's Soccer Core Values & Team Accolades

TOUGH: From George Bernard Shaw: "... be a force of fortune instead of a feverish, selfish little clod of ailments and grievances complaining that the world will not devote itself to making you happy." Funded by Dwight Anderson; Exemplified by Hanna Gardner, Darcy McFarlane, Paige Nielsen

DISCIPLINED: From Henry Adams; Theodore Rex – Desmond Morris: "Roosevelt ... showed the singular primitive quality that belongs to ultimate matter ... 'he was pure act'." Exemplified by Joanna Boyles, Annie Kingman, Paige Nielsen

FOCUSED: From Reynolds Price: "College is about books. This will almost certainly be the last time in your life when other people bear the expense of awarding you four years of financially unburdened time." Funded by Marjorie and Walter Buckley; Exemplified by Annie Kingman, Darcy McFarlane, Frannie Reuland

RELENTLESS: From Thomas Buxton – Philanthropist: "The difference between one person and another, between the weak and the powerful, the great and the insignificant, is energy – invisible determination." Funded by Munroe and Becky Cobey; Exemplified by Joanna Boyles, Darcy McFarlane, Paige Nielsen.

RESILIENT: From Jason Elliot; An Unexpected Light: Travels in Afghanistan: "What an extraordinary place of liberties the West really is ... exempt from ... a traditional life for survival, they become spoiled and fragile like over bred dogs ... " Funded by Alston Gardner; Exemplified by Summer Green, Paige Nielsen, Darcy McFarlane.

POSITIVE: From Viktor E. Frankl Man's Search for Meaning: "... everything can be taken from a man but one thing: the last of the human freedoms – to choose one's attitude in any given set of circumstances, to choose one's own way." Funded by Laszlo Birinyi; Exemplified by Samantha Leshnak, Kate Morris, Paige Nielsen.

CLASSY: From Doug Smith, Manager ('86): "Class is the graceful way you treat someone even when they can do nothing for you." Exemplified by Darcy McFarlane, Paige Nielsen, Frannie Reuland.

CARING: From John Donne; For Whom the Bell Tolls: "No man is an island, entire of itself ... any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind, and therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; it tolls for thee." Funded by Keath Castleloe-Low; Exemplified by Emily Bruder, Casey Mann, Paige Nielsen.

NOBLE: From Viktor E. Frankl Man's Search for Meaning: "If there is a meaning in life at all, then there must be a meaning in suffering." Exemplified by Megan Buckinham, Darcy McFarlane, Paige Nielsen.

SELFLESS: From Note given to Coach Dorrance by Raket Karvelsson (UNC '98): "People don't care how much you know until they know how much you care." Exemplified by Katie Bowen, Darcy McFarlane, Paige Nielsen.

GALVANIZING: From William Damon; Greater Expectations: "Not long ago, to 'believe in yourself' meant taking a principled, and often lonely, stand when it appeared difficult or dangerous to do so." Funded by Bill Rogers; Exemplified by Katie Bowen, Bryane Heaberlin, Paige Nielsen.

GRATEFUL: From Gregg Easterbrook, The Progress Paradox. "Finally there is the question of whether we have a duty to feel grateful. Hundreds of generations who came before us lived dire, short lives ... and did so partly motivated by the dream that someday there would be men and women who lived long lives ... without fear of an approaching storm." Exemplified by Megan Buckingham, Darcy McFarlane, Paige Nielsen.

THE KELLY MULDOON is given yearly to the player who is selected by her teammates as the person who lives the 12 Core Values to their fullest. The 2015 recipient is senior Paige Nielsen.

HONORING ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT AT 2015 TEAM BANQUET: The Tar Heel women's soccer team feted the core values winners at the 2015 team banquet conducted in February 2016. Also recognized were the nine players who had 3.0 cumulative grade point averages at the conclusion of the fall 2015 semester - Paige Nielsen, Hanna Gardner, Joanna Boyles, Dorian Bailey, Cameron Castleberry, Alexa Newfield, Julia Ashley, Lindsey Harris, Jessie Scarpa. Three Tar Heels had cumulative GPAs of 3.5 or higher - Darcy McFarlane, Annie Kingman and Katie Morris. Frannie Reuland had a perfect 4.0 GPA after the fall semester 2015.

Kenan Charitable Trust Gives $1 Million Endowment to UNC Women's Soccer Program to Honor Braxton Schell

Trustees of the William R. Kenan, Jr., Charitable Trust announced a gift of $1 million dollars to help endow scholarships and the operating budget of the University's women's soccer program in 2007. Dr. Richard M. Krasno, executive director of the Trust, made the announcement. The endowment was made in the name of William R. Kenan, Jr., in honor of the late Braxton Schell, an attorney in Greensboro, N.C., and a Carolina alumnus.

"The William R. Kenan, Jr. Charitable Trust was delighted to make this grant for two reasons. First, it enabled us to honor Braxton Schell, who was a staunch supporter of women's soccer at Carolina for decades and an important figure in the evolution and administration of many of the Kenan philanthropies," explained Krasno. "Second, the grant provides a way for us to honor an athletic program that has not only been phenomenally successful on the playing field; but also has been a model of the best that college sports can offer to its participants, fans and alumni. We hope that our gift will enable the women's soccer program to thrive and continue to demonstrate that all college athletic programs can be a source of pride and excitement to the UNC-Chapel Hill community."

Schell was a long-time fan and supporter of the UNC women's soccer program and he served as an attorney for the William R. Kenan, Jr. Funds. Schell regularly attended the team's games and traveled with the team on overseas exhibition tours as well. He was a partner in the law firm Schell, Bray, Aycock, Abel & Livingston PLLC in Greensboro, N.C. Schell was a 1948 Phi Beta Kappa alumnus of Carolina with a Bachelor of Science degree and he received his Juris Doctor degree with honors in 1951. Schell served as the Associate Editor of the North Carolina Law Review and was a Life Fellow of the American Bar Foundation. He was listed in "Best Lawyers in America" for corporate law practice for over 25 years and was named as a member of Business North Carolina's Legal Elite

The endowment goes to help fund annual scholarships for women's soccer at Carolina as well as benefiting the operating budget of the program in order to maintain the program at the highest level.

"The gift from the Kenan Trust means so much to the University and particularly to the women's soccer program. I think it speaks volumes as to the pride this University and the benefactors of UNC feel about not only the success of the women's soccer program but also the way in which Anson Dorrance and his staff have conducted themselves in building and maintaining a championship program," said former UNC Director of Athletics Dick Baddour.

"We are overwhelmed and so appreciative of the Kenan Charitable Trust for this remarkable gift," said UNC head coach Anson Dorrance. "We are all incredibly humbled with the size of the gift and honored with the rationale. Thank you on behalf of my staff and all the extraordinary young women who like me wear the Carolina Blue with undying loyalty and pride and have tried to show that every year."

Prior to the start of the 2016 season, Go Heels.com sat down with UNC head coach Anson Dorrance to talk about a variety of issues. Following is the text of the interview conducted in July 2016.

“Obviously last year we were devastated by injuries. Before the injuries started we were undefeated and ranked No. 1 in the country. That hurt us. And that will also hurt us this year as many of those players won’t be back at 100 percent when the season starts. That’s a concern. And another concern is the 20s taking two of our kids for the season. So honestly this coming fall is a mystery. The following fall we will have a phenomenal team. The fall after we will have a phenomenal team. This I just don’t know. It’s how well the injured players come back. It’s how well the freshmen are able to adjust to the collegiate level. The freshmen are good. Some of them are incredibly athletic. Some are incredibly technical and tactical. So of all the years coming into the season this is the greatest mystery to me.

“But having said that some of the players coming off the ACLs are looking good. So obviously we are not going to play them maximum minutes but just as we did with Jessie Scarpa her freshman year we phased her playing time in (10-12-15-20 minutes a half) and that’s what we will do again with all these players. By the end of the season she was playing 80 to 90 minutes a game and was one of the best players on the roster. I think with all of the players we have coming back from the ACLs by the end of this season they will be close to their peak from the 2015 season. The question is how we navigate the first part of the season with our rookies who will have to start and our ACLs who will have to come off the bench or play limited minutes. So it’s interesting.

“On the plus side Lindsey Harris could be a fantastic goalkeeper for us. So to have her with us in goal could be a mitigating factor if we are being dominated by an opponent. So she could give us a chance. Her back up is also good. I think we could be very good in goal. I think we could also be very good in defense. We will have some experience coming back to us in midfield. The mystery is the front line. Who is going to score? Who is going to create our goals. Question is how to replace U20 losses. How do we replace graduation losses?

“The schedule is a very good schedule. The swing out west is going to be incredibly difficult. UCLA and USC back to back is going to be incredibly difficult swing for us. I do like that though because that will allow us to measure who we are and where we need to go in training. Duke will probably have the best team they have ever had in their history this year so playing them early will also be a treat for us. Central Florida coached by one of the all-time UNC greats Tiffany Roberts, that will be a fantastic challenge for us. She’s doing a great job down there. As far as the ACC goes, there will not be a team in the conference that will not give us a run. This is what we are accustomed to. If we do well with it that will put us in a great position in regards to our RPI. It will test us early. It will test us in the middle. And it will test us late. There won’t be any part of the year where for two weekends in a row we can kick back and rest on our laurels.

CAROLINA’S EXCELLENT RECRUITING CLASS:

North Carolina’s freshman class was rated as the third-best recruiting class in the nation by Top Drawer Soccer in the fall of 2016. Here’s what Top Drawer Soccer had to say about the Tar Heel newcomers.

Commitments: F Zoe Redei (Eclipse SC – No. 3), F/D Taylor Otto (CASL – No. 6), F Bridgette Andrzejewski (Maryland United FC – No. 18), F Madison Schultz (Crossfire Premier – No. 20), F Morgan Goff (CASL – No. 106), D Abby Staker (CASL), F Kasey Parker (South Carolina United FC).

“The Tar Heels announced their seven-player class in May, securing a crop that should be able to supply a couple of starters in the fall. Madison Schultz spent the spring season in Chapel Hill, and is in contention for a starting role in the fall. Taylor Otto was also enrolled early, though she’s expected to be with the U20 World Cup squad and miss this season.”

2016 Team at a Glance
Record last year: 15-5-1
Postseason result: NCAA Second Round, lost to Texas A&M 1-0
Starters lost (based on the 11 players with the most starts in 2015): F Alexa Newfield, F Summer Green, F Jessie Scarpa, MF Katie Bowen, MF Joanna Boyles, D Paige Nielsen, GK Bryane Heaberlin
Starters returning (based on the 11 players with the most starts in 2015): MF Cameron Castleberry, D Julia Ashley, D Maya Worth, MF Dorian Bailey
Key additions: MF Bridgette Andrzejewski, F Madison Schultz, F Zoe Redei, F Morgan Goff,
Key non-conference games: UCF, at FGCU, at Duke, at UCLA, at USC
Dorrance quote: “So honestly this coming fall is a mystery. The following fall we will have a phenomenal team. This I just don’t know. It’s how well the injured players come back. It’s how well the freshmen are able to adjust to the collegiate level.”

BRIDGETTE ANDRZEJEWSKI
Fr. • Forward
Lutherville, Md.
McDonogh
#4

BRIDGETTE ANDRZEJEWSKI

Dorrance on Bridgette: She is a rocket ship. She has the potential to start for us. Her acceleration and speed are world class. She's a little rough around the edges technically and tactically. She's going to kill herself for us defensively. She's going to be very eager to get behind the other team's back line. She's amongst a group of freshmen who will be seeking to start this year.

High School: Graduated from McDonogh School in Owings Mills, Md. where she played soccer for four years • had 107 goals and 38 assists in her high school career • three-time All-Metro and All-State selection • also named Baltimore Sun player of the year three and Maryland state player of the year three times • three-time Varsity Sports Network player of the year • three-time high school All-America • Maryland Gatorade Player of the Year and National High School Player of the Year • member of school's honor roll.

Club: Two-time All-America • played on U.S. national youth teams since she was 13 years old.

Personal: Full name is Bridgette Ann Andrzejewski • daughter of Gary and Patty Andrzejewski • stands 5-8 • siblings include Ali, 31, Luke, 24, and Scott, 28 • was born January 27, 1997 in Towson, Md. • her sister played soccer at University of Maryland and Loyola College • she was also member of youth national teams and played in the pros for the Washington Freedom • her brother Scott played soccer at Stevenson University • her uncle Dave played soccer at UMBC and is in Hall of Fame for Retrievers' Athletic program • majoring in political science.

JULIA ASHLEY

#16

JULIA ASHLEY

Dorrance on Julia: One of the hardest working members of the team. Always comes in as fit as can be. We don't have to worry about her fitness rate. She paints the field. She works herself to death in every practice and in every game. I know she will come in as one of my fittest players. She had a huge impact as a freshman, playing more minutes than any freshman on my roster as my right back. She's very ambitious about her game. She's dedicated to improving. She doesn't cut any corners. I know

DORIAN BAILEY

Dorrance on Dorian: Dorian Bailey was having a fantastic season for us last year when she tore her ACL. It was her injury that started to derail us. She was the perfect complement for Jo Boyles. Bailey's speed and work rate complement Jo Boyles' technical platform and playmaking ability. The marriage in the midfield between those two was a marriage made in coaching heaven. I'm hoping Dorian can return to her previous glory. The way she played her freshman year was significant. She was the most valuable freshman. She got rookie of the year at our banquet and it was well deserved even though she only played half the season. Of course, this is a players' vote. This isn't me picking the player but unquestionably if I had to pick the player who had the best freshman season on the roster it would be Dorian. When Dorian was playing we were undefeated and ranked No. 1 in the country. When we lost her was the beginning of the decline of the team so her value to us last year was significant and we

MAGGIE BILL

Dorrance on Maggie: Maggie Bill stepped in a couple of years ago when we really needed her and won a starting spot and had a magnificent season. That year with a very ordinary roster we were ACC regular season champions being tied with Florida State, a team which went on to win the national championship. The savior for that season was Maggie Bill. She stepped in, never having started for us in the back and all of a sudden she's winning minutes. What we love about her is obviously because of her success in lacrosse that has given her a wonderful confidence in our sport as well. So we feel she's in a wonderful position to compete to start and play major minutes this fall. Obviously bouncing back and forth between the two programs is difficult for any athlete but she's in a position to navigate that well.

Redshirt Junior Year (2016): Projected as a starter in the Tar Heel defensive line at right center back position.

Junior Year (2015): Took a red-shirt year in both women's soccer and women's lacrosse.

Sophomore Year (2014): Missed first six non-league games due to a pre-season injury • returned to team against Notre Dame and for entire undefeated ACC championship regular season and ACC and NCAA playoffs • started at defense for 10 of the 13 games that she dressed for, playing 1,026 total minutes while averaging 79 minutes for all games.

Freshman Year (2013): Played in 12 games for the Tar Heels • appeared in all four NCAA Tournament games • recorded 124 minutes for the Tar Heels, including a season-high 21 minutes against the Miami Hurricanes.

High School: Graduated from St. Anthony's High School in South Huntington, N.Y. • competed for Albertson Soccer Club • was a Top Drawer Soccer four-star rated player • TDS #4 recruit in New York and #84 recruit nationally • multi-sport high school athlete as a forward in soccer, midfielder in lacrosse, point guard in basketball and sprinter in track • was captain and leading scorer of soccer team as a senior when her squad won the state and Catholic high school championships • was named championship game MVP and was feted as All-Long Island and All-New York State soccer team • her junior year also won Catholic high school and state championships

UNC Lacrosse: A gifted lacrosse player who also plays that sport at UNC and for the US Women's Senior National Team • started every game during both her freshman and sophomore years as a true two-way midfielder and finished fifth and second in scoring in successive seasons • led all scorers in thrilling NCAA Championship game during 9-8 loss to defending champion Maryland in 2015 • earned All-NCAA and All-ACC Tournament Team honors and second-team All-America accolades.

Personal: Given name is Margaret Cecelia Bill • goes by Maggie • daughter of Robert Bill and Katie Bill • was born in April 1995 at Mercy Hospital in Rockville Centre, N.Y. • stands 5-7 tall • member of Honor Roll all four years at St. Anthony's • majors in communications.

JOANNA BOYLES

Dorrance on Joanna: Joanna Boyles technically is my most gifted player. Even if you look at our entire history of our brilliant technicians she ranks right up there with the Tobin Heaths and the Meghan Klingenberg and some of the best technical players that we've ever had here at UNC like the Tisha Venturinis. Jo Boyles technically is just a magnificent player. The other thing I like about Jo is that she has improved defensively every year she's been here and she's becoming a greater and greater asset to our program and to the players that she plays with. She's an island of tranquility and composure in a game where that is difficult to ever have. She sets the mark for us in terms of playmaking, in terms of technical platforms, in terms of decision making. She's just a spectacular player for us.

Senior Year (2016): Intends to take a red-shirt season in 2015 as she recovers from an ACL tear suffered during practice in November 8, 2015 • has played at both attacking center midfield and holding center midfield position during her career

Junior Year (2015): 2015 second-team All-ACC selection • third-team NSCAA All-Southeast Region selection as a junior • earned honors on 2015-16 All-ACC Academic Team for women's soccer • selected for College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-District 3 Team as a junior • 2015-16 ACC Academic Honor Roll selection • in 2015 she was in her second season as a starter at center midfield • missed final 2 games of 2015 season • named to All-Tournament Team at ACC Tournament • named to Top Drawer Soccer preseason third-team Best XI in the midfield • played in 19 games last season, starting 17 times and playing 1,203 minutes • named to Top Drawer Soccer National Team of the Week on October 26, 2015 and was also tapped as a CS360 Primetime Performer of the Week • played all 180 minutes in wins over Notre Dame, Clemson and Miami • she scored the game-winning goal on a header in the 74th minute in victory over Notre Dame • assisted on game-winning goal by Jessie Scarpa versus Clemson • was magnificent in win over BC on October 2 • assisted on Alexa Newfield's game-winning goal and then scored an insurance goal on a one-touch, 30-yard shot five minutes into the second half • named to All-Tournament Team at Duke Nike Classic • scored first goal of year in 49th minute to clinch a 2-0 win at Texas • opened the scoring in the win at Virginia Tech with a world class 25-yard strike in the 21st minute • recorded two assists versus Fresno State.

Sophomore Year (2014): Began season by earning the starting position as Carolina's attacking center midfielder, taking over at the spot Crystal Dunn played in 2013 • started all 20 games for the Tar Heels • second-team All-ACC

MEGAN BUCKINGHAM

Dorrance on Megan: Megan Buckingham is just a fantastic athlete. She has a very good athletic platform. She has a very good technical platform. She can be a game breaker. She has moments where she is one of the best players on the field. Her challenge is consistency. As she becomes more consistent she'll be more and more of an impact player. She will certainly start for us either on the flank in a flat back 1-3-4-3 or in the middle of the 3 in a 1-4-2-3-1. But she is a shoo-in to start with a great potential to impact.

Sophomore Year (2015): Tapped for 2015-16 ACC Academic Honor Roll • Dean's List honoree in spring semester 2016 • missed first four games of 2015 season while recovering from a broken collarbone she sustained while training with U.S. U20 National Team in July 2015 • returned to action vs. Cal, scoring game-tying goal in the 88th minute • returned to starting lineup against Miami at left midfield position where she had started as a freshman • with injuries to other Tar Heels she moved into attacking center midfield position for NCAA Tournament • debuted at that spot with a tremendous performance against Liberty • scored her second goal of the season in the 63rd minute and then assisted on Alexa Newfield's insurance goal in the 84th minute • played in all 17 matches since returning from her injury, starting thrice.

Freshman Year (2014): 2014 ACC Freshman of the Year • named third-team All-ACC and to ACC All-Freshman Team • Soccer America first-team All-Freshman • moved into the starting lineup two games into her freshman season, splitting time between forward and midfield • started the last 18 games of the season after coming off the bench in the season-opening Carolina Nike Classic • with a season-ending injury to Brooke Elby at NC State she moved to the left midfield spot after playing forward in the first nine games • tied for second on the team in goals scored with four • opened the scoring in a 3-2 win over #5 Virginia Tech, tallying in the fourth minute • tallied the game-winning goal in UNC's 2-1 win at #16 Clemson • headed in the game-winner with 13:02 left in the match • scored the first goal of the UNC season in the 73rd minute against Ohio State • finished off a brilliant passing combination with a nifty finish from 15 yards out for the winner against the Buckeyes • also added an insurance goal in win over Miami • a 2014 preseason Top Drawer Soccer Freshman Best XI selection • earned 2014-15 ACC Academic Honor Roll accolades • merited spring semester 2015 Dean's List kudos.

CAMERON CASTLEBERRY

Dorrance on Cameron: Last year and every year she's been here she's been living on this never ending ascension. She's a girl with an amazing athletic platform. World class acceleration and speed and also confidence in beating people 1v1. As she's gained confidence we've seen her game grow. And in the final game she played last year before she tore her ACL she was one of the best players on the field and it was the game we were playing Florida State. And even against the very fine Florida State team she would be considered one of the best players who was out there. She can play multiply positions. We can play her on the flank which is where she's played most of her time at UNC. I've also played her centrally in the 4-2-3-1.

She's just devastating in her ability to walk past players and in her defensive presence. I believe if she continues to be ambitious about her game like some of the other kids on the roster she will sign a pro contract.

Senior Year (2016): Carolina's starter at central attacking midfielder in the 4-2-3-1 configuration

Junior Year (2015): Right midfield starter in the 3-4-3 in 2015 • named to All-ACC Tournament Team as a junior • named to fall semester 2015 Dean's List • 2015-16 ACC Academic Honor Roll selection • started at attacking center midfield versus Miami and Florida State late in the year • missed remainder of season after suffering ACL tear in practice November 8 • started 18 of 19 games last year and played 1,086 minutes • had a great performance on early-season trip to Texas • scored game-winning goal in 47th minute in 2-0 win at Texas • recorded career-high two assists in win over UTSA two days later • recorded the assist on Alexa Newfield's game-winning goal versus Boston College.

Sophomore Year (2014): Carolina's starter at right midfield • started all 19 games she played in • missed the NCAA first round game due to illness • was named ACC Player of the Week on September 23, 2014 • earned the honor after a one-goal, one-assist performance in a 3-2 double overtime win at Notre Dame on September 20 • scored her first goal of the season to cut Notre Dame's 2-0 lead in half in the 61st minute • she then produced a brilliant assist on Kat Nigro's game-winning goal in the 101st minute of the game • assisted on Paige Nielsen's game-winning goal versus Wake Forest and then scored the insurance goal against the Demon Deacons in the 64th minute on a tremendous individual effort • also assisted on a goal against Miami • CREED Mentor in the CLA for 2014-15 school year • named to 2015 ACC Academic Honor Roll.

Freshman Year (2013): Saw action in all 25 games • started against Virginia Tech at forward and in the NCAA Tournament game against UCLA • played 988 minutes off the bench as one of the team's top reserves • notched her first career goal versus Duke, getting the game-winning

JENNY CHIU
RS Jr. • Midfielder
El Paso, Texas
School for Educational Enrichment
#95

JENNY CHIU

Dorrance on Jenny: She had a very good spring. She is a very hard working reserve. She will compete with the freshmen to get impact minutes as a reserve front runner. The greatest thing about Jenny is that she has a powerful strike. She's always one of our leading goal scorers in the spring. She plays with fantastic energy. I'm hoping she can make a contribution for us this year.

Redshirt Sophomore Year (2015): Played in three games • totaled 54 minutes and took one shot.

#49

CANNON CLOUGH

Dorrance on Cannon: She is actually quite good. She's very athletic. She will also compete to make the travel roster. She has the potential to play some minutes so I really like her. We can play her on any line. I think Charlotte used her as an outside back and a little bit up front. With her pace she has the potential to be a great defensive forward for us, maybe an outside back for us, maybe a flank midfielder in the 1-3-4-3.

Charlotte: Transfer from Charlotte where she played two years • in 2014 she started nine of the 17 games in which she played • earned a starting nod in four straight games from at Clemson (Sept. 7) through at Florida Atlantic (Sept. 26) in Conference USA opener • also a member of the first 11 in four straight games against Marshall (Oct. 3) through against Southern Miss (Oct. 12) only other start came in final C-USA game at Rice (Oct. 26) registered her only shot of the campaign at Clemson • as a sophomore in 2015, she played in 19 games and started 13 times • took three shots and recorded one assist • a Perfect Niner as a freshman (4.0 GPA) • Conference USA recognition for academics •

High School: Attended Charlotte Latin High School • played soccer there her freshman through senior years as a outside back, midfielder and wing forward • participated on field hockey team as a midfielder and forward her freshman through senior seasons • team captain for high school team • earned 2014 NCISAA and NSCA All-State division honors • selected for 2013 All-State Team by NCSCA • picked as an All-Charlotte first-team honoree in 2014 and second-team choice in 2013 • All-South Charlotte first team in 2014 • had 40 goals and 37 assists in her career • posted team high totals of 17 goals and 12 assists for 46 points during her final season • had 11 goals and 13 assists as a junior and 12 goals and 8 assists as a freshman • named finalist for the April 16, 2014 NSCAA/TopDrawerSoccer.com National High School Player of the Week • helped guide the soccer program at Latin to two state titles • received MVP and players award from teammates • chosen as 2011 All-CISAA all-conference performer • named NCISAA all-state and all-conference in both 2014 and 2013 • team captain for Charlotte Latin School in field hockey in 2014 • collected all-league honors as a member of that team as well • selected and participated in the 2013 N.C. field hockey All-Star Game • helped lead team to state championship • was awarded Miss Latin Hawk 2014 at the Hawsby's which is awarded to the top overall athletic performer in the senior class • very active in extracurricular activities, including scholastics artwork nomination in 2012, harvest center and harvest center fashion show, CHAMP (mentoring program for underprivileged children) and Charlotte Latin youth soccer and field hockey camp coach.

Club: Participated in Charlotte Soccer ECNL.

her father played basketball at Appalachian State and her mother is a UNCG graduate • has a twin brother and fellow Tar Heel, T.J. Crutchfield • he played basketball, soccer, baseball and tennis at Northern Durham • undeclared major.

ABBY ELINSKY

Dorrance on Abby: Abby Elinsky is an incredible athlete with a fantastic competitive mentality. Her father was an Olympic calibre wrestler for the United States and I believe he also wrestled at Penn State and had a significant wrestling career. That grit that obviously her father had to compete in wrestling at a world class level has been passed on to his daughter. This kid is a street fighter and I love having her on my team. As she develops technically she'll also have an opportunity to sign a pro contract. But right now she's one of our best athletes on the roster. She's competitive and I love the way she fights every second of every game.

Junior Year (2016): Will likely come off the bench at holding center midfield position on the left side, spelling Darcy McFarlane

Sophomore Year (2015): Saw her playing time increase as the 2015 season progressed • missed Miami game after being injured in Clemson match • also sat out the match versus Liberty • versatile player who played both midfield and defense • saw action in 19 games, playing 838 minutes • started five games • assisted on Annie Kingman's second goal versus Fresno State for her first career point in a UNC uniform • season high for minutes played was 90 versus Notre Dame and Texas A&M.

Freshman Year at University of Illinois (2014): Named to All-Big Ten Freshman Team • started all 20 games on the year, playing 1,684 minutes • tied for third with five other Illini for most goals on the season with two • was seventh on the team in points with five • ranked fourth on the team in shots with 26 and third with 10 shots on goal • scored goals in first two games as an Illini against Notre Dame (Aug. 22) and Louisville (Aug. 24) • notched game-winning goal against Louisville (Aug. 24) • had her first and only assist against Michigan State (Oct. 24) which led to an Emily Osoba goal.

of her soccer career and reminds her that she can do whatever she sets her mind to and working hard at everything she does is important to be successful.

SARAH ASHLEY FIRSTENBERG

Anson on Sarah Ashley: Incredibly hard working player for us. We can play her in multiple positions. She will also challenge to start. Her challenge will be to beat out the incredibly talented freshman class that is coming in. What Sarah Ashley always gives us is her defensive work rate is second to none. She will play significant minutes if not start. She will also contribute to goal scoring. She's very good at beating people off the dribble. Now her challenge is to have an impact either creating goals or scoring them. But her defensive presence as a front runner is significant. She's also very good at getting behind defenses off the ball.

That's another quality she will extend to us this fall.

Senior Year (2016): Projected starter at right spot in UNC's attacking midfield unit.

Junior Year (2015): 2015-16 ACC Academic Honor Roll selection • key player off the bench in the forward line • with Tar Heels fighting through injury issues, she started at left midfield in

HANNA GARDNER

Dorrance on Hanna: She is a veteran defender. She is the last national champion on the roster. She was a starter for us at left back her freshman year when we won the national championship. She has loads of experience. She could be a significant organizational presence for us in the back. She's very good in the air. She's very hard working and combative. She certainly has the experience and the ability to lead my defense.

Redshirt Senior Year (2016): 2016 team captain • projected as the starting right back in UNC's 4-2-3-1 configuration • lone holdover from UNC's 2012 NCAA championship team • Veteran Leader in Carolina Leadership Academy.

MORGAN GOFF

Dorrance on Morgan: She is a very hard working striker that I think we can use in multiple positions. She'll find a way as a freshman to be one of my top headers. She's very courageous in the air. She's very strong defensively. She could be a very good defensive forward for us. She'll be very good on set pieces for us offensively and defensively. And I predict she will play multiple positions for us. I can see her as a reserve front runner for us. I also see her as a reserve defensive midfielder or a center back. That's all due to her ability in the air and her commitment to work hard for any team she's played for.

LINDSEY HARRIS
RS Sr. • Goalkeeper
Austin, Texas
Westlake

#23

LINDSEY HARRIS

Dorrance on Lindsey: Lindsey Harris is if she decides to go after it could be a national calibre goalkeeper. I believe she has the talent to play in the NWSL and compete with other goalkeepers who are out there. She is capable of the big save. We haven't had too many big save goalkeepers. Jenni Branam would be one. Ashlyn Harris would be another. There's just a small class of big save goalkeepers but Lindsey Harris would be in that category. Her key isn't to make the great save and then miss the elementary save. Right now her consistency is her challenge. As she gets more consistent and doesn't let any of the easy ones in she will make the occasional great save for us that will win a game for us or keep us in a game. And I think she'll also have a successful professional career. And she is one of the best goalkeepers with her feet that we've ever had here at North Carolina.

Senior Year (2016): Heads into her redshirt senior year as the starter at the goalkeeper position • spent her first three seasons in a goalkeeper rotation where she normally played the second half of each game while Bryane Heaberlin played the opening half.

Redshirt Junior Year (2015): As a junior she started both games in her hometown of Austin versus Texas & UTSA • made a season-high five saves in the tie against Cal, playing the second half and two overtime periods • also had four saves in ACC Tournament semifinal versus FSU • allowed seven goals in 916 minutes of action, making 21 saves • had a 6-3-1 goalkeeping record • earned first career point when she assisted on Emily Bruder's goal against Fresno State.

Redshirt Sophomore Year (2014): Alternated starting assignments in the goal with Bryane Heaberlin • played in 18 matches, starting six • missed the Arkansas and Notre Dame matches after sustaining a leg injury in the second half against Penn State • played 882 minutes, making 30 saves and allowing just five goals • her goalie record was 8-1-2 • had a goals against average of 0.51 and a save percentage of .857 • her season high and career high for saves in a game was six against Florida State • was named to 2014-15 ACC Academic Honor Roll.

Redshirt Freshman Year (2013): Appeared in two games • saw time against VCU and Kennesaw State, clocking 19 minutes • made first save of her career in final minute of 4-0 win over VCU, preserving a shutout for the Tar Heels • tapped for 2013-14 ACC Academic Honor Roll • ranked #3 on the goalkeeper depth chart behind Anna Sieloff and Bryane Heaberlin.

Freshman Year (2012): Redshirted during the 2012 season • retained four years of eligibility • a Rising Star in the Carolina Leadership Academy • named to Dean's List in both semesters of her freshman year • tapped for 2012-13 ACC Academic Honor Roll.

High School: Graduated in 2012 from Westlake High School • played basketball for two years before concentrating on soccer as junior and senior • as a junior, she played in 23 games and recorded 17 shutouts • played in 27 games as a senior and had 17 shutouts • finished her high school career with 34 shutouts and an 0.38 goals against average, allowing only 19 goals in 50 matches • a TASCO second-team All-State and first-team All-Region II selection in 2012 • selected to play in TASCO Senior Soccer Showcase • a 2011 NSCAA high school All-America • garnered honors as 2011 NSCAA state player of the year • ranked in ESPN Class of 2012 Top 150 • ESPN Rise National Player of the Week on March 9, 2011 • All-Central Texas goalkeeper of the year in both 2011 and 2012 • was Westlake soccer team MVP her junior and senior years • a 2012 Academic All-State honoree • member of National Honor Society • won AP Scholar Award • had a final GPA of 103.5 on a 100-point scale • earned 27 collegiate hours with AP tests and college credits while in high school.

Club: Named to state ODP pool in both 2007 and 2010 • played in summer 2012 with a '93 ECNL team at national tournament in Chicago.

#47

ALEX KIMBALL

Dorrance on Alex: Alex Kimball is one of the best athletes on the roster. If she can get fit after her labrum surgery she had and return to fitness she will compete to start. She's a significant athlete with the best vertical jump on the team. She's very explosive and like Ru Mucherera those two are wild cards. If those two achieve their potential and training in the summer they will not just play minutes in the fall they will factor in to winning and losing.

Junior Year (2016): Coming off labrum surgery, she is slotted as the top reserve in the right side of the midfield in UNC's attacking midfield unit.

ANNIE KINGMAN

Dorrance on Annie: Annie Kingman has improved every year like Maya (Worth). Her impact for us has been significant. Right now she is my most technical player. If we win the ball and Annie Kingman is unmarked then we want to give her the ball. Her decisions on the ball are amongst the best on the team. I just love the way she plays. I think we can play her in the 6 or the 8 or the 10 or play her as an attacking center half, playmaking out of the middle high or lower so she can help us get out of the back. Annie Kingman is a very, very good player who has improved each year.

Junior Year (2016): Heads into 2016 season as chief reserve at attacking center midfield in UNC's 3-pronged contingent • Veteran Leader in Carolina Leadership Academy.

Sophomore Year (2015): Named to 2015-16 ACC Academic Honor Roll • chosen for UNC Dean's List in both semesters of 2015-16 school year • had a monster start to her sophomore season • with the Tar Heels fighting through the injury bug she started at holding center midfield spot in the NCAA Tournament • had seven points on the opening weekend of the season, exceeding her scoring total from 2014 • had two goals and three assists on the weekend • assisted on Alex Kimball's insurance goal versus Weber State on a corner kick • had two goals and two assists versus Fresno State • scored on a penalty kick in the first half and also assisted on an Alex Kimball goal against the Bulldogs • notched her second goal of the game in 2nd half and then assisted on team's final goal by Emily Bruder • altogether played in 21 games, totaling 850 minutes • tied for the sixth leading scorer on team with seven points • played a season high 85 minutes in game versus Liberty in a starting role and 78 minutes in a starting nod versus Texas A&M • notched 74 minutes coming off the bench against Clemson minutes • scored the game-tying goal against #2 Florida State in 63rd minute • played a season-high 68 minutes versus Virginia and logged 65 minutes in win at Syracuse and versus South Dakota State • assisted on Sarah Ashley Firstenberg's goal in 3-2 win over #5 Virginia Tech • had the primary assist on Megan Buckingham's game-winning goal versus Ohio State • scored the first goal of her career at 38:30 of the match versus Arkansas and it was the eventual game-winning tally • earned Dean's List accolades in spring semester 2015 • named to 2014-15 ACC Academic Honor Roll.

High School: Graduated from Saint Francis High School in Mountain View, Calif. in June 2014 • four-year varsity soccer player there • captain of team as a senior • split time at attacking center midfield and center forward • during her high school career, she had 60 goals and 33 assists, including 17 goals and eight assists as a senior • had a terrific junior year, scoring 24 goals and adding 14 assists • had 13 goals and eight assists as a sophomore and six goals and three assists as a freshman • as a senior, she was the WCAL Senior Player of the Year and Saint Francis High School Athlete of the Year • her junior year, she was the league player of the year, league junior player of the year, first-team All-League selection, Cal-Hi Sports player of the year, CCS player of the year and offensive player of the year and Prep2Prep player of the year • in 2012, she was first-team All-League and the league sophomore player of the year • led squad to CCS championship in 2011 • four-year scholar athlete award recipient.

SAMANTHA LESHNAK

Dorrance on Samantha: Leshnak was our core value award winner for the spring. That means when our players are doing a 360 evaluation of their teammates they picked her as an extraordinary example of personal character. She lives our core values. She's incredibly popular with every player on the roster. She's ambitious. She's going to improve every year and I'm excited we have her for three more years.

RU MUCHERERA

Dorrance on Ru: Ru is a bundle of potential waiting to make her mark. If she can correct her self discipline issues she has some spectacular qualities. She's extraordinary in the air. She's very good off the dribble. And she's left sided. Those three qualities can separate her from others. Obviously she needs to check the box that says every day I will work on my fitness base box. If she checks that box and comes in with any kind of fitness platform she could be an impact player for us.

TAYLOR OTTO

Dorrance on Taylor: Taylor Otto is an absolutely fantastic player. I wouldn't be surprised if she selects to go with the U20s and that she might start for them. In fact, the way she's playing right now I would not be surprised if she is a star for them. She's a center back who plays with her head up who plays fantastic balls forward. She has a fabulous skill set. She can play for us up front and be one of our best defenders. This kid will star as a freshman. Right now I would put her along with Scarpa as my top two players on the team in talent. She was with us this past spring. She showed us her class all spring. Against the Sky Blue team we played, the pro team we played, in my opinion in that game included all the pro players she was the best player on the field.

Freshman Year (2016): Will redshirt while competing with U.S. U20 National Team at this fall's World Cup.

High School: Graduated in 2016 from Middle Creek High School in Apex, N.C. • did not play high school soccer.

CAROLINA

KASEY PARKER

Dorrance on Kasey: I saw her in camp last year and I could not believe how good she was. I could not believe a player of that calibre was not already salted away. But this was her dream school. This kid can play in any line. She's very fast. She's very tough. She's very combative so she could start up front for us, she could start in the midfield for us, she could start in the back for us and I am very excited for her potential. Her athletic platform is very good but so is her technical platform. But the thing that excites me most is that the girl competes. The biggest adjustment for most freshmen to make is that they don't understand the level. I think she will have the ability to compete immediately. I think that's her mentality. So I think she has a great chance to start in one of our three lines.

JESSIE SCARPA

Dorrance on Jessie: Scarpa has improved every year we've had her. She came in as a freshman as a top recruit coming off an ACL tear so it was hard for her to impact early. We hid her in the back the beginning of her freshman year. Then in the spring after her freshman year we figured we needed to find ways to score goals so we threw her up front where she was fantastic for us. She had a very good freshman year and a spectacular sophomore year and obviously the top national youth coaches in the country took note of her success for us and they gave her an opportunity with the U20 National Youth team. Right now I think she's a starter for that team which obviously means we might lose her for the fall but I could not be happier with her evolution as a player and also her potential long term. She strikes the ball with her right foot like a man. She absolutely kills it. She obviously has great vision and is very good in the air. She has fantastic strength. I just like where her game is now and where it's going.

Junior Year (2016): Will miss this year's campaign as she is redshirting while playing for U.S. U20 Team competing in this fall's World Cup • a Veteran Leader in the Carolina Leadership Academy.

Sophomore Year (2015): First-team All-ACC selection • Top Drawer Soccer third-team All-America • chosen first-team NSCAA All-Southeast Region • named to ACC Academic Honor Roll in 2015-16 school year • moved into the starting role at center forward after playing defense as a freshman • started all 21

MADISON SCHULTZ
Fr. • Forward
Edmonds, Wash.
Edmonds-Woodway

MADISON SCHULTZ

Dorrance on Madison: She came in mid year with Taylor Otto. By the end of the spring she was starting. So our philosophy is at UNC that if you are starting at the end of the spring you are starting in the fall. She will be in the starting line up in the first scrimmage in the first minute of practice this coming fall. If the reserves and the incoming freshmen want to be in the starting lineup they have to beat her out. They are welcome to try. By the end of the spring she was a very consistent player for us. Very good defensive presence. Good attacking instincts. She has a complete attacking game.

High School: Attended Edmonds-Woodway High School • played high school soccer there • high school All-America selection in 2012, 2014 and 2015 • Washington state Athlete of the Week honoree • first-team Wesco 4A South honoree • graduated from high school early to enroll at Carolina in January 2016 • led high school team to state championship in junior year • All-Area as a freshman when she also earned multiple athlete of month and week honors.

MAYA WORTH

Dorrance on Maya: Maya Worth has improved every single year she has been in the program. Not only do I love where her game is going I also love where her character is going. She has become a rock for us in the back. Not only is she difficult to beat off the dribble because of her strength, aggression and speed, she also gains more and more composure the more I see her. She has two more seasons for us and I am convinced that after she plays out her eligibility for us she will sign a pro contract. She was one of the stars of our spring game against the pro team. In fact, right afterwards the pro coach walked up to me (the Sky Blue coach) and he asked me who's the left back and I said Maya Worth. And the next question was when does she graduate. So we have her two more years. That's what I love. There are a thousand different reasons we play the pro teams for the experience our players get to be under the gun against superior players and players with more experience but the other reason is we're advertising our kids so that was an advertisement for Maya Worth. Even the quality players in the NWSL struggled to beat her.

Redshirt Junior Year (2016): Will play at the left back position for the Tar Heels.

Redshirt Sophomore Year (2015): Named to 2015-16 ACC Academic Honor Roll • earned a spot on the fall semester 2015 Dean's List at UNC • moved into starting left back role in Carolina's 3-4-3 formation in 2015 season • played in 20 games for UNC and started 17 games for the Tar Heels • her 1,294 minutes played ranked fifth on the team behind Paige Nielsen, Julia Ashley, Katie Bowen and Jessie Scarpa • sat out Liberty game with an injury • that was the first game she had missed all season • played all but 16 minutes on trip to Texas as Tar Heels posted two shutouts.

Redshirt Freshman Year (2014): Saw increased playing time in the stretch run of the season • played in 11 matches and totaled 169 minutes played • earned first career point with an assist on Paige Nielsen's goal versus South Dakota State in the NCAA Tournament first round game • in the NCAA Tournament second round contest versus Colorado she scored on a rebound of her own shot to give the Tar Heels a 1-0 victory over the Buffaloes in the 94th minute of the game.

Freshman Year (2013): Did not play • played a key role in practice and as a member of the scout team • retained four years of eligibility.

High School: Graduated in 2013 from Green Hope High School in Cary, N.C. • had 12 goals and 12 assists on soccer team as a senior • 2010 National Young Leaders State Conference Participant • Green Hope High School honor roll three years • a tremendous high school track athlete • in 2013, she set school records in 200 meter run indoors and as member of sprint medley relay at New Balance Nationals • in 2012, was a member of school record outdoor 4x400 meter relay team • in 2011, led team to second place in state track meet in 4x400 meters and was individually fourth in state meet in triple jump • as a freshman she won school's most outstanding athlete award in the field events while setting school outdoor records in 200 meters and triple jump.

Club: Played club soccer for '94 CASL Chelsea Ladies • named to 2013 Top Drawer Soccer Players To Watch in South Atlantic Region • All-Event Team at 2012 ECNL tournament in Phoenix • played on squads which won 2012 ECNL U17 national title and 2011 ECNL U16 national crown • Top 10 scorer in 2011 Region III Premier League • played on club teams which won seven significant tourney titles between 2008 and 2011 and finished as a finalist in two

UNC Athletics Announces Strategic Plan

"We educate and inspire through athletics" - that is the mission statement for the University of North Carolina's department of athletics that is a result of a strategic planning process developed by Bubba Cunningham, who is in his fourth year as the Tar Heels' director of athletics.

"Our number one priority is for athletics to be part of the educational experience of all students at the University, those who compete in our 28 varsity sports as well as those who do not," says Cunningham. "Athletics provides academic and competitive opportunities for more than 700 students, and is part of a unifying spirit for thousands of other students, faculty, staff and alumni.

"Through competition and achievement, our programs can be a source of inspiration for the student body, the community, our alumni, donors and future generations of Tar Heels."

Early in his tenure as director of athletics, Cunningham appointed a group of executive staff members that began developing a strategic plan that will guide the athletic department's decision-making from 2012 through 2016.

The planning team identified four core values for Carolina Athletics- Responsibility, Innovation, Service and Excellence (RISE).

Bubba Cunningham, Director of Athletics

Shortly after beginning his tenure as Carolina's athletics director, Lawrence R. (Bubba) Cunningham helped create a new mission statement: "We educate and inspire through athletics." And that's just what UNC has done during his five years in Chapel Hill.

Since Cunningham officially began his duties on November 14, 2011, Carolina has inspired in a myriad of ways. Among his many accomplishments are the implementation of a strategic plan for Carolina athletics; a partnership with Disney to enhance customer service and organizational practices; the development of the Student-Athlete Academic Initiative Working Group; a compliance review by an outside firm; a new student-athlete degree completion program entitled Complete Carolina; a master plan for UNC's athletic facilities; and creation of The Rammys - an innovative end-of-the-year awards show popular with Carolina's student-athletes and staff.

Cunningham, who is the 1st Vice President of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA), has Carolina positioned to have a voice in the on-going conversation about the future, whether it is in the state university system, the Atlantic Coast Conference or at the NCAA level. Cunningham is in his sixth year on the ACC Television Committee and has served on numerous NCAA committees over the last two decades.

In his first full year in Chapel Hill, Cunningham led a planning committee that worked with Dr. Paul Friga, associate professor of strategy and entrepreneurship at Carolina's Kenan-Flagler School of Business, to develop Carolina's strategic plan. From that process was the creation of the mission statement and the four core values for Carolina Athletics- Responsibility, Innovation, Service and Excellence. The strategic plan will be updated again in 2016-17.

Soon after the strategic plan was announced, Cunningham joined with provost James W. Dean and other University officials to develop the Student-Athlete Academic Initiative Working Group, which was launched in fall 2013. That group spent several months developing a comprehensive approach to assessing and enhancing how the University provides academic support to student-athletes. The group has implemented a rigorous and transparent set of processes and metrics as part of an ongoing initiative. The objective is to ensure proper alignment with the University's academic mission, a goal that is consistent with Cunningham's strategic plan for the Department of Athletics.

In 2014, Cunningham announced the creation of Complete Carolina, an enhanced degree-completion program that honors former student-athletes' scholarships for life. The program provides financial support for degree completion, as well as academic advising and career counseling, to former student-athletes who return to complete their degrees at any time.

On the field, Carolina has achieved outstanding success under Cunningham's leadership. In each of his five seasons, the Tar Heels have finished in the top 15 of the Learfield Director's Cup, including four top-10 finishes. During that same period, the number of UNC student-athletes on the ACC Academic Honor Roll has steadily increased.

Carolina finished seventh in the 2015-16 Learfield Director's Cup. The Tar Heels won NCAA titles in men's and women's lacrosse, finished second in men's basketball and field hockey and had top-10 national finishes in men's and women's tennis and men's soccer. Carolina teams won four ACC titles and the men's tennis team won the ITA Indoor Team National Championship. In addition, the football team won 11 games, advanced to its first ever ACC Championship Game and earned a final No. 15 ranking in both national polls.

The 2015-16 season marked Carolina's second consecutive top-10 finish as the Tar Heels placed fifth the previous year. Ten Tar Heel teams posted top-10 national finishes in 2014-15 and 25 advanced to postseason play, led by a second-place finish by women's lacrosse and a final four appearance by field hockey. Carolina also had top-10 finishes in men's soccer, volleyball, men's lacrosse, men's tennis, women's tennis, men's basketball, women's basketball and women's soccer.

In addition, the women's cross country team won its first ACC title in 11 years and the women's tennis team captured the ITA national indoor team championship for the second time in the last three years. Individually, Jamie Loeb won UNC's first-ever women's tennis NCAA singles championship.

Carolina finished 14th in the 2013-14 Learfield Director's Cup with seven teams posting top-10 national finishes. In 2012-13, Cunningham's first full season at UNC, Carolina finished eighth in the Director's Cup on the strength of national championships in women's soccer and women's lacrosse. The women's tennis team captured the ITA national indoor title and 11 other programs finished in the top 25.

The UNC women's athletics program captured the 2013 Capital One Cup, which is awarded to the best men's and women's Division I athletics programs in the country. For winning its first Capital One Cup, the Tar Heels earned $200,000 toward student-athlete scholarships and a spot at the annual ESPY Awards show in Los Angeles.

Carolina student-athletes have excelled in the classroom as well. During the 2015-16 academic calendar, more than 350 student-athletes made the ACC Academic Honor Roll, which requires a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 for the year. It was the fourth-consecutive year more than 300 UNC student-athletes have earned the honor. Carolina has set or tied its top single-season score in the APR in the last two seasons. UNC student-athletes have improved their APR scores from 966 in 2011 to 987 in 2015.

Cunningham is in his 15th year as a Division I director of athletics. He came to Chapel Hill after spending the previous six years as the director of athletics at the University of Tulsa. He also was the AD for three years from 2002-2005 at Ball State University. He was honored as the 2008-09 FBS Central Region Athletics Director of the Year, an award presented by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

At Tulsa, Cunningham guided the Golden Hurricane through its initial move to Conference USA and spearheaded a $60 million athletics initiative. Tulsa won 34 league championships in his tenure, more than any other school in Conference USA and the football program played in five bowl games in his last six years.

At Ball State, Cunningham led a program with 19 intercollegiate sports and a budget of $12.4 million. In his final year, Ball State completed a $12 million campaign to renovate the football stadium. In raising those funds, Cunningham secured the largest single gift in Ball State athletics history.

From 1988-2002, Cunningham worked in the athletics department at the University of Notre Dame. He served as Notre Dame's associate athletics director for finance and facilities from 1995-2000 and was the associate director of athletics for external affairs from 2000-02.

Cunningham earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in business administration, both from Notre Dame, in 1984 and 1988, respectively. He played on the Irish golf team in 1982-83.

Cunningham is a member of the USTA Athletic Director Advisory Group. He is a former member of NACDA's Executive Committee, and was on the Board of Directors of the Alzheimers Association of Oklahoma and the Folds of Honor Foundation Board. Cunningham also served on the Gatorade National Advisory Board and has been a featured speaker at numerous NACDA and I-A institute conferences.

Born in Flint, Mich., and raised in Naples, Fla., Cunningham and his wife, Tina, have four children: Matthew, Michael, John and Sarah.

Head Coach Anson Dorrance

Anson Dorrance enters his 40th year of service to the University of North Carolina soccer programs in the fall of 2016. Dorrance, a 1974 Tar Heel alumnus, debuted as the Carolina men's soccer coach in September of 1977 and then added duties as head coach and founder of the UNC women's program in September of 1979.

A former U.S. Women's National Team head coach and current University of North Carolina head women's soccer coach, Anson Dorrance was named the 2016 winner of the prestigious Werner Fricker Builder Award from United States Soccer on January 29, 2016.

As U.S. Soccer's highest honor, the Werner Fricker Builder Award is given to an individual or group of individuals who have dedicated at least 20 years of service to the sport, working to establish a lasting legacy in the history and structure of soccer in the United States. The award recognizes those who have developed programs that will outlast their own involvement in the sport.

When Dorrance was inducted into the National Soccer Hall of Fame on August 2, 2008, it marked one more milestone moment in the career of a man whose coaching prowess became legendary at a young age. Because Dorrance has not yet retired from his coaching career, he was only eligible for election to the Hall of Fame on the "Builders of the Game" ballot, being inducted in his first year of eligibility.

Like fine wine — with age — the coaching career of Anson Dorrance only gets better.

It was just a year ago in 2015 when Tar Heel soccer stayed in the international news as nine University of North Carolina standouts competed in the FIFA Women's World Cup. Six former UNC players helped the U.S. win its first title since 1999, including starters Meghan Klingenberg and Tobin Heath. Tar Heel Lucy Bronze led England to its best ever World Cup finish as it gained a bronze medal.

Winning Championships

In 2012, Dorrance led the Tar Heels against one of the best College Cup fields in history as North Carolina won its 22nd overall national title and its 21st NCAA crown. When UNC won the NCAA crown in 2009, Dorrance became the first coach in NCAA history to win 20 championships coaching a single sport.

Head coach of the Carolina women's soccer program since its inception in 1979, Dorrance has built and guided a well-oiled winning machine. Under his direction, the Tar Heels have collected national and conference championships at a stupendous rate, compiled an overall record staggering in its numerical verity, established records likely never to be approached and procured the esteem befitting a dynasty.

At an institution familiar with such incomparable achievement, especially with regard to its storied basketball program, it might be possible to think that Dorrance's accomplishments could somehow fade to the background. But what he has done at UNC is simply impossible to ignore.

Thus, when an expert panel employed by ESPN announced its list of the Best Coaches of the Past Quarter Century on July 28, 2004 — coincidentally headed at the No. 1 spot by the late legendary Carolina basketball coach Dean Smith — it came as no big surprise that another deserving Tar Heel mentor made the list. That Dorrance was one of only two coaches in the

DORRANCE DATA

Head Coach Anson Dorrance is now in his 38th season as the Tar Heels' head mentor. His teams have an all-time record of 792-63-32 (.911). Under Anson Dorrance, UNC has won 22 national championships, including 21 NCAA crowns and one AIAW title, 21 regular-season ACC titles and 20 ACC Tournament championships. During his tenure, Dorrance's teams are 185-24-7 in ACC regular-season games, 59-5-4 in ACC Tournament matches and 121-11-3 in NCAA Tournament games. UNC is 339-26-11 in home games in its history and 453-37-21 in games played on the road and at neutral sites.

Under Dorrance, UNC has won 91.1 percent of its games overall, 87.3 percent of its ACC regular-season games, 89.7 percent of its ACC Tournament games, 90.7 percent of its NCAA Tournament games, 91.6 percent of its home games and 90.7 percent of its road and neutral site games.

In the program's 37-year history, totaling 887 games, Carolina has shut out opponents 555 times and has been held scoreless in just 46 games.

prestigious collection to coach an Olympic sport on the collegiate level speaks even louder about his recognized greatness.

More recently, Beckett Entertainment released a magazine in which it named the Top 30 Sports Dynasties of all-time. UNC's women's soccer program success from 1982-2000 was rated the sixth best dynasty of the 20th century, trailing only the 1957-69 Boston Celtics, the 1947-62 New York Yankees, 1963-75 UCLA men's basketball, the 1991-98 Chicago Bulls and the 1953-60 Montreal Canadiens. Of the Top 30 programs named only four involved collegiate programs.

As Dorrance prepares to begin his 38th season as the head coach at Carolina in the fall of 2016, some folks must be wondering if there is anything left to be accomplished. Chances are excellent that Dorrance will find something.

Praise From Coach Smith

It is said that greatness recognizes fellow greatness.

Perhaps there is no better example of that than the quote Dean Smith gave Football News Magazine in 1997. Smith was asked by Football News about Carolina's preseason No. 1 ranking in football and what it was like for some sport other than basketball to be ranked No. 1.

Coach Smith's reply? "This is a women's soccer school. We're just trying to keep up with them." Coach Smith's clever retort was his way of giving Dorrance his due.

From the person who was then the winningest head coach of all-time in one sport to the winningest head coach of all-time in another sport, the comment struck Dorrance as the ultimate honor. As Dorrance has said, "So much of what we have tried to do in our program is modeled after what Dean Smith accomplished. To have our program compared favorably to his by the man himself was enormously humbling."

Similarly, Dorrance's immense loyalty to Carolina mirrors the loyalty Smith possessed for his adopted school. In 1994, when Dorrance decided not to continue his duties as the head coach of the U.S. Women's National Team, the choice perplexed many.

Some thought he relinquished the honor in order to avoid the pressure that comes with being the leader of what was then the defending World Cup championship squad. But Dorrance's decision had everything to do with allegiance to his alma mater.

The glory that came with coaching the U.S. to the championship in the first-ever Women's World Cup in 1991 was not enough to pull Dorrance away from his true professional love — working full-time with the Tar Heels. He wanted to increase the level of excellence that soccer fans had come to expect from the record-shattering program he had molded from scratch. To do that Dorrance knew he would have to dedicate all of his coaching energy to the University. With more elite-level players emerging from high school and club teams than ever before, the playing field in the college game was leveling out; Dorrance knew that for UNC to remain at the top, he would have to throw himself into the process with renewed vigor.

"College programs like ours require a lot of work," says Dorrance. "At that point in time we had been surviving by just doing the minimum amount of work. We certainly couldn't continue to be successful by doing just the minimum. We needed the extra time to stay competitive in an increasingly tough college game."

A prime example of what Dorrance meant about a leveling playing field is the fact UNC has captured only seven of the past 18 NCAA championships from 1998-2015 when compared

Simply Staggering Numbers

It is difficult to comprehend Dorrance taking Carolina's women's program to any greater heights than what it has already achieved. Yet, for a program consumed with striving for excellence, a national championship every season remains the goal, pure and simple.

It is this relentless attitude that has helped the Tar Heels win a mind-blowing 22 of the 35 national championships that have been decided in the history of collegiate women's soccer. Only two other schools in the country have won as many as two titles – Portland in 2002 and 2005 and Notre Dame in 1995, 2004 and 2010. Eight other schools have won one each – George Mason (1985), Florida (1998), Santa Clara (2001), USC (2007), Stanford (2011), UCLA (2013), Florida State (2014) and Penn State (2015).

Carolina has also captured 20 of the 28 Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament championships since the sport was given title status by the league in 1988. Carolina's all-time record in ACC Tournament play is 59-5-4 and the first loss did not come until 2011. UNC also won the initial 1987 ACC title when it was held in a round-robin format at the end of the regular season to determine the champion. All told, the Tar Heels are 792-63-32 in the 37-year history of the program, a winning percentage of .911.

When Carolina decided to make women's soccer a varsity sport in 1979, Dorrance became a two-sport head coach as he was already in his third year coaching the men's team at Carolina. Dorrance's brilliance at coaching women manifested itself almost immediately as it took just three years before the Tar Heels won a national championship, capturing the 1981 Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) national title. Beginning with that championship, the Tar Heels have won 62.9 percent of the titles ever decided in the sport.

Carolina went on to claim three national titles in a row after the NCAA began sponsorship of the sport in the fall of 1982. UNC netted NCAA championship game wins in 1982 over UCF, in 1983 over George Mason and in 1984 over Connecticut. The Tar Heels made it to the NCAA title game in 1985, but lost to George Mason 2-0 on the Patriots' home field – the first of only 10 losses in NCAA Tournament play for Carolina to go along with 120 wins and three ties. That loss to George Mason, remarkably, was the last time the Tar Heels lost any game in the decade of the 1980s. Beginning with the season opener in 1986 and continuing into the 1990 season, Dorrance's Tar Heels won 97 games and tied six matches over a stretch of 103 contests. In 1986, Carolina defeated Colorado College 2-0 in the finals at Fairfax, Va. A year later, the Tar Heels downed Massachusetts 1-0 on the Minutewomen's home field in the title game. The 1988 campaign saw the Tar Heels defeat NC State 4-1 in the title game in Chapel Hill. A year later, Carolina defeated Colorado College 2-0 in the championship contest at Raleigh, N.C.

During this era, the ACC also began championship competition with UNC winning the inaugural title in 1987 in a round robin format. NC State claimed the 1988 title on a penalty kick shootout against the Tar Heels but Carolina regained the title in 1989 and has won all but seven conference tournament championships since then.

Connecticut snapped a 103-match UNC unbeaten streak that had started in 1986 by defeating the Tar Heels 3-2 in overtime at Storrs, Conn. on September 22, 1990. The Tar Heels rebounded from that lone defeat to win their fifth straight NCAA crown in 1990, avenging the only blemish on their season by beating the Huskies in the final game 6-0 in Chapel Hill.

National Team Duties

Along the way, Dorrance's love of a challenge prompted him to take the coaching job for the U.S. Women's National Team just a year into its existence in 1986. In a short time, Dorrance took the National Team to the vertex of the world's most popular sport. On November 30, 1991, Dorrance led the U.S. to a 2-1 win over Norway to claim the initial World Cup championship. The win came just six days after assistant coach Bill Palladino, acting as interim head coach, led UNC to a 3-1 NCAA title game win over Wisconsin for Carolina's sixth NCAA title in a row.

Dorrance was the architect of the World Cup triumph, a win tinged with a Carolina Blue hue. Not only was Dorrance coaching the U.S. team, but nine of the 18 players competed collegiately at North Carolina and his assistant coach was former UNC player Lauren Gregg.

The next year, Dorrance assembled what many soccer observers have labeled the best college soccer team in history. That edition of the Tar Heels finished the season undefeated (25-0), claimed the ACC championship for the fourth straight year and won the NCAA title for the seventh consecutive time. Carolina's 9-1 NCAA championship game victory over Duke was as thorough as the final score would lead one to believe and was a nonpareil way for the Heels to finish the year.

In 1993, UNC won the NCAA championship with an unsullied record of 23-0. The Tar Heels whitewashed George Mason 6-0 before what was then a collegiate women's soccer record crowd of 5,721 fans at Fetzer Field. Mia Hamm capped her brilliant career at Carolina that day and went on to win unanimous national player of the year honors for the second year in a row.

92 Wins in a Row

Amongst all the coaching jobs that Dorrance has done during his career, the one that culminated in the 1994 NCAA championship may be the most impressive. Dorrance was able to rally the Tar Heels after arch-rival Duke ended a 101-game unbeaten streak by beating Carolina 3-2 on October 19, 1994. The loss came 17 days after Notre Dame had snapped a 92-game Carolina winning streak by playing the Heels to a scoreless tie.

UNC ran the table after the loss to Duke and NCAA Tournament wins over NC State, Duke, Connecticut and Notre Dame added a 13th national title to Dorrance's coaching resume. Tar Heel midfielder Tisha Venturini was selected as the 1994 National Player of the Year, marking the seventh straight season in which the national player of the year came from the ranks of Carolina players.

The 1994 season presaged a sea change in the college game. With the proliferation of available talent and the vast increase in the number of college programs, parity was quickly becoming a part of the women's game. While the Tar Heels still led the way in terms of consistent excellence, one of the big news stories of 1995 was the fact Carolina failed to win the national title in women's soccer for the first time in 10 years. The Tar Heels, seeded No. 1 in the NCAA bracket with a 25-0 mark, were upset by

Notre Dame 1-0 in the 1995 NCAA semifinals.

Relinquishing the title to Notre Dame in 1995 only fueled the team's competitive fire the next season. Dorrance took a team that returned nine starters and molded it into another victorious unit by season's end. In the ninth game of the season, Notre Dame defeated the Tar Heels 2-1 in overtime and became the first college team to beat UNC in successive meetings. Carolina regrouped and the Tar Heels whipped William & Mary, James Madison and Florida in the opening three rounds of the NCAA tourney before defeating Santa Clara 2-1 on its home field in the semifinals. Two days later UNC proved it was still at the acme of women's college soccer, beating defending champion Notre Dame 1-0 in overtime to claim the 1996 crown.

A Dynamite Defense in 1997

Dorrance turned in another magnificent coaching job as the Tar Heels wound up in the winner's circle again in 1997. Honored by Soccer Buzz and Soccer Times as the national coach of the year, Dorrance spearheaded a Carolina campaign that resulted in a 27-0-1 record. The 27 victories were an NCAA record and UNC tied its own NCAA record by shutting out 22 opponents during the campaign.

After seeing the 1998 NCAA title elude the Tar Heels, Carolina fans were able to find solace in the performance of the U.S. team which competed in the 1999 Women's World Cup. The 20-person roster featured eight Tar Heel players — Mia Hamm, Kristine Lilly, Carla Overbeck, Cindy Parlow, Tisha Venturini, Tracy Noonan, Lorrie Fair and Tiffany Roberts — and UNC alumna Lauren Gregg as a U.S. assistant coach. The Tar Heel-laden composition of the World Cup Team, which reclaimed the championship it had relinquished in 1995, once again stood as a testament to the indelible contributions Dorrance has made to U.S. soccer.

Back-To-Back National Championships

Basking in the glow of a World Cup title featuring so many ties to the program, Carolina's collegiate dominance seemed to be in doubt when just eight games into the 1999 season the Tar Heels sported a 6-2 record. The two losses were the most in a season since 1985. But Dorrance led Carolina to 18 wins in a row and another NCAA championship. Lorrie Fair earned national player of the year accolades, but in many regards the 1999 team was a squad without star presence, just incredible unity of purpose.

A year later, the 2000 Carolina team suffered the program's most losses in a season in 20 years but again won ACC and NCAA titles. Three times in six NCAA Tournament games, Carolina trailed its opponent 1-0 midway through the second half. All three times, the Tar Heels came from behind to win 2-1 in regulation time en route to another national title.

After a two-year hiatus from the awards stand, UNC reclaimed the NCAA title in 2003 with its most dominant team in a decade. Carolina became the first team since the Tar Heels of 1993 to go undefeated and untied, finishing with a perfect 27-0 mark while winning its 15th straight ACC title and its 18th national championship. Led by co-national players of the year Lindsay Tarpley and Catherine Reddick, Carolina outscored its opponents 132-11, including an amazing 32-0 margin in six NCAA Tournament matches.

Another Quartet of National Titles

In 2006, Dorrance turned in one of the best coaching jobs of his career in piloting UNC to its 19th national championship. He was the unanimous choice as the national coach of the year after leading Carolina to a 27-1 balance sheet. The Tar Heels accomplished these heroics while starting six freshmen for most of the season. In fact, seven freshmen took the field for the start of the second half of UNC's 2-1 NCAA championship game win over Notre Dame.

In 2008, UNC captured its 20th national championship with a team that started 4-1-1 but went 21-0-1 in its final 22 matches. Led by national player of the year Casey Nogueira, who led the nation in scoring with 25 goals, Carolina defeated two unbeaten teams in the College Cup, downing UCLA 1-0 and Notre Dame 2-1, to win the NCAA title. Nogueira scored two second-half goals to rally UNC past the Fighting Irish in the final game.

A year later, the Tar Heels turned in one of the best defensive efforts in school history en route to a 21st national crown. Senior defender Whitney Engen was a National Player of the Year honoree and the defensive MVP of the ACC and she led a team that allowed only 12 goals and posted 19 shutouts. Carolina allowed only two goals in the final 11 games of the season as the Tar Heels won the ACC Tournament hardware over Florida State 3-0 and the NCAA Tournament title over Stanford 1-0.

Carolina won the most unlikely of its 22 national crowns in 2012 after finishing the regular season with a mundane 10-5-2 ledger. But the Heels caught fire in the post-season, winning three overtime games and downing regional No. 1 seeds in each of the last three rounds of the NCAA Tournament. Crystal Dunn was the consensus National Player of the Year and the winner of the ACC's Top Female athlete accolade for 2012-13 while Amber Brooks took home player of the season accolades from Top Drawer Soccer.

Dorrance's Start In Coaching

Ironically, Dorrance's career plans did not originally include coaching a women's team. He began his coaching career at Carolina as the designated head coach for the men's team in 1976 during Marvin Allen's last year as head coach. He took over as men's coach the following year and served for 12 years in that role, posting a 172-65-21 record. His team won the ACC Tournament championship in 1987. He took the Tar Heels to the 1987 NCAA College Cup semifinals and the second round of the 1988 NCAA Tournament. Dorrance's .708 winning percentage is second amongst Carolina's men's soccer coaches all-time and his 172 wins rank third in school history behind Elmar Bollowich, whom Dorrance brought to Carolina as an assistant men's coach in 1987, and Dr. Marvin Allen, the founder of the program in 1947, and the man who coached Dorrance at Carolina.

Since being named the women's head coach in 1979, Carolina has a 777-58-31 record under Dorrance and only nine times in 36 years have the Tar Heels lost more than two games in a single season. The Tar Heels' 21 NCAA crowns are more than any other women's NCAA Division I sports program in the history (Stanford women's tennis is second with 17), and the 22 national championships overall are more than any single sports program in ACC history, men's or women's.

A Host of National Players of the Year

Over the years, 19 different Tar Heels have been named national players of the year under Dorrance's direction — April Heinrichs in 1984 and 1986, Shannon Higgins in 1988 and 1989, Kristine Lilly in 1990 and 1991, Mia Hamm in 1992 and 1993, Tisha Venturini in 1994, Debbie Keller in 1995 and 1996, Staci Wilson in 1985, Cindy Parlow in 1996, 1997 and 1998, Robin Confer in 1997, Lorrie Fair in 1999, Meredith Florance in 2000, Lindsay Tarpley in 2003, Catherine Reddick in 2003, Heather O'Reilly in 2006, Yael Averbuch in 2006, Casey Nogueira in 2008, Whitney Engen in 2009 and Crystal Dunn and Amber Brooks in 2012.

Coach of the Year Honors Galore

Dorrance has been named national coach of the year for coaching both women and men. He earned women's national honors in 1982, 1986, 1997, 2000, 2003 and 2006 and he was named men's national coach of the year in 1987.

Dorrance has been named the Southeast Region coach of the year in 1989, 1996, 1997, 2001, 2003, 2006 and 2008. In 1987, 1990, 1991, 1993, 1996, 2001, 2003, 2004, 2006 and 2008, he was named the ACC Women's Soccer Coach of the Year.

In 1996, Dorrance received the highest honor possible from the National Soccer Coaches Association of America when he won the Walt Chyzowych Award for lifetime coaching achievement. In 2007, he won the Bill Jeffrey Award from the NSCAA for raising intercollegiate soccer to new heights through his long-term dedication to the game. In 2011, the NSCAA accorded him its prestigious NSCAA Honor Award.

Honors from His Peers

Dorrance was inducted into the Order of the Golden Fleece in 1988, Carolina's highest honorary society which includes Carolina students, faculty and staff.

In 1994, Dorrance added another cherished honor when the athletic department designated him a "Priceless Gem." This honor is reserved only for those individuals who have contributed in extraordinary ways to the successful athletic climate at the University.

In 1995, Dorrance's program was profiled in a full-length documentary film entitled, "Dynasty." The movie focused in particular on the Tar Heels' amazing nine-year national championship run from 1986 through 1994, and it included in-depth interviews with both current and former Tar Heel players. Another documentary about the UNC program, "Winning Isn't Everything," was released in DVD format following the 2007 season.

In the fall of 2003, Sports Illustrated On Campus magazine named UNC's women's soccer program as the greatest college dynasty of all-time.

Carolina's National Team Coaching Connections

- Anson Dorrance, '73, was the head coach of the U.S. Women's National Team from 1986-94. He was the head coach of the 1991 World Cup Team which won the gold medal.
- Lauren Gregg, '83, was an assistant coach with the National Team from 1987-99. She was an assistant coach at the 1991 World Cup (gold), 1995 World Cup (bronze), 1996 Olympics (gold) and 1999 World Cup (gold).
- April Heinrichs, '87, was an assistant coach with the National Team from 1995-2000 and the head coach from 2000-05. She served on staffs for the 1995 World Cup (bronze), 1996 Olympics (gold), 1999 World Cup (gold), 2000 Olympics (silver), 2003 World Cup (bronze) and 2004 Olympics (gold).
- Bill Palladino, '72, was an assistant coach with the National Team from 2002-03. He served on the staff which won a bronze medal at the 2003 World Cup.
- Marcia McDermott, '87, was an assistant coach with the U.S. National Team. She served on the staff which won the silver medal at the 2011 World Cup and captured gold at the 2012 Olympics.

Dorrance has also coauthored two books. He combined with Tim Nash to write "Training Soccer Champions" in 1996. It sold out in its first printing and did equally well in its second press run. Dorrance also co-authored the award-winning "The Vision of a Champion" with Gloria Averbuch. It was published in 2003 and almost immediately went to second and third printings. In 2006, "The Man Watching" by former Sports Illustrated writer Tim Crothers debuted to smashing reviews and amazing sales success.

Following the U.S. victory in the Women's World Cup in 1991, Dorrance received an Honorary All-America Award, one of the most prestigious of its kind, from the NSCAA.

In 1991, Soccer America named Dorrance one of the 20 most influential men in American soccer during the previous two decades. Soccer America followed that up in 1995 by naming Dorrance as one of the 25 most influential people in the history of American soccer. Dorrance was one of only three coaches on that list and the only women's coach tapped.

In 2002, Dorrance was selected for the North Carolina Soccer Hall of Fame, joining his mentor, Dr. Marvin Allen, who was in the initial class inducted into the Hall. More accolades were bestowed on Dorrance with his induction into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame on May 19, 2005 and to the National Soccer Hall of Fame on August 2, 2008.

Dorrance In His College Years

A 1974 University of North Carolina graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and philosophy, Dorrance originally enrolled at St. Mary's University in San Antonio, Texas, where he spent one semester studying and playing soccer. He then transferred to Carolina to play for Marvin Allen.

Dorrance's natural gifts on the pitch led to his selection to the All-ACC Team three times as an undergraduate and he won All-South Regionhonors in 1973. He was named in 2002 as one of the Top 50 men's soccer players in ACC history. He was also one of the top intramural sports performers on the Carolina campus during his days as an undergraduate.

Dorrance has an "A" level coaching license from the U.S. Soccer Federation. He was a charter member of the NCAA Women's Soccer Committee and he also served as the women's chairman of the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America. He is the former chairman of the NCAA Men's and Women's Soccer Rules Committee and one of the few coaches in the country to qualify as a national staff coach for the U.S. Soccer Federation and the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. He formerly was involved in training coaches and awarding coaching licenses as part of the NSCAA Coaching Academy. In the summer of 2003, he was named to the Board of Directors of the National Soccer Hall of Fame.

Dorrance's summer soccer camps for women are the most popular in the nation. The camps sell out well in advance. Dorrance has even hosted a version of the famous camp in England.

The Dorrance Family

Albert Anson Dorrance, IV, was born on April 9, 1951, in Bombay, India, and he is married to M'Liss Gary Dorrance. The couple celebrated their 42nd wedding anniversary in August 2016.

M'Liss Dorrance is a former professional ballet dancer who teaches at the Ballet School of Chapel Hill, which she cofounded in 1980. When M'Liss is not watching soccer games on the weekends she is rehearsing her choreography for Chapel Hill Dance Theatre productions.

The Dorrances have three grown children.

Michelle, a graduate of New York University's Tisch School of the Arts, is an internationally renowned multi-award winning rhythm tap dancer residing in New York City where she is on the faculty at Broadway Dance Center and director/founder of Dorrance Dance/NY. Dorrance Dance was presented in the fall of 2014 by Carolina Performing Arts at Memorial Hall as part of their 10th anniversary season. Dorrance Dance returns to the Carolina Performing Arts series in Chapel Hill in September 2016.

Natalie Dorrance Harris, a UNC graduate, is a part-time librarian and helps administrate the North Carolina Girls Soccer Camp team camps, amongst the most popular youth camps in America. She and attorney husband David Harris, a University of North Carolina law school graduate, are the proud parents of Finley Dorrance Harris. The Dorrance family's first grandchild was born in April 2009.

Donovan Dorrance, a 2013 UNC graduate with a B.A. in philosophy, is currently working for his sister Michelle as an assistant to the director, media controller and musician of Dorrance Dance/NY.

Dorrance's soccer origins stem from his youth when he lived overseas. He resided in India, Kenya, Ethiopia, Singapore, Belgium and Switzerland while growing up. His family moved all around the world following his father's assignments as an international businessman. Additional members of the Dorrance clan residing in Chapel Hill include his brother Pete, a co-owner of six prominent Triangle area restaurants, and Pete's wife Dolly Hunter, a former UNC head field hockey and softball coach. Carolina's biggest soccer fan, Anson Dorrance's mother Peggy, passed away at the age of 87 in October 2014 and has been sorely missed in the Fetzer Field stands over the past two Carolina women's soccer campaigns.

Carolina's Influences On The Game

- Current and former UNC players have been staples on World Cup rosters as both players and coaches. The 1991 U.S. World Cup roster featured nine players and two coaches; the 1995 U.S. World Cup roster featured seven players and two coaches; the 1999 U.S. World Cup roster featured eight players and one coach; the 2003 U.S. World Cup roster featured six players and two coaches; the 2007 U.S. World Cup roster featured five players as well as one former player being on the Canadian roster; the 2011 U.S. World Cup roster featured two U.S. players and one coach and there was one player on the Canadian roster. In the 2015 FIFA Women's World Cup, six former Tar Heels played on the U.S. Team which won gold while other Tar Heels competed for England, Canada and New Zealand.
- Olympic Team rosters have also been filled with Tar Heel coaches and players. The 1996 U.S. Olympic Team included seven players and two coaches; the 2000 U.S. Olympic Team included six players and two coaches; in the 2008 Olympic Games four players competed on the U.S. squad and one player was on the Canadian roster; in 2012, two Tar Heels competed for the U.S. and one for Canada; while in 2016, five former Tar Heels played for the U.S. and one for New Zealand.
- 55 Carolina players have earned caps with the United States National Team since its founding in 1985.
- North Carolina featured the largest alumnae class of players drafted by teams for the inaugural season of Women's Professional Soccer (WPS) in 2009 with 13. Four Tar Heels played on WPS champion Sky Blue FC in 2009. In 2010, four Tar Heels were taken in the top eight picks of the WPS draft and seven players were chosen overall. In the 2010 season, UNC was represented by 17 players in WPS. In the 2011 season, UNC was represented by 15 players in WPS. In 2011, three Tar Heels — Yael Averbuch, Whitney Engen and Ashlyn Harris — were members of the WPS champion Western New York Flash.
- The National Women's Soccer League opened play in 2013 with 13 former Tar Heels on squads. In addition, three former UNC players competed professionally in Sweden with one each in Germany, England and France. Cindy Parlow, '98, coached Portland Thorns FC to the inaugural NWSL title in 2013. Several Tar Heels were key players on that team. The top two picks in the 2014 NWSL draft were Tar Heels — Crystal Dunn and Kealia Ohai. All six seniors on the 2013 team signed professional contracts — five with the NWSL and one in Sweden. Nineteen Tar Heels were on opening day 2014 NWSL rosters. Satara Murray signed a contract to play with Liverpool LFC following the conclusion of her senior year in 2014.
- In 2016, a total of 16 former Tar Heels were on opening day rosters in the National Women's Soccer League. In the 2016 NWSL Draft, UNC had four players taken - Katie Bowen, Alexa Newfield, Paige Nielsen and Summer Green - the most of any university in the nation.

CAROLINA

Assistant Coach Bill Palladino

In 2016, Bill Palladino returns for his 37th year as a member of the Tar Heel women's soccer coaching staff.

Palladino has served as the chief assistant coach for the Carolina women's soccer program since the 1980 season when he joined Anson Dorrance's staff in the Carolina women's soccer's second varsity season. Palladino has demonstrated tremendous loyalty to the program he helped head coach Anson Dorrance shape at UNC. During his entire tenure at Carolina, Palladino has specialized in developing some of the top defenses in the history of collegiate soccer.

Palladino's success in developing brilliant defensive schemes has been a key element in leading Tar Heel teams to 20 Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament championships, 21 ACC regular-season titles and 22 national collegiate titles since he joined the staff in 1980. Those are astounding numbers indeed.

The defenses Palladino has coached at Carolina have allowed only 457 goals in the 887 games the Tar Heels have played in their history, an average of a mere 0.52 goals per game. He did one of his best coaching jobs in 2012 as injuries decimated the UNC defensive corps with returning starters Megan Brigman missing the entire season and Caitlin Ball missing most of the regular season. But Palladino retooled the defense, relied on a versatile corps of players including Crystal Dunn, Hanna Gardner, Satara Murray and Katie Bowen and sparked Carolina to its 22nd national championship. In the final four rounds of the NCAA Tournament, including three games against No. 1 tournament seeds, the Tar Heels allowed only one goal in the run of play and three goals overall. The highlight of that streak was a 1-0 double overtime shutout of top-ranked Stanford in the NCAA semifinals.

In 2014, Carolina played the nation's most difficult schedule but shared the ACC regular-season championship and earned a No. 2 seed in the NCAA Tournament on the strength of a defense which allowed only 15 goals in 20 games, compensating for the fact UNC had season-long offensive struggles.

Palladino was rewarded with the Glenn "Mooch" Myernick Award as the national assistant coach of the year by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America following the 2012 campaign.

Carolina's defense was also the key to the success of the 2009 team which outscored its opponents 63-12 en route to winning UNC's 21st national championship. The Tar Heels' patented flat back three defense of Kristi Eveland, Whitney Engen and Rachel Givan, along with goalkeeper Ashlyn Harris, recorded 19 shutouts on the season as the Tar Heels went 23-3-1. UNC posted a pair of long shutout streaks in 2009 as Tar Heel opponents went without goals for both eight-game and seven-game stretches during the season. The team allowed only two goals in nine post-season contests in the ACC and NCAA Tournaments.

Under Palladino's expert direction, Carolina defensive units have consistently been a critical cog in Tar Heel runs to national championships. In 1987, the Tar Heels set an NCAA record on the defensive end of the field unlikely to ever be matched. The team allowed only two goals all season. Goalkeeper Anne Sherow led an incredible defensive effort which produced 22 shutouts in 24 games. Those 22 shutouts stand as an NCAA record that has only been equaled once and that was by another UNC team exactly one decade later. While going 27-0-1 in 1997, the Tar Heels posted 22 shutouts in the team's 28 games.

In 2003, Palladino worked his magic again with the UNC defense. That defense did not allow a single goal in six NCAA Tournament games as the Tar Heels outscored their opponents 32-0. It stands as the most efficient defensive effort ever in an NCAA Tournament.

In 2002-03, he served as the top assistant coach for the U.S. Women's National Team before retiring from that role in January 2004. In that capacity, Palladino served as the chief assistant to U.S. National Team head coach April Heinrichs. In the fall of 2003, Palladino split his duties between UNC and the National Team as it competed in the 2003 Women's World Cup. The U.S. women won the bronze medal in that competition.

Palladino came aboard as an assistant coach during the program's second year in existence and has been coaching along side Dorrance through the last 36 years.

In 1991, Palladino was named South Region Coach of the Year by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. He took over the helm for much of that season as interim head coach while Dorrance directed the efforts of the U.S. Women's National Team in its successful quest to win the 1991 Women's World Cup title in China. Palladino was head coach of the Tar Heels for 10 games that season and Carolina was victorious in each contest, including three games in the NCAA Tournament. North Carolina won the 10th of its 22 national titles with a 3-1 win over Wisconsin on November 24, 1991 at Fetzer Field.

"For me, Bill is the reason I enjoy my job so much," says Tar Heels' head coach Anson Dorrance. "He is the reason the players enjoy the program so much. Bill is a big part of the reason there is such great team chemistry.

"Bill is a team builder. He has helped us develop a philosophy toward player development that encourages an informal but effective rapport between players and coaches."

Palladino's coaching career with the Carolina women's team began in 1980. A Chapel Hill, N.C. native, Palladino joined the staff that year after three seasons as an assistant coach – also to Dorrance – with the UNC men's soccer program from 1977-79.

The 65-year-old Palladino holds an "A" coaching license from the U.S. Soccer Federation. He was head coach of the South team at the 1995 U.S. Olympic Festival in Denver, Colo. He also served as head coach of the Raleigh Wings in the W League in the late 1990s. Under his stewardship, the team completed an undefeated season in 1998 and added a second W League crown in 1999.

At Carolina, his duties include on-field coaching, overseeing camps, scouting and administration. He is also in charge of putting together UNC's non-conference schedule each year.

A 1973 UNC graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology, Palladino played varsity men's soccer at Carolina for three seasons from 1970-72 under the aegis of legendary head coach Marvin Allen.

Palladino expanded his already-vast repertoire of skills from 2001-03 when he served as a sideline reporter and color commentator for national and regional WUSA telecasts.

Palladino has two children from his first marriage. Twins Bill and Suzi live in Chapel Hill, N.C., and San Francisco, Calif., respectively.

Palladino is married to former Tar Heel soccer star Wendy Gebauer Palladino, who earned All-America honors while playing at UNC from 1985-88 and was a member of the U.S. Team that won the initial World Cup in 1991. Bill and Wendy are the parents of Zachary Ryan Palladino, who was born on January 14, 2005.

The 2016 season marks Chris Ducar's 21st year as an assistant coach with the University of North Carolina women's soccer program.

Ducar's prowess as an assistant coach and recruiter was recognized at the conclusion of the 2006 season when he was named the national assistant coach of the year by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA). He also won the same assistant coach of the year award for the NSCAA's South Region that season as well as Carolina concluded a 27-1 season and captured the 2006 ACC and NCAA championships.

During his two plus decades in Chapel Hill, Ducar has proven to be both a tremendous game and practice coach as well as a fantastic recruiter.

Ducar's recruiting prowess is well known in the college game as he has consistently brought in classes ranked in the top 10 in the nation. Top Drawer Soccer recognized UNC's Class of 2013 group as the nation's best and those players keyed UNC to a national championship in 2012. The Tar Heel freshmen who enrolled in the fall of 2016 were recognized as the nation's third-ranked recruiting class by Top Drawer Soccer.

During his long coaching tenure at Chapel Hill, Ducar has helped lead Carolina to NCAA championships in 1996, 1997, 1999, 2000, 2003, 2006, 2008, 2009 and 2012 and to ACC Tournament championships in 13 years. Carolina has finished atop the ACC regular-season standings 14 times during his coaching tenure.

A member of the Olympic Development Program Staff in Regions I and III, Ducar is a National Clinician for the United States Youth Soccer Association and belongs to the National Soccer Coaches Association of America.

Ducar has been a mainstay in coaching U.S. women's national teams in international events. He was the goalkeeper coach for the U21 National Team which won the 1999 Nordic Cup title in Iceland. Former UNC player Siri Mullinix was the championship keeper for the U.S. in that tournament, and she was the starter for the U.S. National Team in the 2000 Olympics in Sydney, Australia when the Americans won the silver medal.

Ducar served as goalkeeper coach for the 1998 U.S. U21 women's national team which competed in the Nordic Cup. The United States won the silver medal in that competition. He also served as goalkeeper coach for the 1997 U.S. U21 national team that won the gold medal in the 1997 Nordic Cup in Denmark.

In addition to his duties as an assistant coach at UNC, Ducar also served as an assistant coach for the women's team at UNCG from 1995-98 on a part-time basis before he became a full-time coach at Carolina. In 1995, he was the goalkeeper coach at Greensboro College. In 1990-91, he was an assistant coach at the University of California Santa Cruz.

During his time at Carolina, Ducar has tutored three first-team All-America goalkeepers in Siri Mullinix, Jenni Branam and Aly Winget. Mullinix was a three-year starter for UNC, and Branam and Winget were both four-year starting goalkeepers. Winget set the ACC records for solo shutouts in a season with 16 in 2003 and in a career with 35. In 2006, Anna Rodenbough nearly equaled Winget's mark as she posted 15 solo shutouts in helping the Tar Heels win the NCAA championship. He did one of his best coaching jobs of his career in 2009 as senior Ashlyn Harris, a current member of the U.S. National Team and a 2015 FIFA Women's World Cup champion, led Carolina to another national title as Carolina posted 19 shutouts and allowed a mere 0.44 goals per game against the nation's toughest schedule. Harris was named first-team All-ACC as well as an Academic All-America.

In 2011 and 2012, Ducar helped develop Yale transfer and walk-on Adelaide Gay into one of the most consistent goalkeepers in the college game. Gay was a first-team Academic All-America in 2011 and in 2012. She allowed only 0.62 goals per game as the Tar Heels won the national championship in 2012.

In the summer of 2000, Ducar served as the head coach for the North Carolina women's state team that won the regional championship and advanced to compete in the Donnelly Cup national tournament over Thanksgiving weekend.

Ducar graduated from the University of Missouri in 1990 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in political science. He was a Dean's List student there and went on to earn a teaching credential from San Jose State University in 1995.

Ducar played on the men's club soccer team at the University of Missouri from 1986-90. Post-collegiately, he played for Inter A.C. in Fremont, Calif., helping the team claim the 1990 Premier Division title. He was also a member of the San Francisco Bay Blackhawks of the American Professional Soccer League (APSL) when they won the 1991 national championship. He played for the San Jose Oaks, the 1992 U.S. Open Cup champions.

Former national director for Soccer Plus Goalkeeper Schools in Connecticut, he spent much of his time traveling the United States organizing camps and clinics for Soccer Plus. He has also served as director of Go For Gold Soccer Schools, World Soccer and Santa Cruz Soccer Camps in California and for David Brcic's Goalkeeper Schools in Missouri.

Ducar holds coaching licenses from the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (premier license) and the United States Soccer Federation (national "A" license). Ducar is on both the United States Soccer Federation and National Soccer Coaches Association of America National Goalkeeping Staffs.

Tom Sander, Director of Women's Soccer Operations

A vital component of the University of North Carolina women's soccer scene since 1992, Tom Sander was named the program's Director of Women's Soccer Operations in the spring of 1998. Previously, he served as the head student manager and an administrative assistant for six years in the women's soccer office.

It was clear from Sander's undergraduate days that he would be a great asset to the program with his organizational skills and savvy mind. When Sander graduated in 1993, UNC head coach Anson Dorrance worked hard to create a position on his staff to utilize Sander's skills.

Sander coordinates all team games operations at home and on the road, organizes team travel and serves as a liaison for the program with the University administration, Educational Foundation, program scholarship donors, soccer alumni and the Friends of Carolina Soccer. He helps with all practice scheduling and serves as a vital communication link between current and former players and the coaching staff.

A native of Lancaster, Pa., Sander attended Hempfield High School and then graduated from UNC with a Bachelor of Science degree in biology in 1993.

CAROLINA

Assistant Coach Damon Nahas

Damon Nahas is beginning his first complete season as a full-time assistant women's soccer coach at the University of North Carolina in the fall of 2016.

Nahas officially joined the Tar Heel staff on November 9, 2015.

Nahas brought with him an extensive background from the past 15 years in player development, club coaching, and national team coaching to his duties in Chapel Hill. In 2000, he developed a U7-U11 technical academy, Next Level Academy (NLA), which not only played a major role in his development as a coach but along with the NLA staff continues to be a leader in player development in the Triangle. He served as the technical director of one of the most successful youth clubs in the country, the Capital Area Soccer League (CASL) in Raleigh since 2000. He also served as head coach of the U.S. U15 Girls National Team from 2011-14 and began a stint as an assistant coach for the U.S. U17 Women's National Team in 2014.

"I am incredibly honored and humbled to have the opportunity to work alongside Anson Dorrance and his staff. The UNC women's soccer program has an unrivaled tradition of success, so to say I am excited for the next phase of my career, would be an understatement," says Nahas. "To have the chance to work with some of the most talented players in the women's game while learning from a staff who continues to be motivated to develop players both on and off the field is incredible. I want to thank Anson along with the entire UNC family for this amazing opportunity and I look forward to the beginning of an exciting journey".

Nahas attended and played soccer at North Carolina State University from 1992-96 and then played professionally with the Wilmington Hammerheads and Capital Express. In 2000, he joined the CASL staff where he helped develop and execute a technical curriculum for the coaching staff and players, primarily at the U9-U14 levels for both boys and girls. During his tenure there he coached teams across all age groups and genders including squads which won two ECNL national championships, a U.S. Club national championship, a Super Y League national title, four state championships and two Disney showcases while having success in many other national tournaments.

Nahas began his coaching tenure on the national level with U.S. Soccer in 2011. He was the U15 girls' national team coach from 2011-14, overseeing the program for up to five training camps per year while also scouting and selecting players eligible for the teams. In 2014, he began a stint as the U17 WNT assistant coach, a position which included scouting players and assisting with training sessions with head coach B.J. Snow. In 2014, Nahas was also invited to serve as an assistant for the full USWNT during various camps, where he conducted technical training sessions for the team.

"Damon Nahas has changed girls soccer in the state of North Carolina. It used to be very difficult to find local players that could compete at a national level collegiately. Damon has changed that," says Dorrance. "Three of his youth players off one team have started for us—Joanna Boyles, Cameron Castleberry and Maya Worth—since the 2013 season. There are not many youth coaches in the country that can say off one youth team, they have produced three NCAA Division I starters on a Top 10 collegiate team.

"Watching his teams play and seeing his players develop has been inspiring. It was clear as soon as he entered the girls' game that he was something special. We have too many coaches in our sport that are reluctant to do the grunt work — trapping, passing, shooting, dribbling and heading — and an even smaller number that can make this fun. Damon is a brilliant young coach and will be a tremendous addition to my veteran staff. Our player development has always been good. This hire is going to make us even better."

Among his past head coaching experiences have been stints with Cary Clarets PDL (head coach), Carolina RailHawks (assistant coach 2007-09) and Cardinal Gibbons High School in Raleigh (men's head coach 1999-2002).

Nahas is a native of East Northport, N.Y. Nahas and his wife, Nicole, have two sons, Crew and Grayson.

Jason Sisneros, Director of Marketing

Jason Sisneros is in his fifth season with the University of North Carolina women's soccer program in 2016-17.

In the coming season the Washington native will serve as the program's Director of Marketing.

In previous years with the Tar Heels Sisneros has been employed as an assistant coach, Director of Match Analysis and Director of Marketing for the UNC program.

From late in 2012 until 2015, Sisneros served an assistant coach with the program, taking over in December 2012 after Cindy Parlow Cone took over the head coaching position for the Portland Thorns of the National Women's Soccer League. Sisneros transitioned into a new role with the vaunted Carolina program in 2015 when Damon Nahas came on the staff full time.

A skilled and veteran marketer of soccer, Sisneros played a key role in helping the Tar Heels achieve the 2012 national championship in women's soccer. He directed match analysis operations, which he totally revamped for the 2012 team from scratch. He was heavily involved in the team's possession oriented platform and its progression of team player development.

A native of Tacoma, Wash., Sisneros has been coaching soccer on multiple levels for the past two decades. His coaching expertise comes on the youth level primarily, including eight years for high school teams. He coached teams to WIAA Washington state high school championships as well as youth state and regional titles. He won his first state title as a coach with Charles Wright Academy at age 21 under the direction of his coaching mentor and Canadian Soccer Hall of Famer Tony Chursky.

Sisneros played college soccer for the University of Puget Sound in Washington State where he studied sociology. His team there won two Northwest Conference titles in his three seasons as a player with his college career ending in 2005. He played on a UPS squad which set the school record for wins in a season with 20 and achieved the program's best regional (#1) and national (#4) rankings. After leaving Puget Sound he began his coaching career while also playing for the Washington State U23 ODP Team, PASL Indoor Soccer Tacoma Stars and South Sound FC.

He was a standout youth and high school player, being named Washington state first-team as well as copping all-area, all-region and all-state honors. As a player he won state, regional and national tournament championship with F.C. United (now Washington Premier FC).

Sisneros works on a national staff of collegiate coaches with Exact Sports and coaches thousands of youth and high school players every year. He is a part of the NCGSC staff and is a North Carolina youth soccer coach for Triangle Futbol Club. He holds an NSCAA Premier Diploma.

Jason and his wife Lindsay have a daughter Kendall and a son Jonah.

Tori Krause, Director of Performance Analysis

Tori Krause joins the Tar Heel women's soccer staff in 2016-17 as the Director of Performance Analysis.

Krause grew up in Cary, N.C. playing club soccer at Capital Area Soccer League. She went to Davidson College where she played center midfield all four years for the women's soccer team. Krause graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree in history in 2014.

After graduation, she attended the University of North Carolina where she received her master's degree in sport administration in the spring of 2016.

While in graduate school she volunteered with the women's soccer team primarily helping with practice and game analytics. She also served an internship year while a graduate student working in the UNC Department of Athletics New Media Department and with GoHeels Productions on of-finance and gameday projects.

After receiving her master's degree from Carolina, she was hired as the women's soccer program's Director of Performance Analysis. Her primary responsibilities involve overseeing player performance and monitoring using Catapult GPS, as well as other practice and match analytics.

Brittani Bartok, Marketing/Social Media Coordinator

Former standout Tar Heel women's soccer player Brittani Bartok works with the Tar Heel program in the areas of strategic marketing, social media and brand management.

She studied studio art at the University of North Carolina and played three years of soccer before a career-ending knee surgery.

After a distinguished career as a youth National Team Player from 2004-2010 and four-time high school All-America, Brittani went on to play college soccer at the University of North Carolina where she is now in her ninth season of association with the team. A three-time NCAA national champion – 2008 (player), 2009 (player), 2012 (undergraduate assistant coach) – she was named to the ACC All-Freshman team in 2008 as well as the NCAA Final Four All-Tournament team that year.

After suffering a career-ending knee injury during her junior season she remained with the team as an undergraduate assistant coach from 2011-2013. She created and still maintains the most followed twitter account in college soccer (@UNCwomensoccer) along with the team's Instagram and Youtube platforms. Outside of UNC she is also cofounder and CEO of SoccerSocial and serves as U.S. Women's National Team player Meghan Klingenberg's Creative

Director. Bartok is a Union, N.J. native who scored nine goals and had 14 assists in her

UNC career. She attended the Pingry School as a high school student.

Carolina Women's Soccer History

A Program of Remarkable Consistency

The University of North Carolina women's soccer program is one of the most successful sport programs in the history of college athletics. In its first 37 years, Carolina has won 22 national championships and played in 28 of 36 College Cups (final four teams in national tournament) sanctioned by the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (IAIW) in 1980-81 and National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) from 1982-2015.

Under head coach Anson Dorrance, who assumed the coaching reins when the program was elevated to varsity status in 1979, the Tar Heels have staked a claim as one of the greatest dynasties in intercollegiate athletics history. In fact it was judged the greatest dynasty in the opinion of Sports Illustrated On Campus magazine, which featured the Tar Heels on its cover in 2003. In 2014, Beckett Entertainment's Sports Dynasties tabbed the Tar Heel women's soccer program as the sixth greatest dynasty of the past 100 plus years in a magazine featuring the Top 30 sports dynasties of the era (1900-2015).

Heading into the 2016 season, the Tar Heels have posted a 792-63-32 overall record in the history of the sport.

Carolina won its first official national championship, the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (IAIW) title in 1981, and has since won a total of 21 of the 34 NCAA championships with titles coming in 1982, 1983, 1984, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1989, 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993, 1994, 1996, 1997, 1999, 2000, 2003, 2006, 2008, 2009 and 2012. The only 13 years since 1981 in which the Tar Heels did not win the national crown were 1985 when they lost to George Mason in the NCAA championship game, 1995 when they lost to eventual NCAA champion Notre Dame in the NCAA semifinals, 1998 when they fell to Florida in the NCAA championship game, 2001 when Santa Clara beat Carolina in the championship contest, 2002 when they were upset by Santa Clara in the NCAA semifinals, 2004 when Notre Dame became the first school other than Carolina to win more than one national championship, 2005 when Portland won its second title, 2007 when USC claimed its first championship, 2010 when 1981 IAIW champions – the first of the Tar Heel championship squads.

Notre Dame downed the Tar Heels in the third round en route to winning its third title, 2011 when Stanford claimed its first NCAA crown, 2013 when eventual NCAA champion UCLA defeated the Tar Heels in double overtime in the NCAA quarterfinals, 2014 when Florida State became the first ACC team other than UNC to win the crown and 2015 when Penn State downed long-time Tar Heel rival Duke in the championship contest. In 11 of the last 12 occasions when UNC has failed to advance in NCAA play, the games have either been decided by one goal or resulted in a tie where the advancing team earned its way to the next round in a penalty kick shootout.

In fact, Notre Dame's 4-1 victory over North Carolina on November 20, 2010 in the NCAA Tournament third round broke a 25-year streak during which the Tar Heels had never suffered a defeat by more than one goal. Prior to that loss to the Fighting Irish, the last time Carolina lost a game by a margin of more than one goal was on November 24, 1985 when George Mason beat UNC 2-0 in the NCAA championship game. Carolina had played 607 games since that loss and 55,440 minutes and 41 seconds had ticked off stadium clocks since the Tar Heels last fell by more than a single goal.

Carolina's women's soccer program has won 21 NCAA titles. When UNC won the 2009 NCAA title over Stanford, Carolina women's soccer became the first women's sports program to claim 20 NCAA crowns and head coach Anson Dorrance became the first coach in NCAA history to earn 20 titles coaching a single sport – men or women.

The Tar Heels' 22 total national championships are more than any other sports program has won, men's or women's, in Atlantic Coast Conference history. In addition, UNC women's soccer teams have won 21 of the 29 official ACC championships decided since league play started in 1987.

An Amazing Array of Talent

Tar Heel players over the past 36 years have regularly earned the distinction of being named All-Americans as either first-, second-, third-team or honorable mention choices and most of those players have won All-America honors in multiple seasons during their Carolina careers. In 37 campaigns, Carolina has had 74 selections to either the NSCAA coaches or Soccer America first-team All-America squads, 45 more than second-place Stanford on the list.

Nineteen players — April Heinrichs, Shannon Higgins, Kristine Lilly, Mia Hamm, Tisha Venturini, Debbie Keller, Staci Wilson, Cindy Parlow, Robin Confer, Lorrie Fair, Meredith Florance, Catherine Reddick, Lindsay Tarpley, Heather O'Reilly, Yael Averbuch, Casey Nogueira, Whitney Engen, Amber Brooks and Crystal Dunn — have been named the National Player of the Year in at least one season, some winning those honors in multiple seasons. Lori Henry, Shannon Higgins, Kristine Lilly, Mia Hamm, Tisha Venturini, Cindy Parlow, Lorrie Fair, Lindsay Tarpley, Heather O'Reilly, Yael Averbuch, Casey Nogueira, Whitney Engen and Crystal Dunn have been saluted as the Atlantic Coast Conference's overall Player of the Year, Offensive Player of the Year or Defensive Player of the Year. Carolina has had a total of 154 selections to the first, second or third-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference squads since the league began sponsorship of the sport in 1987, outflanking any other league school in that regard by 65 selections. UNC has also boasted the Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament in 20 of the 28 tournaments held since the first event in 1988.

The numbers associated with the program's success boggle the mind. Six Tar Heels have been named ACC Freshman of the Year and eight have been named National Freshman Player of the Year. Anson Dorrance has been named national coach of the year on seven occasions and ACC coach of the year 10 times.

There are still more numbers that illustrate the dominance of the program. Thirteen Carolina women's soccer players have won the Patterson Medal as Carolina's outstanding senior athlete, the most recent honoree being Crystal Dunn in 2014. The recipient of the Mary Garber Award as the Female Athlete of the Year in the ACC has been a Tar Heel women's soccer player eight times, including Crystal Dunn in 2013. UNC has had 147 selections for All-Tournament honors at the AIAW or NCAA national College Cups since 1981. The Tar Heels have boasted choices for the offensive, defensive or over-

Carolina has played 119 games since that loss to Notre Dame and has lost 24 games, 22 by a one-goal margin and two by a two-goal spread. Of UNC's last 50 losses, 47 have come by one goal, two by two goals and one by three goals.

allMost Valuable Player at the NCAA Tournament 34 times. On 97 occasions, Tar Heels have been tapped as All-ACC Tournament selections since that honor squad was started in 1991.

Lasting Relationship With The U.S. National Team

Many Carolina players have continued their playing careers as members of the U.S. Women's National Team. Since the founding of the National Team program by the U.S. Soccer Federation in 1985, a total of 55 different Carolina players have earned caps with the full U.S. National Team. Several other former Tar Heels have gone on to play for the national teams of other countries, including those of Canada, Denmark, The Netherlands, Iceland, Norway, New Zealand and England. Dorrance was the chief architect behind the initial success of the U.S. Women's National Team, having coached that squad from its second year of existence in 1986 until he stepped down in 1994 to concentrate solely on his head coaching duties at Carolina.

Under Dorrance's brilliant coaching guidance, the U.S. won the first-ever Women's World Cup Championship in China in November 1991. Half of the 18-woman 1991 U.S. roster played collegiately for the Tar Heels. Seven players who competed collegiately in Chapel Hill were on the 1995 U.S. Team that captured third place at the World Cup. During the summer of 1996 at the Centennial Olympic Games, the U.S. roster was again filled with Tar Heel connections as the Americans captured the gold medal. Both of that team's assistant coaches and seven of the 16 players were Tar Heels, giving the gold medal the U.S. won a pronounced Carolina Blue tint. In the summer of 1999, eight more UNC players competed for the U.S. team that recaptured the World Cup title by outscoring China 5-4 on penalty kicks in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. Six more Tar Heels played for the 2000 U.S. Olympic Team that won the silver medal in Sydney, Australia under the leadership of head coach April Heinrichs, an '87 Tar Heel alumna.

The 2003 U.S. World Cup roster featured six Tar Heel players as the Americans claimed the bronze medal at that event. Six Tar Heels were also named by Heinrichs to the U.S. Team that played in the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece. That team won the second gold medal for the U.S. in Olympic competition. The 2007 World Cup was played in China with five former Tar Heel players on the U.S. squad and one UNC player on the Canadian team. The Americans won the bronze medal in that event. In 2008, four Tar Heels were on the U.S. Olympic Team and one was on the Canadian side with the Americans winning gold for the third time in four Olympic soccer tournaments. The Americans captured the silver medal at the 2011 World Cup in Germany. Former Tar Heels Heather O'Reilly and Tobin Heath were members of the U.S. Team while 2007 alumna Robyn Gayle played for the Canadian side. All three of those former Tar Heels — O'Reilly, Heath and Gayle — were members of their respective teams at the 2012 Olympic Games. The Americans won their fourth gold medal in five tries in that competition while Canada took the bronze medal.

The world was again captivated by the women's game in the summer of 2015 when the U.S. recaptured the FIFA World Cup crown that had eluded it for 16 years. Altogether, nine current and former Tar Heels played in the tournament in Canada. Meghan Klingenberg started for the U.S. in the defense and Tobin Heath started in the midfield. Four Carolina players were key reserves for the U.S. side — Lori Chalupny, Heather O'Reilly, Ashlyn Harris and Whitney Engen. Lucy Bronze starred for the England team, leading it to the bronze medal and joining Klingenberg on the tournament's Best XI team. Robyn Gayle was a member of Team Canada and Katie Bowen started for New Zealand.

Amazing Carolina Soccer Fun Fact...
Only 10 seasons with more than two losses

UNC has played 37 years of varsity soccer from 1979 through 2015. Only 10 teams have lost more than two matches in a season. In fact, only seven teams have lost more than three games in a season. The 1980 team finished 21-5, the 2000 team was 21-3, the 2007 team was 19-4-1, the 2009 team was 23-3-1, the 2010 team was 19-3-2, the 2011 team was 13-5-2, the 2012 team was 15-5-3, the 2013 team was 20-5, the 2014 team was 14-4-2 and the 2015 team was 15-5-1. Despite the three losses in 2000 and again in 2009 and the five losses in 2012, Carolina went on to win the NCAA championship each of those three years.

CAROLINA

Carolina Women's Soccer History

Carolina's 1997 championship team was one of the stingiest in school history, allowing only eight goals in a 27-0-1 season. The Tar Heels beat UConn 2-0 for the title.

1979. The Tar Heels played their first game, a 12-0 win over the Duke University club soccer team on September 20, 1979. That first season saw Carolina compile a 10-2 overall record. Janet Rayfield, still the Tar Heels' third all-time leading scorer with 223 points, recorded 30 goals that season.

In 1980, the Tar Heels won 21 of 26 games and were again led in scoring by Rayfield, who had 25 goals. Midfielder Nancy Clary became the first Tar Heel player in history to earn first-team All-America honors. The five losses marked the most Carolina has ever suffered in one season, matched only by four other teams since that time.

The 1981 season was an exciting year for the women's college game as the first-ever national champion was crowned during a 12-team, four-day tournament in Chapel Hill. The Tar Heels provided their fans with many exciting moments during the course of the season, scoring a school record 172 goals. Led by 36-goal scorer Stephanie Zeh and getting 30 more tallies from Janet Rayfield, UNC averaged an astounding 7.48 goals per game.

Following a 19-0 regular season and a win over Virginia in the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) regional tournament final, the Tar Heels swept the AIAW National Tournament by winning three games by shutout. After receiving a first-round bye as the tournament's top seed, Carolina defeated Massachusetts 6-0, Connecticut 5-0 and UCF 1-0 to take the championship. In the title game, the Tar Heels outshot the Golden Knights 30-8, scoring on a Diane Beatty goal off a Kathy Kelly corner kick with 19:36 left in the first half.

The NCAA Dynasty Kicks Off

The NCAA became the sport's governing body in 1982 and the Tar Heels celebrated by winning their second national championship in a row. Carolina opened the season with 10 consecutive victories to run its winning streak to 33 games over two seasons, but then it dropped back-to-back decisions to Missouri-St. Louis and Cortland State. Following that second loss, the Tar Heels won their final nine games, culminating in an NCAA title with a 2-0 win over UCF. Amy Machin's 22 goals and 59 points led the team in scoring and she notched one of the two goals in the championship game victory. Betsy Johnson came off the bench to score off a rebound late in the first half for the winning goal.

The 1983 campaign brought the arrival of April Heinrichs to the Carolina campus. The first dominant women's soccer player in the American game, who would later coach the U.S.

National Team from 2000-04, Heinrichs was the most successful player of the 1980s in collegiate soccer and one of the early stars of the U.S. National Team. In her freshman season, Heinrichs led the Tar Heels to their third straight national title as she scored 18 goals and totaled 47 points. Amy Machin was again amongst the team's leaders in scoring with 19 goals. Only a 3-1 loss at Connecticut in the opening game of the season prevented UNC from having another perfect season. Carolina claimed its third title in a row as Heinrichs scored two goals in a convincing 4-0 win over George Mason in the NCAA championship match at Orlando, Fla.

In 1984, the Tar Heels were the No. 1-ranked team in the nation from season's start to season's finish and they capped their fourth straight national title campaign with a 2-0 win over Connecticut at Fetzer Field in the NCAA title game. The 1984 season marked the first of seven times UNC would play host to the NCAA College Cup at Fetzer Field. Heinrichs, the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America (ISAA) National Player of the Year, led the team with 23 goals and 13 assists and Joan Dunlap was second on the squad with 21 goals and 10 assists. Carolina went 24-0-1 and won its first 17 games to run its winning streak to a then NCAA-record 36 games.

George Mason ended the 36-game winning streak by playing the Heels to a 1-1 tie on October 20, 1984. When College Cup weekend rolled around, the Tar Heels were taken to overtime in the national semifinals by California, but an Amy Machin goal with 9:05 left in the second extra period propelled the Tar Heels into the NCAA final against Connecticut. The championship game was played in front of 3,500 fans with Heinrichs and Dunlap scoring second-half goals to provide the Tar Heels with a 2-0 victory and a fourth straight national title.

All Good Things Must Come to an End

The NCAA championship trophy took a one-year hiatus from Chapel Hill in 1985 as the Tar Heels lost the national championship game to host George Mason 2-0. Led by a 50-point season from April Heinrichs and a team-leading 19 goals from Carrie Serwetyk, the Tar Heels finished the season 18-2-1. The 1985 campaign was one of just 11 seasons out of a total of 37 in which Carolina has failed to win 20 games in a season. In fact, since going 10-2 in that initial 1979 campaign, the Tar Heels have won at least 18 games in 30 of the past 34 years.

After opening the 1985 season with a 3-3 draw against George Mason, Carolina ran off 12 straight wins and raised its collegiate record unbeaten streak to 57 games. Massachusetts eventually ended the streak with a 2-0 win over UNC in Amherst, Mass., on October 12, 1985. Carolina went on to meet George Mason in Fairfax, Va., in the NCAA championship game. The Patriots scored a goal in each half and sent the Tar Heels home without the championship trophy for the first time. At that time no one suspected that Carolina would not lose another game for five years and a stretch of over 100 games. In fact, the Tar Heels would never taste defeat again in the 1980s after that title game loss to GMU.

The 1986 campaign proved to be a season of redemption for the Tar Heels as seniors April Heinrichs and Marcia McDermott were determined to go out as winners. In 1986, Heinrichs was named National Player of the Year for a second time in her career, scoring a career-best 28 goals and totaling 69 points. McDermott set what was then the Carolina single-season record with 23 assists. The Tar Heels and George Mason met again, this time in the national semifinals, and Carolina came out on top 3-2 in overtime. Wendy Gebauer had two goals for Carolina and Heinrichs tallied the winner 5:50 into the first overtime period. Gebauer and Tracey Bates scored goals in the title game the next day against Colorado College in a 2-0 win. The Tar Heels found themselves back in familiar territory — atop the victory stand after the NCAA championship game.

Shannon Higgins' Postseason Fireworks

The 1987 campaign was a year dominated by defense as a stifling Carolina unit allowed only two goals during the entire season and posted an NCAA record 22 shutouts, a mark equaled only once since—by the 1997 UNC team. The defensive unit leaders were ACC Player of the Year Lori Henry, sweeper Carla Werden and goalkeeper Anne Sherow. They anchored a defense which allowed only 52 shots and two goals in 24 games en route to posting a 23-0-1 record. Only a tie with William & Mary marred

Amazing Carolina Soccer Fun Fact...
23 years between season opening losses
 Carolina lost its 1983 season opener at Connecticut 3-1. It would be 23 years before the Tar Heels would lose another season opener, falling 1-0 at Texas A&M in double overtime in 2006. In 37 years of play, the Tar Heels are 30-5-2 in season-opening games and 32-2-3 in home openers. The only losses in a home opener for UNC came in 2007 against South Carolina and in 2014 against Stanford. In season-opening games, UNC has a winning percentage of .838. In home openers, Carolina has a winning percentage of .905. The Tar Heels' winning percentage in all games played since the beginning of the program in 1979 is .911.

Amazing Carolina Soccer Fun Fact...
26 20-win seasons
 Carolina has won 20 or more games in 26 of 37 varsity seasons. That is a truly staggering figure given the fact most teams must make deep runs into the NCAA Tournament to play even 25 games in a season. Nevertheless, four of the UNC teams that did not win 20 games still won NCAA titles. They were the 1982, 1983, 1988 and 2012 teams.

the Tar Heels' perfect record. Midfielder Wendy Gebauer's 15 goals and 40 points led the Tar Heel offense in 1987, but it was a second-half goal by sophomore midfielder Shannon Higgins which proved to be the margin of victory in a 1-0 win over Massachusetts in the NCAA final. That game, along with the semifinal win over California, were played in near-Arctic weather conditions at Amherst, Mass., making it one of the most memorable NCAA College Cups ever. In the championship game, the wind was so strong that it made attacking offensively going against the gusts a futile proposition. Fortunately for Carolina, the Tar Heels went against the wind in the first half of the championship game and they were able to play the Minutewomen to a standstill. UNC had the benefit of the wind in the second half and scored the game's only goal to capture another NCAA championship. Higgins' game-winning goal would be the first of three she would score in NCAA championship games in three successive seasons.

The 1988 season proved to be a challenging one for the Tar Heels as rival NC State threatened to steal the championship trophy and relocate it down I-40 to Raleigh. The teams battled to a pair of dramatic 1-1 ties, one in the regular season game at Raleigh and another in the ACC Tournament championship game on the Wolfpack's home field at Method Road Soccer Stadium. NC State actually won the ACC title in a penalty kick shootout 4-3. During the season, Carolina set an NCAA record for a collegiate soccer unbeaten streak. First, the Tar Heels topped their own women's record of 57 games without a loss and then it surged past the Penn State men's soccer team's 65-game record unbeaten streak for all of college soccer. As the 1988 Soccer America National Player of the Year Shannon Higgins was an electrifying force on the squad, directing playmaking duties and setting up goals from her attacking center midfield position. In the national championship game versus NC State, Higgins scored three goals in a 4-1 Carolina victory. That match was played in front of 4,500 fans at Fetzer Field, the largest collegiate women's soccer crowd in history at the time.

In 1989, Higgins again was voted the top player in the nation and she led the Tar Heels to another unbeaten finish and national title. Higgins was named the National Player of the Year by Soccer America, won the Hermann Trophy and the Honda Sports Award for Soccer, was the ACC Player of the Year and became the first ever recipient of the Mary Garber Award as the ACC's Female Athlete of the Year. She led the team in scoring with 48 points and scored the game-winning goal in the NCAA championship game for the third consecutive year, opening the scoring against Colorado College in a 2-0 Tar Heel win. Freshmen Mia Hamm and Kristine Lilly scored 21 and 20 goals, respectively, although at that time it was a mere glimpse of that duo's future greatness in the world of women's soccer. Seniors Shannon Higgins, Julie Guarnotta, Ava Hyatt and Carla Werden closed out their four-year careers with a staggering 89-0-6 record and a quartet of NCAA championship rings.

The Greatest Game in Women's Soccer Lore

In 1990, Carolina again won the national championship, but did so with a notch in the loss column for the first time since November 24, 1985. On September 22, 1990, Connecticut ended the Tar Heels' national record unbeaten streak at 103 games by defeating the Tar Heels 3-2 in overtime at Storrs, Conn. Ironically, the Tar Heels would go on to avenge that defeat by routing the Huskies 6-0 in the NCAA championship game at Fetzer Field last in the season.

Following the loss at Connecticut, the Tar Heels fell out of the No. 1 spot in the ISAA poll for the first time since the second week of the 1986 season. Carolina regained the top spot by knocking off No. 1-ranked Virginia 3-0 late in the regular season and it then beat the Cavaliers again 2-0 in the ACC Tournament title game at Charlottesville, Va. The 1990 national quarterfinals matched the Tar Heels against old nemesis NC State in what would be one of the most dramatic games ever played in the sport's history. The Wolfpack held one-goal leads late in regulation time and again in the first overtime period, but both times the Tar Heels came back to tie the game on goals by Kristine Lilly. Finally, with just over two minutes remaining in the second overtime, Hamm sent a corner kick from the right side that Rita Tower headed in for the game-winning goal. After that dramatic game, which Soccer America dubbed the "Greatest Game in Women's Soccer History," the NCAA College Cup was played in Chapel Hill. Tower and Lilly each scored in the 2-1 semifinal win over Colorado College and six different Tar Heels scored in the championship game shutout of Connecticut.

In 1991, the Tar Heels had to defend their national title minus a host of spectacular players as well as its head coach. The top four leading scorers from the year before were not available to the team for much of the season. Kristine Lilly played the first 19 games of the season but departed prior to the start of the ACC and NCAA Tournaments to play in the 1991 World Cup in China. Mia Hamm, also on the World Cup Team, sat out the year as a redshirt. Rita Tower and Jill Jakowich were both rehabilitating knee injuries. Led by freshman midfield sensation Tisha Venturini and senior forward Pam Kalinoski, who herself had battled back from a serious knee injury, UNC won 24 consecutive games to win the title, including the last 10 games with assistant coach Bill Palladino at the controls after Dorrance had left to coach the U.S. in the World Cup in China. Lilly was the consensus National Player of the Year as well as the ACC Player of the Year. Venturini was the National Freshman of the Year and the ACC Tournament MVP. Venturini and Kalinoski shared MVP honors in the NCAA College Cup. Kalinoski set a national record for assists in a season with 28 and Venturini led the nation in scoring with 21 goals and 58 points.

1992! Perhaps The Greatest Team Ever

The 1992 Tar Heels were what many observers called the best team in the history of collegiate women's soccer. It would be extremely difficult to argue to the contrary. Carolina rolled to a 25-0 record, a seventh consecutive NCAA title and an NCAA record for consecutive wins with 58 in a row by season's end.

The Tar Heels outscored their opposition 132-11 and trailed on just two occasions, once in a regular season victory at NC State and again in the NCAA final versus Duke. Both opponents' leads were short-lived. In the NCAA championship game against Duke, the Tar Heels rattled off nine successive goals after the Blue Devils drew first blood. Hamm led the nation with a school record 97 points on 32 goals and 33 assists, the latter mark also being a University standard. She was the unanimous choice as National Player of the Year and she was the ACC Player of the Year as well as the Most Valuable Player of both the ACC and NCAA Tournaments. Lilly and Venturini added 65 and 46 points, respectively, and joined Hamm as first-team All-Americans. The Tar Heels won the NCAA championship during an almost surreal 9-1 victory over Duke at rain-soaked Fetzer Field as Hamm became only the second player to post a hat trick in an NCAA final game. But the most remarkable feat of the season may have been a mid-season West Coast road trip in which Carolina won four games in four days by a combined margin of 22-2. Included were wins over three nationally-ranked opponents. The Tar Heels vanquished UC-Santa Barbara 5-1, Portland 6-1, Saint Mary's 6-0 and Stanford 5-0 in that four-day stint.

Saying Goodbye to a Legend

In 1993, Hamm was again a unanimous selection as the National Player of the Year as she led the country in scoring with 68 points on 26 goals and 16 assists. She helped lead the Tar Heels to a 23-0 record as Carolina outscored the opposition, 92-15. Carolina hosted the NCAA College Cup at Fetzer Field for the fourth successive year and emerged with another national championship. Hamm finished her career with 103 goals, 72 assists and 278 points, each a school record. She also set NCAA Tournament scoring records for both career and single tournament points, goals and assists. In 1994, she was named the recipient of the Mary Garber Award as the ACC's Top Female Athlete for the second consecutive year. Tisha Venturini missed several weeks at midseason with a broken bone in her foot but returned in time to reap Most Valuable Player honors at the ACC Tournament. The Tar Heels claimed their fifth straight league crown by virtue of a 4-1 win over Duke. Venturini was named first-team All-America for the third time. Before an NCAA record crowd of 5,721, UNC dismantled George Mason 6-0 in the NCAA final after the Tar Heels had whipped Massachusetts 4-1 in the semifinals.

The 1994 season was another triumphant campaign as the Tar Heels went 25-1-1 and won the NCAA championship for a ninth straight year. Venturini was the season's most impressive performer. She was unanimously selected the National Player of the Year and received first-team All-America honors for the fourth time in her career. Venturini, who led the Tar Heels with 21 goals and 13 assists for 55 points, was the ACC Player of the Year, MVP of the ACC Tournament and Most Outstanding Offensive Player of the NCAA Tournament. It was the third time in her career in which she was named the ACC Tournament MVP and the second time she earned MVP honors in the NCAA Tournament. Freshman Staci Wilson earned first-team All-America honors, was the National Freshman of the Year and the Most Outstanding Defensive Player in the NCAA Tournament.

The Tar Heels had two incredible streaks of excellence snapped in the regular season. An NCAA record winning streak reached 92 contests before Carolina and Notre Dame battled to a 0-0 tie in St. Louis on October 2, 1994. On October 19, 1994, Duke handed the Tar Heels a 3-2 defeat at Fetzer Field. That loss snapped a 101-game unbeaten streak for the Tar Heels dating back to September 22, 1990. The setback was also Carolina's first home loss since October 25, 1980, a streak of 137 games. The Tar Heels and Blue Devils met twice more during the 1994 campaign and Carolina came away with a 4-2 win in the ACC Tournament championship game and a 3-1 win in the NCAA Tournament quarterfinals. Venturini had three goals in the ACC final, the first hat trick in the history of the Tournament. Angela Kelly netted a pair of goals against Duke in the NCAA quarterfinals. The College Cup was held in Portland, Ore., where Venturini stole the show in the final two games of her college career. She capped her brilliant four years at Carolina by leading the Tar Heels to a 3-0 win over Connecticut in the semifinals and a 5-0 triumph over top-seeded Notre Dame in the final. Venturini scored twice in the championship game.

The 1995 season saw the Tar Heels' national championship streak end at nine seasons in a row. The previous year's senior class of 10 players was one of the most dominant in the history of the game. Carolina entered the 1995 campaign an inexperienced team with only three seniors and with a host of new starters on the field. Dorrance quickly molded the young players into a cohesive unit and the Tar Heels reeled off 25 successive wins while playing the nation's toughest schedule. Carolina won its eighth ACC title in nine years by sweeping through the tournament field and outscoring its opponents 16-0 in the three games. UNC dispatched Vanderbilt 4-0 in the NCAA second round after getting a bye in the first round as the tournament's top seed. Seventh-ranked Santa Clara fell victim to the Tar Heels 2-0 in the quarterfinals at Fetzer Field before UNC was beaten in the semifinals on an own goal by Cindy Parlow in a 1-0 loss to fourth-ranked Notre Dame. What was then a women's soccer record crowd of 7,212 watched that Tar Heel loss, only the sixth loss at home in school history. Standout performances abounded during the 1995 campaign. Four Tar Heels earned first-team All-America honors—forward Debbie Keller, forward Cindy Parlow, defender Staci Wilson and goalkeeper Tracy Noonan. Keller and Wilson were named co-National Players of the Year by Soccer Digest.

Mining Olympic Gold

During the summer of 1996, Carolina's soccer fame grew as the Olympic Games held their first ever medal competition in women's soccer. The U.S. won the gold medal, beating China 2-1 in the final match with the help of a cast that had a pronounced Carolina Blue hue. Both assistant coaches for the team, Lauren Gregg and April Heinrichs, were Carolina graduates. Seven of the 16 players on the roster were either Carolina alumnae or Tar Heel players returning for the 1996 season. This cadre included Mia Hamm, Tisha Venturini, Carla Overbeck, Kristine Lilly, Cindy Parlow, Staci Wilson and Tiffany Roberts.

Led by the play of co-National Players of the Year Debbie Keller and Cindy Parlow, UNC returned to the pinnacle of the collegiate women's soccer world during the 1996 campaign. After a sluggish start that saw the Tar Heels struggle through their first eight matches yet escape unscathed, Carolina fell to Notre Dame in the season's ninth game, 2-1 in overtime. The Fighting Irish thus became the first collegiate team in history to beat Carolina two times in a row. Shortly thereafter, Dorrance reconfigured his defensive scheme to a flat back three alignment (3-4-3) and Carolina has stuck with that defensive alignment ever since while also employing a 4-2-3-1 formation as an alternate plan. Carolina rolled to victory over the final 17 games of the campaign to finish with a 25-1 record. UNC had spirited opposition in the ACC Tournament as Carolina claimed its eighth league crown in a row with wins over Florida State 7-1, Virginia 5-2 and Clemson 4-1. Junior forward Robin Confer was named the Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament. The Tar Heels were the No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament despite the fact that Notre Dame had beaten Carolina during the regular season and both teams had only one loss heading into postseason play. Carolina shut out its first three opponents in the NCAA Tournament and then received a stiff challenge from College Cup host Santa Clara in the semifinals. Earlier in the season, the Tar Heels had escaped against the Broncos on a goal in the last minute of play by Debbie Keller. In the rematch, goals late in the second half by Cindy Parlow and Laurie Schwoy gave the Tar Heels a 2-1 victory. Two days later, Carolina avenged its last two defeats to Notre Dame by beating the second-seeded Fighting Irish 1-0 in overtime in the NCAA title match. Senior forward Debbie Keller ended her career on a splendid note by scoring the game-winning goal in the 111th minute of the match.

A Dominant 1997 Season

Carolina was again the best team in the country in 1997, led by co-national players of the year — forwards Cindy Parlow and Robin Confer. The Tar Heels ended the season at 27-0-1 with only a regular-season, lightning-shortened draw against Notre Dame as a blemish on the perfect mark. UNC allowed a paltry eight goals in 28 games and tied the NCAA record for shut-outs in a season with 22, a mark that had originally been established by the 1987 NCAA championship team. Carolina's toughest matches of the year came in the final three rounds of the NCAA Tournament as the Tar Heels outlasted Harvard 1-0 in the quarterfinals, came from behind to defeat Santa Clara 2-1 in the semifinals as Lorrie Fair and Robin Confer scored second-half goals and then blanked UConn 2-0 in the title game on goals by Cindy Parlow and Robin Confer.

The 1998 team was an outstanding one although it failed to win the national championship. Led by seniors Cindy Parlow, Siri Mullinix and Tiffany Roberts, the Tar Heels won the first 24 games of the season heading into the NCAA College Cup at Greensboro, N.C. Carolina defeated Portland 1-0 in the semifinals on Meredith Florance's goal in the 150th minute of play, just 22 seconds before the match was going into penalty kicks to decide which team would advance to the finals. In the championship game, Florida scored in the first 10 minutes of play and Carolina was never able to produce an equalizer.

Reclaiming the Crown

The 1999 campaign started in unsettling fashion as Carolina lost two games in September and stood 6-2 just eight games into the season. It was the first time Carolina had lost two games in the same season since 1985.

But a strong senior class, led by National Player of the Year Lorrie Fair and which also included Rebekah McDowell, Lindsay Stoecker and Beth Sheppard, rallied the troops. Over the final 13 games of the season, Carolina allowed only one goal. The signature Tar Heel defense, keyed by Fair and Stoecker, and featuring first-team All-America Danielle Borgman and freshman goalkeeper Jenni Branam refused to let Carolina lose down the season's stretch run. Carolina won its 11th straight ACC championship and it capped the season with brilliant play in the NCAA College Cup, beating Penn State 2-0 in the semifinals to avenge a regular-season loss to the Nittany Lions and Notre Dame 2-0 in the championship game. Junior Meredith Florance and senior midfielder Beth Sheppard scored the goals in the championship game for Carolina.

In 2000, the Tar Heels won their 12th successive ACC championship and its 17th national championship. UNC's three losses marked only the second time in history Carolina had lost more than two times in a single year, the other previous instance being 1980. All three losses came on the road against ACC teams and in each of the one-goal losses, the Tar Heels surrendered a goal on a penalty kick. Prior to 2000, the Tar Heels had lost only one ACC game in their history. UNC rebounded to sweep three opponents easily in the ACC Tournament, avenging its regular-season loss to Florida State in the semifinals 3-0 and winning against Duke 4-0 in the finals. Seeded fifth entering the NCAA Tournament, its lowest seed ever, UNC beat Wake Forest 5-0 in the second round, avenging another of its regular season losses. In three of the last four games of the NCAA Tournament, the Tar Heels had to rally from 1-0 deficits with less than 25 minutes to play in regulation. Carolina beat Virginia 2-1 in the NCAA Tournament third round on late goals by Laurie Schwoy and Meredith Florance and then rolled past Connecticut 3-0 in the quarterfinals behind a pair of goals by National Player of the Year Meredith Florance. The Tar Heels rallied to beat top-seeded Notre Dame 2-1 in the NCAA semifinals on goals by Kim Patrick and Jordan Walker and then overcame UCLA 2-1 in the national championship game. Freshmen scored the winning goals in the final two games of the season, both in the final 10 minutes of play. Jordan Walker scored to beat Notre Dame in the semifinals and Catherine Reddick had the game-winner in the title game after Florance had tied the match with less than 15 minutes to play.

2003 Team Excels With Aplomb

Despite brilliant regular seasons and a pair of ACC championships, UNC went without NCAA titles in both 2001 and 2002, losing both times to Santa Clara. The Broncos beat the Heels in the championship game in 2001 and in the semifinals in 2002 by 1-0 and 2-1 scores, respectively.

Casey Nogueira's magical goal from a sharp angle with two minutes to play lifted Carolina past Notre Dame 2-1 in the 2008 NCAA final in Cary, N.C.

The Tar Heels returned to the throne of college soccer in 2003 with one of the best teams, if not the best team, in the history of the game. For the first time since 1993, when the Tar Heels also accomplished the feat, a collegiate women's soccer team completed a season with an undefeated and untied record as the Tar Heels matched the NCAA record for wins in a season by finishing 27-0.

In three of the first six matches of the campaign, UNC had to go to overtime to win road games against Washington, Texas and Texas A&M. Lori Chalupny scored the game winner at UW and Maggie Tomecka and Libby Guess had game-winners in the Lone Star State matchups.

UNC was led by an impressive offensive array of talent which was spearheaded by co-National Player of the Year Lindsay Tarpley, who led the nation in total points with 73 and in assists with 27. Tarpley became the first player since Mia Hamm in 1993 to be named ACC Player of the Year and ACC Tournament MVP while also leading the ACC in scoring. Tarpley's 19 points in the NCAA Tournament were a record, highlighted by 11 assists, a record in NCAA play in a single tournament.

Senior forward Alyssa Ramsey finished with 10 goals and 25 assists, the second-highest total of assists in the nation, and consensus National Freshman of the Year Heather O'Reilly shook off the effects of a broken leg suffered in June by scoring 13 goals in the final 12 games of the season, including eight tallies in UNC's six NCAA Tournament contests, the most goals ever scored by a Tar Heel in a single NCAA Tournament. O'Reilly won NCAA Tournament offensive MVP honors and Catherine Reddick won the defensive award. Three Tar Heels earned All-America honors on defense including Honda Sports Award for Soccer and Hermann Trophy winner Catherine Reddick, a consensus first-team All-America choice. Senior Carmen Watley also copped All-America honors as did sophomore goalkeeper Aly Winget who finished second in the nation in goals against average and posted 16 solo shutouts, an ACC season record.

UNC outscored its opponents 113-11 on the season and was at its best in NCAA play when it scored 32 goals while not allowing a single tally in six games, a tournament record for defensive prowess. Carolina's opposition in the Tournament was not easy as the Tar Heels had to beat four conference champions en route to the title while beating No. 3 Santa Clara in the quarterfinals and No. 2 UCLA in the semifinals by identical 3-0 scores.

The 2004 and 2005 seasons produced another two ACC regular season titles for Carolina as well as an ACC Tournament title in the latter year. UNC's 10-member senior class in 2005, led by 2003 National Player of the Year Lindsay Tarpley and three-time consensus first-team All-America midfielder Lori Chalupny, finished its career with only four losses. The class also included All-America midfielder Kacey White and All-America defender Kendall Fletcher and goalkeeper Aly Winget, who set an ACC record with 35 career solo shutouts.

The 2006 Freshmen Lead Carolina To Another Golden Era

Carolina returned to the top rung of college soccer in 2006 with a team that started seven freshmen in the second half of the NCAA championship game against Notre Dame. UNC lost its season opener at Texas A&M 1-0 in double overtime, its first loss in a lidifter since 1983. A week later, standing at 2-1, the Heels trailed UConn 2-0 at halftime before rallying for a 3-2 win with three second-half goals. That second 45 minutes of soccer turned the Tar Heels' season around and sent them on the way to a 10-0 ACC mark and a thrilling overtime win over Florida State 2-1 in the ACC championship game on a goal by senior Libby Guess. Altogether, the freshman-laden squad ran off wins in its final 27 matches of the campaign. In the NCAA Tournament, the Tar Heels rallied to beat Texas A&M in the quarterfinals on three second-half goals, scored two goals in the final seven minutes to beat UCLA in the semifinals and beat No. 1 Notre Dame 2-1 in the championship contest. Both Yael Averbuch and Heather O'Reilly earned national player of the year awards and O'Reilly was the offensive MVP of the College Cup for the second time.

After a 19-4-1 season in 2007, Carolina returned to the top of the college soccer ranks in 2008 as it won its 20th national championship. Consensus National Player of the Year Casey Nogueira led the nation with 25 goals and her two goals in the second half of the NCAA title game rallied the Tar Heels past No. 1-ranked Notre Dame 2-1. Carolina, which finished the year 25-1-2, had to beat undefeated teams in both the NCAA semifinals and finals as UCLA and Notre Dame both headed into the College Cup without having lost in 2008.

Carolina also won the ACC Tournament without allowing a goal in three games. UNC needed a goal in double overtime by Ali Hawkins to rally past Texas A&M 2-1 in the NCAA quarterfinals at Fetzer Field and then a week later it beat UCLA 1-0 in the semifinals on a penalty kick goal by Yael Averbuch. Notre Dame scored in the opening minute of the national championship match but Nogueira tied the score on a free kick early in the second half and then won the game with a spectacular, world class goal with just over two minutes left on the clock.

UNC's NCAA title run in 2009 was fueled first and foremost by defense. UNC posted 19 shutouts in 27 games and allowed only 12 goals all season. A preseason No. 1 team with 11 players returning with starting experience, Carolina beat eventual NCAA semifinalist UCLA 7-2 in the season opener. In the fourth game of the season, the Tar Heels defeated Notre Dame 6-0 in the debut of the Fighting Irish's new soccer stadium. By midseason, the Tar Heels were not clicking on all cylinders, however. Nogueira was struggling with her scoring touch while Tobin Heath and Ashlyn Harris missed time with the National Team. A season-ending injury to Nikki Washington was a huge setback and Ali Hawkins and Courtney Jones also missed time with injuries. Carolina lost three times in the regular season in ACC road games to Virginia Tech, Florida State and Miami but rebounded to win the ACC Tournament with a 3-0 win over Florida State in the final as Nogueira scored twice and was named MVP. In the end, the defense of National Player of the Year Whitney Engen, Kristi Eveland and Rachel Givan and goalkeeper Ashlyn Harris carried the Tar Heels to shutouts in 10 of the last 11 games of the season. In the College Cup, UNC held Notre Dame and undefeated and untied Stanford to no goals in 180 minutes of play. Nogueira had the game-winner against the Fighting Irish in the semifinals off an assist by freshman Lucy Bronze and then Jessica McDonald scored less than three minutes into the championship game to provide the scoring in the two 1-0 triumphs.

A Most Unlikely Title in 2012

Carolina won its 22nd national championship in 2012 but to say the least it was the most improbable of the group. Due to injuries to key players and National Team commitments by four starting players, the Tar Heels never found their chemistry in the regular season and finished 10-5-2 heading into NCAA play. Fortunately UNC had played the nation's toughest schedule and earned a No. 2 seed in the NCAA Tournament even after losing in the ACC Tournament quarterfinals to Virginia 1-0 in a game in which the Tar Heels did not take a shot on goal.

With 13 days off between the ACC Tournament loss and the start of the NCAA Tournament, UNC regrouped and eased past Radford and Illinois before facing No. 3 seed Baylor in the third round. The Bears led for most of the game before Crystal Dunn tied the contest with less than nine minutes remaining. The game would go to penalty kicks where UNC prevailed 4-2, only its second win ever in a penalty kick shootout. UNC would then meet No. 1 seeds BYU, Stanford and Penn State in the next three rounds. The Tar Heels won in Provo 2-1 in double overtime on a pair of goals by Crystal Dunn and a remarkable back save by Brooke Elby which denied what seemed a sure Cougar goal in the first overtime period.

In the College Cup in San Diego, UNC denied top-ranked Stanford a second straight title as Carolina won 1-0 in double overtime on a goal by Kealia Ohai, assisted by Crystal Dunn and Katie Bowen. Two days later in the championship game, UNC dominated the second half against Big Ten champion Penn State, outscoring the Nittany Lions 3-0 after intermission in a 4-1 win. Ohai put the Tar Heels up less than two minutes into the game before Hanna Gardner and Satara Murray tallied off corner kicks and senior Raneem Premji added an insurance goal.

Both Crystal Dunn and senior midfielder Amber Brooks won national player of the year honors with Dunn becoming the first UNC recipient of the Hermann Trophy since Cat Reddick in 2003. Dunn also won the Garber Award as ACC Female Athlete of the Year. Ohai and Satara Murray were the NCAA Tournament MVPs and three Tar Heels played on the gold medal winning U20 World Cup Team (Dunn, Ohai and Bryane Heaberlin) while Heath and O'Reilly mined Olympic gold for the USA in 2012 in London.

As Carolina prepares for the 2016 season the challenge for Dorrance will be to try to improve upon numbers which are already staggering in nature, including a 792-63-32 overall record, a 339-26-11 all-time record at Fetzer Field, a total of 555 defensive shutouts in the 887 games while being shut out offensively in only 46 of 887 games.

The senior class of 2012 celebrates the return of the NCAA championship trophy to Chapel Hill after a three-year absence.

Note On Overtime Games

From 1979-1997, overtime games were formatted to include 2 mandated 15-minute overtime periods played out in their entirety. So all games indicated as overtime games during those 19 years are indicated with a 2OT designation and were all decided in 2 mandatory 15-minute periods. Beginning in 1998, the overtime process was changed to a golden goal format with the exception of ACC and NCAA Tournament games. A goal scored in overtime ended the contest at that point in time. In 1999, the golden goal format went into effect for ACC Tournament and NCAA Tournament games as well. In 1998-2001, overtime periods were 15 minutes in length. Beginning in 2002, the process remained golden goal but the overtime periods were reduced to 10 minutes in length. From 1999 to the present, games that went to overtime are listed as either OT or 2OT depending on when the golden goal was scored. The 1998 NCAA semifinal match versus Portland was a four overtime sudden death match. The game would have gone to penalty kicks after the fourth overtime period. Games with penalty kicks outcomes are only relevant for ACC Tournament and NCAA Tournament play when the games have ended in ties after regulation and the mandatory overtime periods.

Note: One game in UNC history has not gone the regulation 90 minutes. In a contest at Notre Dame in 1997, UNC and the Fighting Irish played to a 2-2 tie in a match that was ended in the 72nd due to repeated lightning delays.

Note: Beginning the 2016 season, North Carolina has played 887 games.

During that time, UNC has won 792 contests, lost 63 contests and played to 32 ties.

*The NCAA recognizes only solo shutouts for individual statistical purposes. A shared shutout goes down as a team shutout but is not credited to any individual. Despite extensive records research by UNC Athletic Communications, determining the goalkeepers who played in shutout games in 1979, 1980, 1981, 1982, 1984, 1985, 1987 and 1988 did not yield complete and accurate results.

#ACC Tournament
*NCAA Tournament

Since the founding of the U.S. Women's National Team in 1985, Carolina players have played an integral role in the team's success. A total of 55 UNC players have earned caps playing on the USWNT since its creation in 1985 through the conclusion of the 2015 calendar year.

The summer of 2015 proved to be an especially exciting time for Carolina women's soccer players as nine competed in the FIFA World Cup in Canada. Six former Tar Heels were members of the U.S. Team - Lori Chalupny, Whitney Engen, Ashlyn Harris, Tobin Heath, Meghan Klingenberg and Heather O'Reilly. Former Tar Heels Robyn Gayle (Canada) and Lucy Bronze (England) and then UNC senior Katie Bowen (New Zealand) also competed in the World Cup.

The six Tar Heels on the U.S. team were a key part of the American side which won the U.S.'s first World Cup crown since 1999. Klingenberg started on defense and played every minute of the tournament while Heath started in the midfield for the United States and scored a goal in the 5-2 championship game victory over Japan. Bronze started for the England team which won third place in the tournament, its first ever World Cup medal, while Bowen for a starter for New Zealand in the midfield. Both Klingenberg and Bronze were named to the FIFA World Cup Best XI for 2015, the equivalent of the All-Tournament Team. The Americans ran through the tournament unbeaten with only a draw in group play against Sweden marring their record. In that game Klingenberg made a near miraculous back save in the closing minutes to maintain the tie. In the knockout phase the U.S. beat Colombia, China, Germany and Japan to win the gold medal and become the first nation in history to win three World Cups on the women's side.

Three Tar Heels — Heather O'Reilly, Tobin Heath and Meghan Klingenberg (alternate) — played for the U.S. in the 2012 Olympic Games in London and were rewarded with gold medals after astonishingly dramatic wins over Canada in the semifinals and Japan in the final. It was the third gold medal for O'Reilly and the second for Heath. The Americans have won the Olympic gold medal in four of the six competitions since the inaugural event in 1996, including three in a row in 2004, 2008 and 2012.

O'Reilly and Heath were also members of the 2011 U.S. World Cup Team which claimed the silver medal in the event in Germany. Lindsey Tarpley was also named to the roster for that team in May 2011 but shortly thereafter tore an ACL and had to miss the competition. 1987 UNC alumna Marcia McDermott was an assistant coach for the 2011 U.S. World Cup Team.

Chalupny, O'Reilly, Heath and Tarpley were all on the U.S. Team which played in the 2008 Olympics in China as the team won its second straight Olympic gold medal and its third overall.

The U.S. National Team was coached by 1987 UNC alumna April Heinrichs from 2000-05. Heinrichs retired as the team's coach after leading the Americans to the 2004 Olympic gold medal in Athens, Greece.

One of the top highlights of all the National Team's events over the past 31 years was the play of the U.S. World Cup Team which recaptured the World Cup championship with a 5-4 penalty kick shootout victory over China in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif., on July 10, 1999. Rarely has any athletic team captured the imagination of the American public as that team did. Forty percent of the U.S. roster was comprised of graduates of Carolina's program led by starting forwards Mia Hamm and Cindy Parlow, starting Norway in 2000 when the U.S. settled for silver after an overtime loss in the gold medal match. That squad was coached by Heinrichs and six Tar Heels played on the squad, including Hamm, who was competing in her final major international event before retiring from the sport. During the Olympic Tournament, Lilly and Parlow continued as veteran mainstays of the team and they were joined by three younger generation Tar Heels — Cat Whitehill, Heather O'Reilly and Lindsay Tarpley. O'Reilly scored the game-winning golden goal in overtime as the U.S. beat Germany 2-1 in the semifinals and then Tarpley scored the opening goal of the match as the Americans beat Brazil 2-1 in overtime for the gold medal. Tar Heel players accounted for seven of the 12 goals scored by the U.S. in the 2004 Olympics.

Tar Heel head coach Anson Dorrance was one of the chief architects of the national team's amazing success. He began coaching the team in 1986 and he served in that role for eight years before retiring in 1994 to concentrate on his work as the Tar Heels' head coach. During Dorrance's coaching tenure, he led the U.S. National Team to a record of 65-22-2.

In 1991, Dorrance took the U.S. Team to China to compete in the first-ever Women's World Cup. Nine of the 18 players on the team were Carolina graduates or active UNC players at that time, including team captain April Heinrichs. The Americans won that initial World Cup, beating Norway 2-1 in the championship match.

Although the U.S. would be dethroned by eventual champion Norway four years later in the 1995 Women's World Cup semifinals and had to settle for the bronze medal, the Americans came back to claim the 1996 Olympic gold medal in women's soccer. The U.S. defeated Norway in sudden death overtime in the semifinals and then downed China in the gold medal match 2-1 before a capacity crowd at the University of Georgia's Sanford Stadium. That U.S. Olympic team featured seven Carolina players.

The U.S. National Team took home the silver medal at the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia with six more Tar Heels on that team. The National Team won the bronze medal at the 2003 World Cup with six Carolina players on that squad and it captured bronze at the 2007 World Cup and silver at the 2011 World Cup.

There were eight former Tar Heels who competed in the 2016 Olympic Games in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Crystal Dunn, Whitney Engen, Tobin Heath, Meghan Klingenberg and Allie Long played for the U.S. and Katie Bowen for New Zealand.

Meghan Klingenberg (alternate), Heather O'Reilly and Tobin Heath after the U.S. won the Olympic gold medal in London in 2012.

midfielder Kristine Lilly and starting defender Carla Overbeck, the team's captain. Reserve roles were played by midfielders Tisha Venturini and Tiffany Roberts, defender Lorrie Fair and goalkeeper Tracy Noonan.

Parlow tallied the game-winner as the U.S. ousted Brazil 2-0 in the semifinals. After battling China to a 0-0 tie through 120 minutes of play in the final, the U.S. triumphed 5-4 on penalty kicks with Tar Heels Overbeck, Lilly and Hamm providing three of the five successful chances from the 12-yard spot in the penalty shootout.

American teams have medaled in all six World Cups ever played, taking gold in 1991, 1999 and 2015, silver in 2011 and bronze in 1995, 2003 and 2007.

In the 2004 Olympics in Athens, Greece, the U.S. reclaimed the gold medal it had relinquished to

From Fetzer To Finley: Carolina Blue Olympiocs

This article appeared on GoHeels.com the day prior to the start of the 2016 Olympic Games and was dedicated to the new, the veteran and the history of Carolina women's soccer's influence on the the Olympic Games.

By Dave Lohse, Associate Athletic Communications Director

It seems like yesterday when six former Tar Heel women's soccer players received their gold medals at the 2015 World Cup in Canada. But time does not stand still and here we are 13 months later on the eve of the 2016 Olympic Games in Rio de Janeiro. The Olympics have for the most part been the pride and property of the U.S. Women's National Team, which won the initial title in 1996 and went on to win gold in 2004, 2008 and 2012. It has faltered only once, settling for silver at the 2000 Olympic Games.

Six Tar Heels will be on full rosters at this year's Olympics and two more will be in Rio as U.S. Team alternates. The six active players bring the overall participation of UNC players in six Olympic Games to 33. That's an astounding number.

Things kick off on Wednesday when the United States plays New Zealand at 6 p.m. Eastern Time in Belo Horizonte. You can catch the match on NBCSN (NBC Sports Network), which is Channel 314 on Time Warner Cable in the Triangle Region of North Carolina. It's ironic that these two teams match up in the first round of group play as Katie Bowen is on the roster for the Football Ferns, the only UNC alumna to make an Olympic squad other than the U.S.'s. Bowen graduated from Carolina last May and was a member of the 2012 NCAA championship team as a freshman.

On the other side of the ball, Bowen will go face-to-face against Tar Heel alumna Crystal Dunn, Class of 2014, who played with Bowen two years in Chapel Hill. Other members of the American side are Tobin Heath, '10; Meghan Klingenberg, '11; Whitney Engen, '10; and Allie Long, '09. U.S. Team alternates are Heather O'Reilly, '07, and Ashlyn Harris, '10. The alternates will basically be involved in all Olympic activities with their U.S. teammates save dressing for and playing in games. Long, Dunn, Engen, Klingenberg and Bowen are first-time Olympians while Heath is appearing in her third Olympic Games, having already captured gold in 2008 and 2012. Klingenberg was an alternate on the U.S. Team in London the last time out.

The United States will benefit from the presence of O'Reilly in Rio, even in her role as alternate. She was likely the last cut to the American roster. While the World Cup allows 23 players to appear on official rosters, at the Olympics the figure is cut to 18. This marks the end of a long string of major international tournament appearances for O'Reilly, who had made every team for the Olympics or World Cup since 2004. O'Reilly is such a fierce competitor that I know it must have been a major disappointment to have not made this team but she is also the ultimate team player and I guarantee since the day the final roster was named, she has done everything in her power in her spot as an alternate to make the U.S. team better prepared for what it will face in the Southern Hemisphere beginning this week.

Dunn is on the opposite end of the spectrum. She is the second youngest member of the U.S. Team and she has been grooming herself for this appearance since she was the last player cut from the American squad that went to Canada for the 2015 World Cup. Dunn has joined Heath and Klingenberg as starters on the U.S. squad in 2016. Klingenberg has made 14 starts this calendar year while Heath and Dunn have started 11 times each. Dunn ranks second on the U.S. team in goals scored in 2016 with 10, one behind Alex Morgan.

When you compare O'Reilly and Dunn's collegiate careers, there are striking similarities. O'Reilly missed the 2003 World Cup after suffering a broken leg that also delayed the start of her freshman season at Carolina. Having made her first National Team appearance in 2002 while in high school, much was expected of her when she got to Carolina. During the Tar Heels' 2003 undefeated national championship season the Tar Heels had a superstar-laden roster that included Catherine Reddick, Lindsay Tarpley and Lori Chalupny. O'Reilly was able to recover completely from her broken leg and she tore things up in the NCAA Tournament, being named the Tournament's Most Valuable Offensive player as Carolina outscored its opponents 32-0 over six games.

For the next two years, Carolina fell in the third round and the quarterfinals of the NCAA Tournament despite dominating its opponents. O'Reilly returned for her senior year intent on returning Carolina to the NCAA title. She delivered. After the Tar Heels dropped their season opener, Carolina ran off 27 wins in a row. O'Reilly scored the insurance goal in UNC's 2-0 win over UCLA in the semifinals and she opened the scoring in Carolina's 2-1 championship game victory over Notre Dame.

When Dunn arrived at Carolina in 2010, UNC had won three of the previous four NCAA titles. But Carolina fell in the NCAA third round in her first two years. By the time she was a junior Dunn knew she had to deliver a championship to Chapel Hill. She missed the opening third of the season playing on the U.S. U20 Team which won the World Cup in Japan. The Tar Heels played one of the nation's arduous schedules which helped it earn a No. 2 seed in the NCAA Tournament despite a won-loss record which was not sterling by Carolina standards.

Once post-season began, Dunn was at her best. She scored a late goal to force overtime against Baylor in the third round as the Tar Heels prevailed in penalty kicks. She scored both goals in a tension-filled 2-1 win over BYU in the quarterfinals in Provo, Utah. The Tar Heels went double overtime again in the NCAA semifinals against Stanford and Dunn assisted Kealia Ohai on the golden goal. Two days later, Carolina beat Penn State 4-1 for the national championship. Just as O'Reilly was named National Player of the Year in 2006, Dunn earned the honor in 2012.

If this is a changing of the guard then we must pay proper tribute to O'Reilly amazing national team career. She has 230 international caps, 195 more than Dunn, who may at some reach that level herself. O'Reilly has played on the team in 15 different seasons from 2002-16. She has won three Olympic gold medals and a World Cup championship. O'Reilly has been a part of two of the most significant goals in U.S. Olympic history. In the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, the rising college sophomore took a pass from Mia Hamm and score in overtime to lift the United States past Germany 2-1. That semifinal round win over the 2003 World Cup champions sent the U.S. Team to the finals where it beat Brazil 2-1 in overtime three days later to claim the gold medal.

Fast forward to 2012 when the U.S. and Canada played an epic semifinal match in Manchester, England. O'Reilly came on as a late game substitute. In the last minute of extra time, O'Reilly embarked on a dead sprint down the right side, beating her defender and launching a picture perfect cross that landed right on the head of Alex Morgan who put away the winning goal from six yards out. The U.S. survived the Canadians 4-3 in overtime and three days later defeated Japan 2-1 for the gold medal. Morgan was the hero but as I wrote at the time for her winning tally, O'Reilly's cross was being overlooked. Of course, I am biased. But without the world-class pass from O'Reilly, the game is headed to penalty kicks.

We have arrived at another Olympic Games and again they have a Carolina Blue hue with so many Tar Heels participating. Four members of the U.S. side are seeking first time gold. Heath is seeking her third. And three-time gold medalist O'Reilly, like the trooper she is, will be doing everything she can to bring home another title for the Red, White and Blue.

APRIL HEINRICHS 1984 & 1986 National Player of the Year

April Heinrichs was the first of the truly great players in Carolina's storied women's soccer history. She was also the first true superstar in women's soccer worldwide and proved that by being the captain of the first team to ever win a World Cup championship in 1991.

Heinrichs was named a first-team All-America forward in 1984, 1985 and 1986 by the Intercollegiate Soccer Association, the sport's chief governing body at the time. She was also a third-team All-America in 1983 as a freshman. The Intercollegiate Soccer Association named her National Player of the Year in both 1984 and 1986.

Heinrichs particularly excelled in postseason play while she wore the Carolina Blue & White. She was named to the All-Tournament Team at the 1983, 1984, 1985 and 1986 NCAA Tournaments as Carolina won NCAA crowns in three of those four seasons. In 1984, she was tapped as the overall Most Valuable Player of the NCAA Tournament. In 1985 and 1986, she was the Most Valuable Offensive Player of the tournament as well. Heinrichs' performances in those tournaments helped the Tar Heels win NCAA championships in 1983, 1984 and 1986. Heinrichs' No. 2 uniform number was the first to ever be retired by the UNC women's soccer program.

Heinrichs' greatness is evidenced by her place in the Carolina record books. She shares the school record for assists in a game with five against Warren Wilson on October 29, 1983. She is second in Carolina history in scoring with 225 points. Her 87 goals are the third most in school history and she is also tied for eighth in assists with 51.

Heinrichs led the Tar Heels in scoring four times during her career – in 1983 with 47 points, in 1984 with 59, in 1985 with 50 and in 1986 with 69 as she led the Tar Heel leaderboard every season she was a Tar Heel.

Soccer America recognized her as the Women's Player of the Decade for the 1980s.

She was a member of the U.S. Women's National Team from 1986-91, earning 47 caps and scoring 37 goals. Heinrichs served as the captain of the 1991 U.S. team that won the championship at the first ever Women's World Cup in China. That team, coached by Anson Dorrance, beat Norway 2-1 in the gold medal match.

After Heinrichs' playing days, she made a transition to the coaching arena. In 1996, she served as an assistant coach for the United States Olympic Team, which won the gold medal in the Atlanta Games. She was the head coach of the U.S. Women's National Team from 2000-05, leading the team to an 87-17-20 record in five years. Heinrichs coached the team to an Olympic gold medal in 2004 in her last major competition as the squad's head coach. As head coach she also led the U.S. to a silver medal at the 2000 Olympics and to a bronze medal at the 2003 World Cup.

Her first college coaching position was as head coach at Princeton University in 1990, where she compiled an 8-6-1 mark. She then became head coach at the University of Maryland for five years from 1991-95, compiling a mark of 56-40-7. In 1995, she was named ACC Coach of the Year after leading the Terrapins to their first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance. She then served four years as the head coach at the University of Virginia. She went 52-27-7 there with four NCAA Tournament appearances. Heinrichs was named head coach of the U.S. National Team in 2000 and she retired at the conclusion of the 2004 season after leading the American side to Olympic gold. She then coached for one year at the University of California at Irvine in 2006 before accepting a post with the U.S. Olympic Committee in December 2006 as Performance Services Team Leader. In January 2011, Heinrichs was appointed Development Director for women's soccer by the United States Soccer Federation.

A native of Denver, Colo., she graduated from Carolina in 1986.

SHANNON HIGGINS 1988 & 1989 National Player of the Year

Shannon Higgins won two national player of the year honors during her four years at the University of North Carolina. Higgins was one of the stars in the early stages of the U.S. Women's National Team and one of the most clutch players in collegiate women's soccer history.

Soccer America honored her with its national player of the year award in 1988 and the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America gave her its award in 1989. She also won the Honda Sports Award for Soccer in 1989.

Higgins played for the U.S. Women's National Team from 1987-91 and earned a total of 51 caps. She was a member of the United States Team which won the 1991 Women's World Cup title in China.

Her career continued as a coach of the sport on the collegiate level. She was the head coach for seven years at George Washington University and six more at the University of Maryland before retiring from coaching following the 2004 season. Her seven Maryland teams combined to go 62-51-10. Her final Terrapins' squad advanced to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament, the furthest the Terps had advanced in the national tournament.

Before her time with the Terps, Higgins served as the head women's soccer coach at George Washington University in Washington, D.C., where she posted a 69-59-11 record in seven years.

Higgins is married to Sasho Cirovski, the head men's soccer coach at the University of Maryland since 1993 and coach of two national championship teams with the Terrapins' men's program.

As a collegian, Higgins rather remarkably scored the game-winning goal in the 1987, 1988 and 1989 NCAA championship games as the Tar Heels beat UMass 1-0, NC State 4-1 and Colorado College 2-0, respectively. It is a feat unrivaled in soccer history on the NCAA level. In the Tar Heels' NCAA championship victory over the rival Wolfpack in 1988, she recorded a hat trick.

She was named a first-team All-America midfielder by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America in both 1988 and 1989. Higgins was also named to the first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference squad in 1987, 1988 and 1989, winning the ACC Player of the Year award in her senior season of 1989.

The University of North Carolina honored her with the Patterson Medal in 1990 as the outstanding senior student-athlete at the school. Also in 1990, Higgins won the first-ever Mary Garber Award given by the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association to the female athlete of the year in the conference. She was the first of eight UNC women's soccer players to win the award.

Higgins had a memorable career in postseason play for the Tar Heels. She was named to the All-Tournament Team at the NCAA Tournament in 1987, 1988 and 1989. Higgins was the Offensive Most Valuable Player of the 1988 NCAA Tournament after she scored three goals in Carolina's 4-1 victory over NC State in the championship game.

In each of her four years at Carolina (1986-89), the women's soccer team captured the NCAA championship. She also played on Tar Heel teams which captured ACC Tournament championships in 1987 and 1989.

Her jersey number (No. 3) is one of 19 numbers which have become eligible in Carolina women's soccer history for retirement.

Higgins is ranked 16th in career scoring at Carolina with 129 points and she is 20th in goals scored at Carolina with 39. She is tied for eighth in Carolina history with 51 assists. In 1988, she led the ACC in scoring with 43 points. For three consecutive seasons, she led the conference in assists. She had 11 assists in 1987, 17 assists in 1988, and 18 assists in 1989.

Players of the Year: Lilly & Hamm

KRISTINE LILLY 1990 & 1991 National Player of the Year

Kristine Lilly's tenure on the U.S. Women's National Team earned her the distinction of being one of the most celebrated players in soccer history. Before her retirement from international soccer on January 5, 2011, Lilly had 354 caps with the U.S. National Team. She has 43 more caps than any other player in USWNT history. Christie Rampone ranks second with 311.

Lilly was honored in 2015 with induction into the U.S. Soccer Hall of Fame. She was elected in the first year in which she was eligible for election to the Hall.

Lilly played in her fifth Women's World Cup in 2007, an amazing feat that dated to her first appearance in 1991. Rampone is the only other American to have played in five World Cups. When she retired, Lilly was the second-leading scorer in USWNT history with 130 goals and 106 assists for 366 points, ranking only behind Mia Hamm in those two statistics. She finished her career No. 1 in career starts and caps and No. 2 in goals, assists and points.

Lilly was twice named National Player of the Year at Carolina, winning the award in 1990 and again in 1991. Soccer America honored her during both campaigns, while the Missouri Athletic Club, the Honda Sports Award for Soccer, the Hermann Trophy and the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America all gave her their awards in 1991. Lilly won the award in 1991 despite playing only in the regular season before departing for China to play in the Women's World Cup.

In 1993, she earned the Patterson Medal as the outstanding senior athlete at the University. She was the ACC Player of the Year in 1991 while winning the ACC Tournament's Most Valuable Player award in 1990. Soccer America named her the National Freshman of the Year in 1989.

In postseason play, Lilly was named the Most Outstanding Offensive Player in the 1989 and 1990 NCAA Tournaments. She scored 10 goals and had seven assists for 27 points in nine NCAA Tournament matches in her career. The Heels won NCAA championships in all four of her years at Carolina and UNC compiled a record of 93-1-2 during Lilly's tenure.

She is fifth in school history in scoring with 197 points, fourth in goals scored with 78 and tied for 17th in assists with 41. In 1990, Lilly ranked second in the nation in scoring with 52 points.

When it comes to experience internationally, Lilly had no equal. She participated in more than 80 percent of the matches the U.S. women's team had ever played at the time she retired. That gave her more international match appearances than any other player – man or woman – in the history of U.S. Soccer. The U.S. Soccer Federation named Lilly its Player of the Year in 1993.

Lilly was a member of the U.S. National Team, which won the gold medals at the 1996 Olympics and 2004 Olympics. She also helped the U.S. win the 1999 World Cup just as she had been a key cog in the win in 1991. Lilly scored two goals and had one assist during the 1999 competition. She converted a key penalty kick in the final against China as well as clearing what would have been a sure Chinese goal off the goal line in overtime before the match went to penalty kicks.

Her jersey number 15 was retired by the University of North Carolina. She received her degree from Carolina in Radio, Television & Motion Pictures in 1993.

Lilly played for the Boston Breakers in the WUSA for three seasons. She returned to professional soccer in 2009 as a member of the new Boston Breakers franchise in Women's Professional Soccer. In 2011, she had her number retired by the Breakers' franchise and the mayor of Boston, Thomas Menino, honored her with Kristine Lilly Day in the city.

In 2014, Lilly was elected to the U.S. National Soccer Hall of Fame. She currently serves as an assistant coach at the University of Texas.

MIA HAMM 1992 & 1993 National Player of the Year

Mia Hamm attained the status of being recognized as one of the world's most talented and well-known female athletes in any sport and she accomplished that status very early in her career. More than a decade after her retirement from soccer she is still one of the most respected and admired women's athletes in American history.

FIFA named her the Women's World Player of the Year in both 2001 and 2002, the first two years in which the world's governing body had bestowed the award.

Her fame expanded off the pitch. People Magazine named her one of the 50 Most Beautiful People in the World in 1997. Corporations contracted with her for major endorsements, including Gatorade, Pepsi and Pert Shampoo. Nike named the largest building at its world headquarters in Beaverton, Ore., after her in 1999. She has devoted her life after soccer to multiple philanthropic causes. She remains, 12 years after her retirement, a recognizable icon in American sports history. A modest and humble player she is nevertheless one of the most charismatic and well-liked athletes in history.

Hamm was one of the stars of the U.S. team which won the title at the 1999 World Cup, an event which propelled the popularity of women's soccer in the U.S. to unheard of heights. Hamm converted a key penalty kick in the victory over China in the championship game.

Hamm was the 1994 recipient of the Honda Broderick Cup given to the Outstanding Female Athlete in all of college sports. She is the only UNC athlete to ever win the award. She received the 1994 Patterson Medal as the outstanding senior athlete at Carolina.

The ACC honored Hamm with the 1993 and 1994 Mary Garber Awards as the ACC's Female Athlete of the Year. She also won the ACC Player of the Year award in women's soccer three times and was a three-time unanimous first-team All-America selection. In 2002, she was named the outstanding female athlete in the first half century of the ACC's history dating back to the league's founding in 1954.

Hamm helped lead UNC to NCAA championships in 1989, 1990, 1992 and 1993. She was the unanimous choice as college soccer's National Player of the Year in 1992 and 1993. Hamm won the NCAA Tournament MVP awards for offense in 1992 and 1993. In 1989 and 1992, she was the MVP of the ACC Tournament.

Hamm led the nation in scoring in 1990, 1992 and 1993, setting the NCAA single-season record for scoring with 97 points in 1992. Hamm also holds the UNC record for assists with 33 in 1992. She scored 32 goals in 1992, the second-highest total in UNC history.

Before retiring from soccer at the conclusion of the 2004 season, Hamm had been a member of the U.S. National Team since 1987 when she was still in high school. She was 15 years old when she first played for the team, making her the youngest woman ever to play for the National Team.

She ended 2004 as the world's all-time leading scorer with 158 goals and 145 assists for 461 points. Her 158 international goals were the most of all-time in FIFA history, male or female, until that mark was broken by Abby Wambach in 2013. Hamm concluded her career on a high note by winning her second Olympic gold medal in 2004.

In 1999, she established the Mia Hamm Foundation to raise funds and awareness for bone marrow transplant patients and families and also to provide more opportunities for young girls in athletics.

She received her degree in political science from Carolina in 1994. In 2003, she was married to Nomar Garciaparra, a former Major League Baseball All-Star and current ESPN commentator. They have twin daughters, Ava Caroline and Grace Isabella, born in 2007, and a son, Garrett, born in 2012.

playing in the World Cup in China where they led the U.S. to the first of its three World Cup championships.

Venturini would go on to be the unanimous selection as the 1994 Na tional Player of the Year after leading Carolina to a fourth straight national championship, capping an utterly brilliant playing career on the college level. She was the recipient of the Hermann Trophy and was also named Player of the Year by the Missouri Athletic Club, the Honda Sports Award for Soccer, the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America, Soccer America, Soccer News and College Sports.

She was the recipient of the 1995 Patterson Medal given annually to the outstanding senior athlete at the University of North Carolina. She is one of a long line of Tar Heel women's soccer recipients of the Patterson Medal.

In 1995, she also won the Mary Garber Award as the Outstanding Fe male Athlete in the ACC. She was the ACC Player of the Year in 1994 and was also named first-team All-ACC and first-team NSCAA All-Southeast Region four times.

Venturini was at her best in the postseason in leading Carolina to multiple ACC and NCAA championships. She was named the ACC Tour nament's Most Valuable Player in 1991, 1993 and 1994, and, in each of her four seasons at North Carolina, she made the NCAA College Cup All -Tournament Team. Remarkably versatile, she won the Most Outstanding Defensive Player of the 1991 NCAA Tournament accolade and the Most Outstanding Offensive Player of the 1994 NCAA Tournament award. In 14
NCAA Tournament games, she had seven goals and added nine assists for 23 points.

Venturini established a reputation as a clutch player, scoring three goals against Duke in the 1994 ACC Tournament championship game and two goals against Notre Dame in the 1994 NCAA title game as she finished her post-season career in impressive fashion. She led the Tar Heels to a 5-0 win over Notre Dame in the championship game after the two teams played to a tie in the regular season.

She is sixth all-time in UNC history with 69 goals and tied for eighth all -time in assists with 51. She is tied for seventh in points with 189.

Venturini also went on to great success in international play for the U.S.
National Team.

She started at center midfield for the U.S. National Team in the 1995
Women's World Cup, and tied for the U.S. team lead in scoring with three goals.

In the 1996 Olympics, she helped the U.S. capture the gold medal. She was also a member of the 1999 U.S. World Cup championship team for the USA. Venturini scored two goals versus North Korea in the last round of pool play in that event.

Overall, she had 134 caps for the National Team, scoring 47 goals.

She played for the San Jose Cyber Rays in the WUSA for three years, capturing a title in 2001.

DEBBIE KELLER 1995 & 1996 National Player of the Year

University of North Carolina head coach
Anson Dorrance once called Debbie Keller potentially the finest leader he had seen in his 38 years of coaching women's soccer at Carolina.

In 1995, she was named Co-National Player of the Year by Soccer Digest, and, in 1996, Keller was named National Player of the Year by both Soccer America and Soc cer Buzz. Keller won the latter two awards after leading the Tar Heels on a relentless run to regain the national championship it had relinquished to Notre Dame the previous year. Keller's overtime goal in the national championship game in 1996 in Santa Clara, Calif., was the difference in the game.

Keller received the Patterson Medal, given to the most outstanding se nior athlete at the University of North Carolina, in 1997. She is one of 13
UNC women's soccer players to have won the prestigious award.

UNC won NCAA championships with Keller as a leading component of the team in 1993, 1994 and 1996. She co-captained the 1996 team and played all 210 minutes of the NCAA semifinals and championship game that year against Santa Clara and Notre Dame in the College Cup. The Tar Heels prevailed against the Broncos 2-1 in the semifinals and then in the championship game, she scored the game-winning goal at the 110:56 mark. After the tournament, she was named the Most Valuable Offensive Player of the NCAA College Cup.

In 1996, she was named a first-team All-America selection by Soccer America, Soccer News and Soccer Buzz. In 1995, she was named a first -team All-America honoree by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America and Soccer News. In 1994 and 1996, she was named a second -team All-America selection by the NSCAA.

Keller was a finalist for the prestigious Honda Sports Award for soccer in 1996.

With 102 games played, she was the NCAA career record holder in that category until it was broken a year later by fellow Tar Heel forward Robin Confer who played in 107 matches. Keller ranks sixth in UNC history in career points with 191, eighth in career goals with 67 and fifth in career assists with 57. Over the course of her career, she scored a remarkable 16 game-winning goals, averaging four a year.

The Atlantic Coast Conference tabbed her as a first-team all-league selection in 1994 and 1995. She was also the Most Valuable Player of the 1995 ACC Tournament. Ironically, she did not earn first-team All-ACC hon ors in 1996 despite winning two national player of the year awards, a slight that was rectified by her post-season play.

The Tar Heels won four ACC Tournament championships while Keller played at UNC to go with the three NCAA crowns she also won.

In 1996, she was a finalist for both the Hermann Trophy and the Mis souri Athletic Club Sports Foundation's Player of the Year Award. Sports Illustrated featured her in its Faces in the Crowd section of a December issue in 1996 after she scored the game-winning goal in the 1996 NCAA championship game against Notre Dame. Her overtime goal lifted the Tar Heels past the Fighting Irish 1-0.

She scored all three goals for the East Team in the 1997 Umbro Select Senior All-Star Game in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The East team defeated the West Team 3-0.

Soccer Buzz gave her its inaugural National Sportsmanship Award in 1996.

From 1995-98, Keller earned 46 caps with the U.S. Women's National Team. She started 14 games in that time and had 18 goals and six assists for 42 points. Keller played on the National Team during an era when it had some of its greatest success in history.

Players of the Year: Confer & Wilson

ROBIN CONFER 1997 National Player of the Year

One of the most gifted women's soccer players in NCAA history, Robin Confer had an uncanny ability to find the back of the net throughout her UNC career at the most fortuitous times. She was the stereotype of a pure finisher and that was reflected in her career scoring statistics and the number of game-winning goals she tallied while leading the Tar Heels to three national championships.

The Florida native and 1998 UNC alumna is ranked fourth in Carolina history in total points with 209 and is the fifth highest goal-scorer in school history with 77 tallies. Her 55 assists are good enough for the sixth most in Tar Heel women's soccer lore. Playing on teams with bigger name stars who populated the U.S. Women's National Team roster, it was Confer who was the quiet catalyst behind multiple national championship winning teams.

In 1997, she had 62 points – a total tying her for the 10th most points in a single season in Carolina history. That same season, she had 22 assists, eighth most in a single campaign. The 18 assists she recorded in 1995 are tied for the 12th most in a single year in Carolina women's soccer statistical rankings.

As a senior, she was named the National Player of the Year by Soccer Buzz magazine and Soccer News magazine. Confer was also a finalist for the 1997 Hermann Trophy and a semifinalist for the 1997 Missouri Athletic Club Player of the Year award.

Confer established an NCAA record for games played in a career with 107 appearances from 1994-97, breaking Debbie Keller's existing NCAA record of 102 set the year before. Confer never missed a game in her career at Carolina. She shares the Carolina record for most games played in a season and most games started in a season with 28 in 1997.

An inspired performance in the 1997 NCAA Tournament led to her being named the Most Valuable Offensive Player of that competition. She scored a goal on a nifty free kick late in the second half to lift UNC to a come-from-behind 2-1 NCAA semifinal win over Santa Clara. Two days later, she scored the insurance goal in the waning minutes in the Tar Heels' 2-0 victory over Connecticut in the NCAA championship game in Greensboro, N.C.

In 1997, Soccer America, Soccer News, Soccer Buzz and Soccer Times all named her a first-team All-America selection. She was named a second-team All-America by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America in 1997. In 1996, she was named second-team All-America by Soccer Buzz and Soccer News. In 1995, she was a Soccer News second-team All-America. As a freshman in 1994, she was named a third-team All-America by Soccer News.

Confer was named first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference in 1995 and 1997 and second-team All-ACC in 1994 and 1996. She was the ACC Tournament's Most Valuable Player in 1996. The Tar Heels won four ACC Tournament championships and three NCAA championships (1994, 1996 and 1997) during her stint in Chapel Hill. She has more career points in ACC Tournament games than any other player in history with 31 and the most goals with 13.

Her 27 game-winning goals are the most in UNC history. Confer netted 11 game-winners in 1995, the most in a single season in North Carolina history.

Soccer Buzz named her the 1997 Southeast Region Offensive Player of the Year and Soccer News named her the 1997 Southeast Region Player of the Year.

Confer is currently the head women's soccer coach at the University of North Florida. She previously served as an assistant coach at North Carolina, Mississippi State, Texas A&M, Florida State and Georgia.

STACI WILSON 1995 National Player of the Year

Small in stature, but big in heart, defender Staci Wilson was impossible to intimidate on the pitch. Literally impossible. She was tenacious in her desire to win. She was indefatigable. Her commitment to doing what was necessary to win stood as a shining example to her teammates at Carolina.

She is remembered as one of the toughest defenders in the history of both the University of North Carolina women's soccer program and NCAA women's soccer overall. Wilson always made the difficult tackle and pursued every loose ball with ferocious intensity. She played on four of the strongest defensive teams in Tar Heel history.

Wilson was also respected as a top offensive threat from her backfield position and she was always successful at jumpstarting the Tar Heel attack with a well-timed run from the back. She had a knack for both assisting and finishing.

Standing barely five feet tall, she helped the Tar Heels win four Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament championships from 1994 through 1997 and three NCAA championships as the Tar Heels claimed the crowns in 1994, 1996 and 1997.

In 1995, she was the Co-National Player of the Year as named by Soccer Digest and is one of 19 Tar Heel players to have her jersey number retired by the University.

In her first season at UNC, she was named the National Freshman Player of the Year by Soccer America magazine in 1994 on a team which was senior-laden and won the national title for the ninth straight year.

As a senior in 1997, she was named a first-team All-America by Soccer America, Soccer Buzz and Soccer Times and a second-team All-America by Soccer News and the National Soccer Coaches Association of America/Umbro. That 1997 Tar Heel team was as good as any defensively in UNC lore, allowing only eight goals in 28 games as UNC finished 27-0-1. The Tar Heels allowed only eight goals in 28 matches while playing against the toughest schedule in the nation. The Tar Heel defense was that good despite the fact UNC played a system with only three players in the back in front of goalkeeper Siri Mullinix.

In her junior season in 1996, she was a coaches' association first team All-America and was named a second-team All-America by Soccer Buzz and a third-team All-America by Soccer News. That team lost only one game en route to a national title, a midseason loss to Notre Dame that was avenged in the national championship game as Carolina posted a double overtime shutout to triumph over the Fighting Irish. Her 1995 campaign earned her a first-team All-America selection by the National Soccer Coaches Association, Soccer America and Soccer News. As a freshman in 1994, she was a first-team Soccer News All-America.

Wilson was a first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference defender from 1994-1996 and made only the second-team All-ACC squad in 1997 despite being a consensus first-team All-America that season. She was named to the All-ACC Tournament Team in 1994, 1995 and 1997 as Carolina won league championships each of those seasons.

She also earned honors as a member of the NCAA's All-Tournament Team at the 1994, 1995 and 1997 tournaments.

The U.S. Olympic Team tapped her as a reserve for the 1996 gold medal team in Atlanta, Ga. She played for the U.S. National Team in 1995 and 1996 and earned 15 caps, while starting five games.

In the Women's United Soccer Association, she was a starting defender for the Carolina Courage, winning a Founder's Cup title in 2002. Altogether she was a champion at the ACC, NCAA, Olympic and WUSA level, a remarkable quartet of accolades.

Playing high school and club soccer in Northern Virginia, she was one of the top-ranked players in the United States' high school ranks when she was recruited by the Tar Heels for her freshman campaign in 1993-94.

CINDY PARLOW 1996, 1997, & 1998 National Player of the Year

Dynamic forward Cindy Parlow was the youngest player to ever win both a women's World Cup title and an Olympic gold medal. She is also the youngest player to ever be named to a U.S. Olympic Team. She is the seventh-leading goal scorer in the history of the U.S. Women's National Team despite having played on the team for only nine years (1996-2004). She totaled 185 points in her career and also ranks seventh all-time in goals in U.S. Women's National Team history with 75.

As a standout player at the University of North Carolina, Parlow was named National Player of the Year in three different seasons, earning top player honors in 1996, 1997 and 1998. She went on to serve as a volunteer assistant coach with the Tar Heels for seven years (2006-12). UNC won four national championships in her seven years on the staff, triumphing in 2006, 2008, 2009 and 2012.

After arriving in Chapel Hill from Memphis, Tenn., Parlow had an immediate impact for the Tar Heels as a freshman in 1995. She had graduated from high school a year early to join the Tar Heels but immediately showed maturity beyond her years. Soccer News and Soccer America both named her the National Freshman Player of the Year and, along with the NSCAA, they also picked her as a first-team All-America. Parlow also garnered first-team All-ACC and ACC Freshman of the Year honors. She scored 19 goals and had 13 assists for 51 points that season.

As a sophomore, Soccer News magazine named her National Player of the Year. She was chosen as a first-team All-America by Soccer News, Soccer America, the NSCAA and Soccer Buzz as well as being named first-team All-ACC. She had 41 points on 15 goals and 11 assists while leading the Tar Heels to the national championship.

As a junior, Parlow won the Hermann Trophy as well as National Player of the Year honors from the Missouri Athletic Club Sports Foundation and Soccer Times magazine. She was Carolina's leading scorer with 44 points, netting 13 goals and notching 18 assists. In the 1997 NCAA Tournament championship game, Parlow scored the game-winning goal in a 2-0 victory over Connecticut. Soccer News, Soccer America, Soccer Buzz, Soccer Times and the NSCAA all selected her as a first-team All-America. She was also selected as first-team All-ACC and the MVP of the ACC Tournament in 1997.

In her senior campaign, Parlow was honored with the Mary Garber Award as Female-Athlete-of-the-Year in the ACC. She tallied 21 goals and had 11 assists for a total of 53 points. She won the Hermann Trophy and was named Player of the Year by the Missouri Athletic Club Foundation, Soccer News and College Soccer Weekly Online. She was named a first-team All-America by the NSCAA, Soccer America, Soccer News, ESPN.com/Soccer Times, Soccer Buzz and College Soccer Weekly Online. The ACC named Parlow as its Player of the Year and also selected her as a first-team all-conference player.

She scored 189 points in her UNC career. That equals the seventh highest total in history. She scored 68 goals, which ranks as the seventh highest total. Her 53 assists are also the seventh highest total. In her four seasons at UNC, the Tar Heels went 102-3-1.

Parlow was a starter for the 1999 U.S. World Cup Team which won the world championship. She played with the U.S. National Team from 1996-2004 and captured two Olympic gold medals and one World Cup title. She claimed Olympic gold in both 1996 and 2004, her final major tournament in a WSWNT uniform. Parlow had 158 caps with the U.S. National team from 1996-2004. Parlow played for the Atlanta Beat in the WUSA for three seasons from 2001-03.

In 2013, Parlow was the head coach of Portland Thorns FC, leading the club to the initial championship in the National Women's Soccer League.

LORRIE FAIR 1999 National Player of the Year

While at Carolina, Lorrie Fair was one of the nation's top defenders, winning National Player of the Year honors following the Tar Heels' 1999 NCAA championship season. Fair was one of the most valuable and versatile players in Carolina history, playing in the midfield, on defense and at striker.

After a solid freshman year in leading UNC to a national championship, Fair was one of the nation's most improved players in the country in 1997 and she followed that year of growth with brilliant junior and senior seasons.

After graduating from Carolina, Fair was one of the founding members of the WUSA as an all-star player for the Philadelphia Charge.

Fair's freshman season at Carolina was an impressive one. Soccer News named her a second-team All-America and a freshman All-America, while Soccer America named her to its freshman All-America Team. Soccer Buzz named her a first-team Freshman All-America. In the postseason, she earned All-Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament and All-NCAA Tournament honors. After starting the season in the midfield, she moved to defense in the midseason and led a stretch run that led Carolina to a national title.

Her sophomore season saw her start all 28 games for the Tar Heels, scoring eight goals and notching seven assists for a total of 23 points. Against California and Duke, she recorded game-winning goals. In the national semifinal victory against Santa Clara, she tied the game with an early second-half goal en route to the Tar Heels claiming a 2-1 victory. Two days later, UNC beat UConn for the national championship. She was a semifinalist for the Missouri Athletic Club Player of the Year Award and was named first-team All-America by Soccer News, second-team All-America by Soccer Times and third-team All-America by Soccer Buzz. In the 1997 NCAA Tournament, she was an all-tournament selection and she was also a 1997 first-team All-ACC selection.

As a junior in 1998, Fair was a semifinalist for the Missouri Athletic Club's Player of the Year Award while ESPN.com/Soccer Times named her the National Defender of the Year. The NSCAA, Soccer America, Soccer News, ESPN.com/Soccer Times, Soccer Buzz and College Soccer Weekly Online all selected Fair as a first-team All-America. Soccer Buzz honored Fair as the Southeast Region Defensive Player of the Year. She was also a first-team All-ACC selection. Against Wake Forest, she scored two of her five goals on the season and against San Francisco she had three assists. In the ACC Tournament final, she scored a goal versus Clemson as the Tar Heels again claimed a league crown.

Despite an injury-plagued season her senior year, Fair still captured the Honda Sports Award for Soccer, given to the top player in college soccer. She also garnered the 1999 ACC Player of the Year award. For the third consecutive year she earned a spot on the first-team All-ACC squad. She was a consensus first-team All-America selection, earning honors from the NSCAA, College Soccer Online, Soccer Times, Soccer Buzz and Soccer America. Fair played on her third NCAA championship team at Carolina and was named defensive MVP in the NCAA College Cup. Fair spent time on the injury list but still played in 22 matches, playing at forward during her recovery and moving back to the defense for the stretch run of the season. She keyed a tremendous defensive run by the Tar Heels who allowed only one goal in NCAA Tournament play that season.

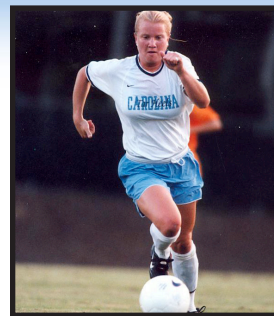

Fair already had extensive experience with the U.S. National Team before she excelled as a member of the U.S.'s 1999 World Cup championship team. Fair ended her career with the National Team in 2005. She logged 120 caps with the National Team. Her twin sister Ronnie was a standout at Stanford and also played on the U.S. National Team.

Players of the Year: Florance & Reddick

MEREDITH FLORANCE 2000 National Player of the Year

Meredith Florance was a three-year starter at Carolina and in her senior year she copped National Player of the Year honors. Florance had a monster senior year as she scored 26 goals to lead the Tar Heels to their third NCAA championship in her four years at Carolina. She scored clutch goals throughout the season and was at her best in NCAA play. She finished her career in 2000 ranked in a tie for 10th place in career goals at the University with 59 tallies. Florance was one of the top high school players coming out of the prep ranks in 1997 from her hometown of Dallas, Texas.

As a freshman, she played in all 28 games for the Tar Heels. She scored 10 goals and had four assists for 24 points, notching a hat trick in her first-ever home game at Fetzer Field against Tennessee. She also had two goals against St. Mary's and two assists versus NC State. Soccer Buzz named her a third-team Freshman All-America and to the All-Southeast Region Freshman Team.

Starting all 26 games for UNC as a sophomore, Florance scored 10 goals and had 11 assists for 31 points. Versus San Francisco, Maryland and Portland, she netted game-winning goals. The dramatic goal against Portland came in the 150th minute of a quadruple overtime NCAA Tournament semifinal game. It came just seconds before the match would have headed to a penalty kick shootout and came on a brilliant shot from distance that curled into the upper right corner of the goal. Soccer Buzz named her to its third-team All-Southeast Region squad. She also made the All-Tournament Team at the 1998 NCAA College Cup.

Her junior season was tremendous, both for the Tar Heels as a team, and for Florance individually. College Soccer Online named her an honorable mention All-America and Soccer Buzz named her second-team All-Southeast Region. She was named to the NCAA All-Tournament Team after scoring the game-winning goal against Notre Dame in the title game, a thrilling 2-0 triumph over the Fighting Irish. She was also named second-team All-ACC. She started all 24 games for the Tar Heels that season, scoring 13 goals and serving up nine assists for 35 points. Two of those goals were game-winners, and, ironically, both came against Notre Dame, including an overtime winner in a regular-season matchup.

As a senior, Florance firmly established herself as one of the best players in the country. She finished fourth in the nation and first in the Atlantic Coast Conference in goals scored with 26, matching the sixth-highest total in a season for a Tar Heel in history. She also led the conference in scoring with 60 points. Soccer Times named her the National Player of the Year and she also received the Honda Sports Award for Soccer as the top player in the nation. Florance scored five game-winning goals, and, in the NCAA championship game, she netted a goal that tied the game against UCLA at 1-1 with 14:49 to play. Just minutes later Catherine Reddick scored for the Tar Heels and UNC eventually went on to win 2-1, claiming its 17th national championship. In the third round of the NCAA Tournament, she scored the game-winner against Virginia in the waning minutes of the match and in the quarterfinal match against Connecticut, she scored the first two goals of the game in a 3-0 win. Florance was a key leader in UNC's post-season run after the Tar Heels had dropped three ACC games in the regular season.

Florance was a consensus first-team All-America, a first-team All-ACC selection, the Most Valuable Offensive Player of the NCAA College Cup, the Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament and the Southeast Region Offensive Player of the Year. Over the course of the season, she was named the MVP of four different tournaments.

Florance is married to former UNC men's lacrosse player Robin Beard who played for the Tar Heels from 1996-99.

CATHERINE REDDICK 2003 National Player of the Year

Catherine Reddick did not earn her first starting assignment in a Carolina uniform until the final game of her freshman year, which also happened to be the NCAA championship contest against UCLA in 2000. Not only did Reddick score the game-winning goal with 7:41 to play in that game, she was also named the Most Valuable Defensive Player of the 2000 NCAA College Cup. Her late season heroics were a precursor of the success to come for Reddick in a UNC and USWNT uniform.

A few months later, April Heinrichs, then the head coach of the U.S. National Team, tapped Reddick for her first National Team cap. From the beginning, Reddick found herself in the starting lineup on defense. From 2000-2010, she earned 134 caps and 111 starts while scoring 11 goals and passing for 10 assists. Reddick is tied for the 20th most caps in USWNT history and has the 18th most starts in a U.S. uniform.

Reddick also carved a niche as a television analyst for international and collegiate soccer for the ESPN family of networks, Fox Soccer Channel and NBC. In the summer of 2015, she was one of the lead analysts during Fox Sports' coverage of the Women's World Cup.

Reddick earned starting spots for the U.S. in the 2003 World Cup as well as on the 2004 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic Team squad in Athens, Greece. She was a member of the 2007 World Cup Team which earned a bronze medal but she missed the 2008 Olympics because of an injury. Injuries limited her to only 11 caps in her last three years on the National Team (2008-10).

Despite missing much of her junior and senior years because of National Team commitments, Reddick developed into one of the top collegiate defenders in history. She culminated her career by being named the National Player of the Year following the 2003 season as she won the Honda Sports Award for Soccer as well as the Missouri Athletic Club's Hermann Trophy. No Tar Heel would win the Hermann Trophy again for nine years until Crystal Dunn won the award in 2012.

After being named a freshman All-America in 2000, Reddick went on to become one of Carolina's most decorated players in history during her final three years. She was a consensus first-team All-America in 2001, 2002 and 2003. In each of those years, she was also named All-ACC.

As a senior, Reddick was limited to playing in only 13 matches because of her commitments to the National team while competing in the World Cup. She still scored six goals and had five assists for 17 points. She scored the game-winning goal in the 2003 ACC Tournament championship game on a penalty kick as the Tar Heels rallied past Florida State 3-2. For the second time in her career Reddick was named the Most Valuable Defensive Player of the College Cup as she helped the Tar Heels outscore their six NCAA opponents by a 32-0 margin.

Reddick received first-team All-America accolades following her senior season from Soccer Buzz, Soccer Times, Soccer Post Magazine, College Sports Television, Soccer America and the NSCAA. As a junior, she was named first-team All-America by Soccer Buzz, Soccer America and the NSCAA. As a sophomore she earned first-team All-America honors from Soccer Buzz and Soccer America.

She led the Tar Heels to ACC Tournament championships in each of her four years at Carolina from 2000 through 2003. She played on NCAA championship teams at Carolina in 2000 and 2003.

A native of Birmingham, Ala., Reddick was named a 1999 and 2000 Parade high school All-America in soccer coming out of Briarwood Christian School. She was married to Robert Whitehill on New Year's Eve 2005. She played for the Washington Freedom in Women's Professional Soccer for two years before moving to the Atlanta Beat in 2011. In 2013, she joined the Boston franchise in the new National Women's Soccer League.

LINDSEY TARPLEY 2003 National Player of the Year

The 2003 collegiate National Player of the Year, Lindsay Tarpley, had her No. 25 jersey number retired by the University in 2006 after a star-studded career at Carolina and as a member of the U.S. National Team. Despite being injured for half of her junior year and for the start of her senior year, she finished with some of the most impressive career statistics in UNC history.

Tarpley finished her career with 59 goals, 59 assists and 177 points. She ranks 10th in career points in Tar Heel history, is tied for 10th in career goals and is third in career assists. Had she not been plagued by injuries her scoring totals would certainly rank in the Top 5 in Carolina annals in every category. In 2003, Tarpley led the NCAA in scoring with 73 points, the fourth most in a season in UNC history. She had 23 goals that season, equaling the 11th most in a season in Tar Heel lore, and her 27 assists that year are the third most in a single campaign.

Tarpley ended her career with several school records and two NCAA records to her credit based in large measure on her brilliant play in NCAA Tournament games. She holds UNC career records in NCAA games for goals with 16, assists with 19 and points with 51. The 19 assists are also the NCAA record in that category. In 2003, she set UNC school records for assists in a single NCAA Tournament with 11 and in points with 19. The 11 assists in the 2003 Tournament are also an NCAA mark.

Tarpley's banner year was 2003 when she led Carolina to a 27-0 record and was a unanimous choice for first-team All-America honors. That season she also earned a quintet of national player of the year accolades, winning honors from Soccer America, Soccer Buzz, Soccer Times, Soccer Post and Sports Illustrated on Campus. In 2003, she became the first player since Mia Hamm in 1993 to be named the ACC Player of the Year and the MVP of the ACC Tournament while also leading the ACC in scoring.

Tarpley was brilliant as a freshman in 2002, being named national freshman of the year by both Soccer Buzz and Soccer America. That year she was named the ACC Freshman of the Year and earned first-team All-ACC accolades. Most impressively, Tarpley won the prestigious award as the U.S. Soccer Chevrolet Young Female Athlete of the Year.

Tarpley became a member of the U.S. National Team in 2003. In 125 caps, she scored 32 goals. She won gold medals in the 2004 and 2008 Olympics and a bronze medal in the 2007 World Cup. She earned a spot on the 2011 World Cup Team but had to miss the competition after suffering a torn ACL in late May 2011.

FIFA sponsored the first-ever U19 (now U20) youth world championship for women in 2002 with Tarpley earning the captain's armband for the U.S. squad. In sudden death overtime in the championship match, Tarpley pounced on her own rebound to give the U.S. the championship in an exciting 1-0 victory over the host Canadian side.

A native of Kalamazoo, Mich., Tarpley graduated from Portage Central High School in 2002 ranked as the No. 4 recruit in the nation that year by Soccer America. A two-time Parade high school All-America, she was named the national high school player of the year by Parade Magazine in 2002.

Tarpley graduated from UNC in 2006 with a degree in communications. As a senior, she was an ESPN The Magazine third-team Academic All-America as named by the College Sports Information Directors of America. Tarpley is married to B.J. Snow, the former head women's soccer coach at UCLA and now the head coach of the U.S. women's Under-17 National Team. They have a son, born in 2012.

Tarpley played for four different teams in Women's Professional Soccer from 2009-11. She joined the Chicago Red Stars in the National Women's Soccer League in 2013.

HEATHER O'REILLY 2006 National Player of the Year

Heather O'Reilly was the top-ranked recruit in the high school class of 2003. She was already playing with the U.S. National Team as a high school senior in 2002 while attending East Brunswick (N.J.) High School. The college career of the dynamic forward would lead the Tar Heels to two NCAA championships and three ACC championships.

While in the midst of her time at Carolina she scored one of the most important goals in Olympic women's soccer history, sparking the U.S. to the Olympic gold medal in 2004. She would go on and win a second gold medal in 2008 and a third Olympic gold medal in 2012. Before retiring from the USWNT in September 2016, she played in three World Cups for the United States, winning a bronze medal in 2007, a silver medal in 2011 and reigning as a FIFA World Cup champion in 2015.

O'Reilly finished her college career tied for 10th in goals at UNC with 59 and she was 11th in points with 167 and 12th in assists with 49. Her career was capped in 2006 when she was named the national player of the year by Soccer America magazine while also claiming the prestigious Honda Sports Award for Soccer. She was also named ESPN The Magazine's National Academic All-America of the Year for women's soccer as presented by the College Sports Information Directors of America and she won the Patterson Medal as UNC's outstanding senior female athlete.

O'Reilly was at her best in leading Carolina to NCAA Championships in 2003 and 2006, both years being named the offensive MVP of the College Cup. She was the unanimous choice as national freshman player of the year in 2003 and then was a first-team All-America selection in her final three seasons.

O'Reilly led the Tar Heels in scoring three straight years from 2004-06 and she was the third-leading scorer on the 2003 team that went 27-0. She had 15 goals, 14 assists and 44 points in NCAA Tournament games in her career.

As she was rehabbing from the broken leg in 2003, she had three goals in the ACC Tournament and then exploded in the NCAA Tournament with an 18-point performance on eight goals and two assists. Those eight goals are the most in UNC history in a single NCAA Tournament.

In the summer of 2004, O'Reilly played with the U.S. National Team in Greece in the hopes of winning an Olympic gold medal. With the U.S. and Germany tied 1-1 in overtime of the semifinal game, O'Reilly blistered the back of the net off a Mia Hamm assist to catapult the Americans into the gold medal match. A few days later, the college sophomore possessed an Olympic gold medal after the U.S. beat Brazil in the final match.

In 2006, she led the Tar Heels to 27 straight wins and the national title after UNC lost its season opener at Texas A&M. She was the offensive MVP of the College Cup after scoring four goals and adding six assists in NCAA play. She scored the insurance goal in the 2-0 NCAA semifinal win over UCLA, scored the first goal of the NCAA final against Notre Dame and assisted on the eventual game-winning tally against the Fighting Irish.

Following her senior year she won the NCAA's prestigious Today's Top VIII Award. No Tar Heel student-athlete had won the award since 1984 and it was the crowning jewel of her college career. The award is the highest annually bestowed by the NCAA for athletic prowess, academic achievement and community service.

O'Reilly played for Sky Blue FC of WPS for three years and led the team to the championship of the league in 2009. She joined the Boston Breakers of the National Women's Soccer League in 2013 and now plays for Kansas City where she won an NWSL title in 2015. She ranks seventh in USWNT history in caps, 12th in goals, sixth in assists and 10th in points.

O'Reilly was married to David Werry on October 1, 2011. A native of Canada, Werry is a 2006 UNC alumnus and four-year letterman on the men's lacrosse team.

Players of the Year: Averbuch & Nogueira

Yael Averbuch 2006 & 2008 National Player of the Year

At the conclusion of the 2008 women's soccer season, senior midfielder Yael Averbuch became the 15th Tar Heel in history to earn the right to have her uniform number retired as a National Player of the Year honoree. Averbuch was a key player on UNC teams which won four straight Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament championships and claimed national crowns in 2006 and 2008.

Averbuch was a national player of the year honoree when UNC won the national championship in 2006 and she co-captained the Tar Heel squad in 2008 when it again won the NCAA title beating Notre Dame 2-1 in a thrilling championship game in Cary, N.C. In the semifinals of the 2008 NCAA Tournament she scored the lone goal as Carolina defeated UCLA 1-0.

In four years as a member of the Carolina soccer team, Averbuch helped lead the Tar Heels to two NCAA Championships and four ACC Tournament titles. At the same time, she excelled academically, maintaining a 3.7 grade point average while majoring in psychology.

Averbuch started an NCAA and school-record 104 games during her career, never missing a game in her four years and starting all but one game. She finished her career scoring 32 goals and passing for 29 assists for a total of 93 career points.

Averbuch holds the NCAA record for scoring the fastest goal in collegiate women's soccer history. In a game on September 3, 2006 at Yale, Averbuch scored in only four seconds, sending the direct kick at the start of the game 55 yards from midfield directly in the Bulldogs' goal.

A three-time first-team All-America honoree and a three-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection, she was named national player of the year as a sophomore by Soccer Buzz magazine. That same year she was the third highest vote getter for the Missouri Athletic Club's Hermann Trophy presented by the NSCAA. She and teammate Heather O'Reilly were two of the three finalists for the prestigious award. She was also the 2006 ACC Offensive Player of the Year.

In December 2008, she was named a recipient of the NCAA's Today's Top VIII Award, an NCAA honor that each year recognizes eight student-athletes who excel in athletics, academics, leadership and community service. She is only the third Tar Heel athlete to win the award since 1984 and the second UNC women's soccer player to win the honor, joining Heather O'Reilly who won in 2006.

Averbuch was named the 2008 ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America of the Year for women's soccer as presented by the College Sports Information Directors of America, recognizing her as the top student-athlete in her sport. She was a first-team ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America in 2008 after being named to the second team in 2007 and the third team in 2006. In 2008, she was also named the National Soccer Coaches Association of America Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

Averbuch was regularly named to the UNC Dean's List, was a three-time selection for the ACC Academic Honor Roll and she was the ACC Scholar-Athlete of the Year for women's soccer in 2007 and again in 2008. She was named to the All-ACC Academic Team each of her four years in a Tar Heel uniform. She was elected to Phi Beta Kappa while also being inducted into the Order of the Golden Fleece.

Averbuch also represented the U.S. as a member of the National Team, earning 26 caps from 2007-13. Beginning in the spring of 2009, she began playing for Sky Blue FC of New Jersey in the inaugural season of WPS, winning the championship in the league's first year. In 2011 she played for the Western New York Flash of WPS and won a second league title as a member of that squad. She played professionally for two years in Sweden for Lkopparbergs/Goteborg FC before joining the Washington Spirit of the NWSL in 2014 and moving on to FC Kansas City in 2015 where she won a second NWSL crown.

Casey Nogueira 2008 National Player of the Year

The consensus National Player of the Year selection in 2008, Casey Nogueira became the 16th Tar Heel in history to earn player of the year accolades. Nogueira was one of the most prolific goal scorers in ACC history and she scored clutch goals throughout her career in the Carolina Blue & White kit. When the ACC and NCAA Tournaments rolled around, UNC fans saw Nogueira at her best.

As both a junior and a senior, Nogueira pulled off the incredible double of being named the ACC Tournament Most Valuable Player and the Most Valuable Offensive Player of the NCAA College Cup. She played on Carolina teams which won ACC Tournament championships all four years and captured NCAA titles in 2006, 2008 and 2009.

Nogueira finished her Tar Heel career with 55 goals and 29 assists for 139 points. She was Carolina's leading scorer her final three years in a Tar Heel uniform. Her standout season scoring wise was 2008 when she scored a national best 25 goals and had eight assists for a 58-point total, the most points by a Tar Heel in a season in five years. She scored two goals in the national championship game that season to lift the Tar Heels past Notre Dame 2-1 in a classic final in Cary, N.C.

Following her junior season, she won National Player of the Year accolades from multiple sources including the Honda Sports Award for Soccer and player of the season accolades from Soccer America, Soccer Buzz, Top Drawer Soccer and Soccer News Network. She was the runner-up for the Missouri Athletic Club's Hermann Trophy.

In July 2009, she won the Mary Garber Award as the ACC's top female athlete during the 2008-09 school year. She was the first Tar Heel to win the award since Cindy Parlow had captured it 10 years earlier. Nogueira was recognized for virtually willing Carolina to ACC and NCAA crowns in 2008.

Nogueira won first-team All-America honors in 2007 & 2008 and was a second-team All-America as a senior in 2009.

Nogueira, who played her high school soccer at Raleigh's Broughton High School, will go down in history as scoring some of the most important goals in UNC lore. As a freshman, she came off the bench to score the game-winning goal with 6:29 to play in UNC's 2-0 NCAA semifinal victory over UCLA. Two days later, against Notre Dame in the NCAA final, she earned her first career start and she assisted on Heather O'Reilly's goal at 17:57 and then scored the game-winner on a header at 46:28 in the eventual 2-1 Tar Heel win.

En route to winning the 2008 NCAA title, Nogueira was named ACC Offensive Player of the Year and ACC Tournament MVP. In the national championship game against undefeated Notre Dame, the Tar Heels fell behind in the opening minute of play. Nogueira tied the game on a free kick at 51:08 and then she won the game for Carolina with a spectacular goal from the far left side of the box with just 2:06 left on the clock.

In her senior year, Nogueira had only six regular-season goals but she exploded in the post season for seven additional tallies. She scored twice in the ACC Tournament championship game against Florida State while being named tournament MVP. In NCAA play, she recorded game-winning assists in the first round against High Point and in the championship game against Stanford. She scored the game-winner versus Maryland in the third round, had three goals in the quarterfinal win over Wake Forest and again had the game-winner against Notre Dame in the semifinals in the closing minutes.

Nogueira is married to former UNC All-America Zach Loyd, a member of FC Dallas in MLS. She earned five caps with the U.S. National Team, played two years in WPS and was a member of FC Kansas City in the NWSL in 2013.

WHITNEY ENGEN 2009 National Player of the Year

Whitney Engen's career is the personification of the fact that persistence pays off. The California native was never named to the first-team All-ACC squad until her senior year but that same year she emerged as Carolina's 17th selection as a National Player of the Year when she won the Honda Sports Award for Soccer. Rarely is a defender honored with such an award, particularly when the competition includes the two best forwards in the nation and the country's top midfielder, her own teammate, Tobin Heath.

But such was the fate for Engen who in 2009 was the ACC's Defensive Player of the Year as well as the ACC's Women's Soccer Scholar-Athlete of the Year. She also earned second-team ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America honors in her senior season as selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Engen has played with the U.S. National Team since her collegiate days and was rewarded by being named as one of the 23 members of the U.S. team which captured the championship at the 2015 FIFA World Cup. In 2016, she was one of 18 players on the U.S. Olympic Team.

Engen, who played primarily midfield in high school in Rolling Hills Estates, Calif., came to UNC in 2006 as one of the top recruits in the nation but she was somewhat overshadowed at the start by the likes of fellow freshmen Heath, Casey Nogueira and Nikki Washington. It would not stay that way for long. When she arrived at Carolina, UNC had a need at striker and Engen stepped in and played center forward her first two seasons. She had 12 goals and 13 assists for 37 points as a freshman on UNC's 2006 national championship team. No assist was bigger than the one on Casey Nogueira's second half goal, which proved to be the game-winner in Carolina's 2-1 win over Notre Dame. Engen again started as a sophomore in the forward line and had six goals and eight assists on an ACC Tournament championship team.

With the loss of Jessica Maxwell, Robyn Gayle and Ariel Harris off the starting defensive line of the 2007 team, Coach Anson Dorrance looked to Engen to make the switch to center back as a junior and the results were amazing. In her junior and senior years, Carolina won back-to-back ACC Tournament and NCAA Tournament championships, posted 36 shutouts and limited teams to less than half a goal a game over two national championship campaigns.

A four-time All-ACC Academic selection and regular on the UNC Dean's List, Engen finally began to earn the athletic recognition she deserved in 2008 when she was a third-team NSCAA All-America and second-team All-ACC choice.

As a senior everything came together for Engen and she was not only the winner of the Honda Award but also was a first-team All-America choice by the NSCAA and Soccer America. She was named first-team All-ACC, the ACC Defensive Player of the Year and the defensive MVP of the NCAA College Cup. Carolina finished 23-3-1 overall and won its 21st national championship. The Tar Heels pitched 19 shutouts and had separate strings of seven and eight shutouts during the year. The Tar Heels were third in the nation in goals against average at 0.43 and most impressively they shut out 10 of their last 11 opponents including clean sheets against No. 5 Notre Dame and No. 1 Stanford in the NCAA College Cup.

Engen was selected in the first round of the 2010 WPS draft by the Chicago franchise. In 2011, she played for the Western New York Flash, leading the team to the WPS championship. In 2011, she earned her first cap with the U.S. National Team although she had been invited to training camps as early as 2009. She has 29 caps with the National team through the 2015 calendar year. She currently plays professionally for the Boston Breakers in the NWSL.

AMBER BROOKS 2012 National Player of the Year

One of the toughest, grittiest and most cerebral players to ever don the Carolina Blue & White, midfielder Amber Brooks capped her brilliant career in 2012 by being named the National Player of the Year by Top Drawer Soccer, making her the 18th Tar Heel in history to earn some form of player of the year accolades. That she earned this accolade while playing the holding center midfield spot in UNC's 3-4-3 system is an even greater testament to the respect in which she was regarded by her peers, the media and coaches. She was never going to be recognized for her scoring prowess but her overall field play and leadership was well recognized by those who love the sport.

Brooks bookended her career with NCAA championships as she started in the final against Stanford in 2009 when the Tar Heels won 1-0 and against Penn State in 2012 when Carolina pulled off a 4-1 victory.

Brooks was a four-year starter who played on a 2009 ACC Tournament champion winner and a 2010 ACC regular season championship team. The New Hope, Pa., native was ranked as the No. 2 recruit in the high school class of 2009. She lived up to the hype, not only in a Carolina uniform but also on the international stage as a member of youth teams, including the U20 and U23 National Teams while still competing at UNC. She was the captain of the U23 Team for the USA in 2012. She trained with the full U.S. National Team on a regular basis and she earned her first USWNT cap in November 2013. After graduating from UNC in just three and one half years she played professionally overseas for FC Bayern Munchen.

Brooks served as UNC's team captain in both 2011 and 2012. She was a finalist for the Senior CLASS Award in her final season and earned the highest honors possible from the Carolina Leadership Academy. She was a four-time ACC Academic Honor Roll selection and made the Dean's List all seven of her semesters at Carolina. Three times she was named to the All-ACC Academic Women's Soccer Team. Brooks was the embodiment of the phrase student-athlete at Carolina.

Brooks had a stellar academic career, being named the ACC Women's Soccer Scholar Athlete of the Year for 2012-13. She was a Capital One first-team Academic All-America in 2012 as selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America after being named to the second team Academic All-America squad in 2011.

She was named first-team All-ACC in both 2011 and 2012 after being named a second team choice as a sophomore. She made the league's All-Freshman team in 2009 after earning the starting role at playmaking center midfield at midseason. She started every game for the Tar Heels in her sophomore, junior and senior seasons after starting the final 10 matches of her freshman campaign, nine of which were post-season victories.

During her senior year she was named first-team All-America by Top Drawer Soccer and was a third-team All-America by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. She also earned first-team NSCAA All-Southeast Region honors in her final campaign. She made the All-Tournament Team at the 2012 NCAA College Cup as well. In 2009, Brooks was named a first-team freshman All-America by Soccer America.

In 93 career games, including 81 starts, she had 17 goals and 19 assists for 53 points.

In November 2013, she was one of 10 NCAA student-athletes to be presented with Today's Top X award for athletes, academics, and community service. She was the third UNC women's soccer player to receive the prestigious award, joining Heather O'Reilly (2006) and Yael Averbuch (2008).

Brooks currently plays for the Houston Dash in the NWSL.

CRYSTAL DUNN 2012 National Player of the Year

Crystal Dunn finished her Tar Heel career as one of the most decorated players in UNC history. Her four-year career was highlighted by enormous success both on the collegiate level and in international play. In 2012, Dunn became the first Tar Heel underclassman to win national player of the year accolades since Casey Nogueira in 2008.

As a junior, Dunn won the Hermann Trophy, the first Tar Heel to capture that prestigious award since Catherine Reddick in 2003. She also won the Honda Sports Award for Soccer, the first Tar Heel since Whitney Engen in 2009, and she was also named national player of the year by Soccer America and by Soccer News Net.

She followed all those awards up by being a finalist for the 2013 ESPY for Female College Athlete of the Year and then garnering the fabled Mary Garber Award as the Female Athlete of the Year in the Atlantic Coast Conference. She was the first Tar Heel to win that award since Engen in 2010. Overall, Tar Heels have won the Garber Award eight times, all by women's soccer players.

At the conclusion of her senior year, the multi-talented Dunn won the Patterson Medal as Carolina's outstanding senior female student-athlete.

Dunn, a first-team All-ACC choice each of her first four years at Carolina, was named the ACC Defensive Player of the Year in both 2010 and 2012. As a senior in 2013, she was named the ACC Offensive Player of the Year after scoring 14 goals and passing for six assists and leading the Tar Heels in scoring with 34 points. She was the first player in ACC history to have won both the offensive and defensive awards in her career.

As a junior and a senior, she was named a first-team All-America selection by the NSCAA, by Soccer America and by Top Drawer Soccer. She also won first-team All-America honors from the NSCAA as a freshman.

Dunn's 2012 collegiate season was a special one as she started the last 17 games of the campaign after returning from the women's U20 World Cup in Japan. She started the first 11 of those games on defense before being switched to attacking center midfielder where she thrived in six NCAA Tournament games. She scored all five of her goals in the NCAA post-season including the game-tying goal against Baylor in the third round (UNC went on to win in penalty kicks 4-2) and both goals in the quarterfinals versus BYU, including the winner in double overtime in a 2-1 road win at Provo. She then assisted on Kealia Ohai's game-winning goal in the second overtime in the NCAA semifinal win over No. 1 Stanford.

Dunn helped lead the USA Team to the gold medal at the U20 World Cup in Japan in September 2012. She started every game on defense for the U.S., playing every minute of the tournament in pool play and the medal round. She assisted on a goal by Kealia Ohai that lifted the Americans to the gold medal with a 1-0 win the championship game over the German side.

In spring 2013, she received her first call up to the U.S. Women's National Team and became the 51st Tar Heel in history to earn a cap (four more Tar Heels have been capped since then for a total of 55). Playing defense and forward for the National Team she has been capped a total of 20 times through the 2015 calendar year. Her first cap came against Scotland on February 13, 2013 and her first start against Iceland on March 6, 2013. In 2016, she was one of 18 players chosen to the U.S. Olympic Team that competed in Brazil.

Dunn finished her UNC career with 31 goals and 25 assists for 87 points. She played in 80 games, starting 77 matches.

She was the No. 1 pick in the 2014 National Women's Soccer League Draft, being chosen by the Washington Spirit. In 2015, she was chosen the NWSL's Most Valuable Player and winner of the Golden Boot as the league's leading scorer.

CARLA OVERBECK 1995-2000 U.S. National Team Captain

Carla Werden Overbeck is a proven winner. She is one of only three women in history to win an NCAA title, an Olympic gold medal, a World Cup championship and the Women's United Soccer Association Founders Cup championship, joining Tar Heels Tisha Venturini and Mia Hamm in that category.

While she had an outstanding career at Carolina as one of the nation's standout defenders, her level of success playing for the U.S. National Team in international competition became the hallmark of her playing career. As a member of the U.S. Women's National Team from 1988-2000, she was the sixth-most capped player in the team's history at the time of her retirement, appearing in 170 games. She still ranks 16th all-time in National Team caps 15 years after retiring from the international game.

Winning has never been foreign to Werden, who played on four Carolina women's teams from 1986-89 that won NCAA championships. The Tar Heels did not lose a single game during her four-year tenure, compiling a record of 89-0-6 from 1986-89. The NSCAA named her a first-team All-America in both 1987 and 1988 and a second-team All-America in 1989.

As the catalyst of the defense, Werden led UNC to four NCAA championship games in which she played as a Tar Heel.

She earned first-team All-ACC accolades as a junior and senior.

She was named the Most Valuable Defensive Player of the 1988 NCAA Tournament as the Tar Heels defeated archrival NC State 4-1 in the championship game. Her defensive prowess was evidenced by her four appearances on the NCAA All-Tournament team as a Tar Heel defender.

Werden began competing internationally while she was still a Tar Heel. She competed on the 1988 United States Team that won the gold medal at the Goodwill Games in New York. Overbeck was also a member of the 1991 U.S. National Team that won the World Cup in China under the aegis of her college coach, Anson Dorrance. She was captain of the 1995 U.S. World Cup squad, which finished third. In 1996, she was captain of the U.S. National Team that won the gold medal at the Olympic Games, the first gold medal ever awarded in the sport in Olympic history. Overbeck led the American squad to dramatic victories in both the semifinals and finals of that event.

In 1999, she started 22 games for the U.S. National Team, playing 1,764 minutes as she co-captained the United States Team that won the World Cup championship. She converted on the first penalty kick in the U.S.'s victory over China in the World Cup championship match. The U.S. won the penalty kick shootout 5-4 after battling the Chinese to a scoreless tie after 120 minutes of regulation time and overtime. The U.S. defense did not allow a goal that World Cup in either the semifinal or championship round of play.

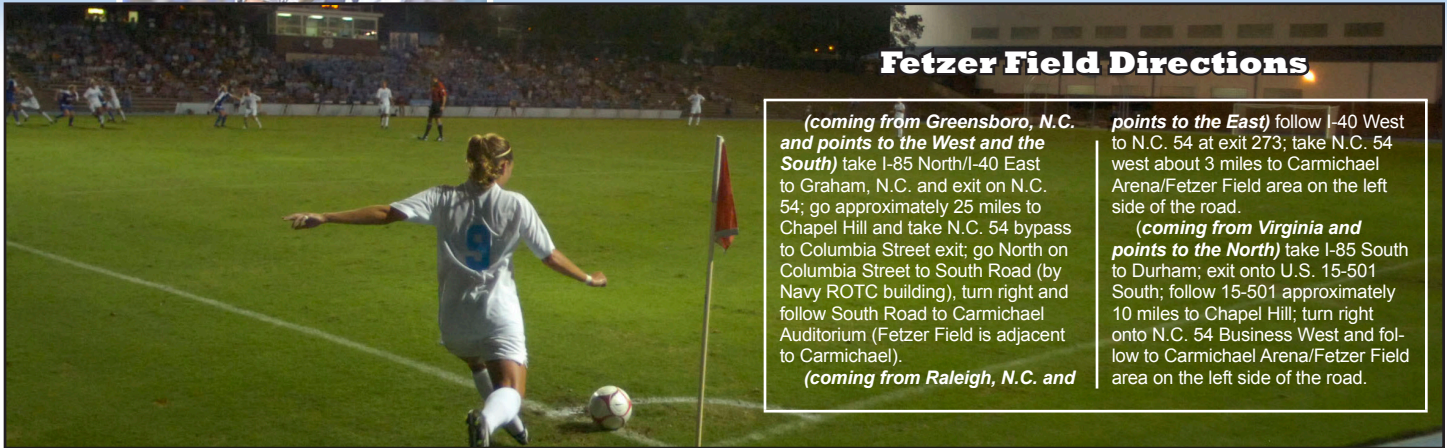

Overbeck is now in her 26th year as an assistant coach at Duke University. She also played for the Carolina Courage in the WUSA, leading the team to the Founder's Cup crown in 2002. She was a charter member in the founding of the pro league.

She graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1990 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology. Werden is a native of Dallas, Texas, where she attended Richardson High School. She was born May 9, 1968 in Pasadena, Calif. Her husband, Greg Overbeck, co-owns several restaurants in the Triangle, including Squid's, 411 West and Spanky's in Chapel Hill. They have a 19-year-old son, Jackson, and a 13-year-old daughter, Carson.

Overbeck was inducted into the National Soccer Hall of Fame in 2006 and to the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 2010.

(coming from Raleigh, N.C. and points to the East) follow I-40 West to N.C. 54 at exit 273; take N.C. 54 west about 3 miles to Carmichael Arena/Fetzer Field area on the left side of the road.

(coming from Virginia and points to the North) take I-85 South to Durham; exit onto U.S. 15-501 South; follow 15-501 approximately 10 miles to Chapel Hill; turn right onto N.C. 54 Business West and follow to Carmichael Arena/Fetzer Field area on the left side of the road.

The University of North Carolina women's soccer program is fortunate to call Fetzer Field its home stadium. In its ninth decade of use as a multi-sport facility, Fetzer Field is one of the premier soccer domains in the nation and has been a site where many signature events in UNC athletic history have taken place over the years.

Fetzer was originally built in 1935 with extensive upgrades taking place from 1988-90. The facility has been host to the NCAA Women's College Cup semifinal and final games seven times in the history of the tournament.

A Fetzer Field record crowd of 7,212, at the time the most to ever see a women's collegiate soccer game, watched the No. 1 Tar Heels fall to No. 4 Notre Dame 1-0 in the 1995 NCAA semifinals.

The largest regular-season crowd in Fetzer Field lore witnessed the top-ranked Tar Heels' 5-1 victory over second-ranked Notre Dame on September 13, 1998 as 6,024 fans streamed through the Fetzer Field gates.

Large crowds are a regular part of UNC women's soccer history. Carolina led the NCAA in average home attendance five straight years from 1998-2002. Since the NCAA initially compiled attendance figures in 1998, Carolina has ranked in the top ten in average home attendance in every single season. Carolina ranked second in average home attendance in 2003 and 2004, stood third in the standings in 2005, 2007 and 2009, ranked fourth in 2008, and was fifth in 2006 and 2010. The Tar Heels were sixth in average home attendance in 2015.

There is no college team in the country that can compare to UNC when packing a stadium. The Tar Heels played Notre Dame in the NCAA championship game on December 5, 1999 before a crowd of 14,410 in San Jose, Calif. That is the largest crowd in NCAA women's soccer history. On August 25, 2006, the Tar Heels played Texas A&M before a crowd of 8,204 in College Station, Texas. That is the third largest regular-season crowd to ever watch a game in NCAA women's soccer history. Of the top 30 crowds in NCAA history (regular-season and post-season), 20 of those games (67 percent of them) have featured UNC squads in the matchups.

Given the success of the program it comes as no surprise that the Tar Heels have amassed one of the best home records in collegiate sports history. Carolina enters the 2016 season with a record of 339-26-11 at Fetzer Field. In those 376 home games, Carolina has outscored its foes by 1,364 goals. In those games, UNC has scored 1,559 times and its opponents have tallied 195 goals.

As dominant as Carolina has been on its home field since 1979, it is a mark of the excellence of the UNC program that its all-time winning percentage (regardless of game site) is .911 and its winning percentage at Fetzer Field is .916.

Named for former Tar Heel athletic director and track coach Robert Allison Fetzer, the stadium has been the home of Carolina soccer since 1947, the first year that UNC sponsored a varsity men's team. The women's program was started in 1979 as one of the first varsity women's programs in the nation. Anson Dorrance has been the only head coach of the women's program in that time and only five men have served as the head coach of men's teams in games played at Fetzer Field since 1947. Dorrance served as the men's team head coach for 12 seasons (1977-88).

Located in the heart of the Carolina campus directly adjacent to historic Carmichael Arena on South Road, also referred to as Raleigh Road, the playing field, track and grandstand was completed in 1935 as a Works Project Administration program during the administration of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt. In the heart of the Great Depression, the building of Fetzer Field provided a plethora of much needed jobs to Tar Heel natives who were then suffering through economic depravation.

The facility's renovations over the years have made it one of the most beautiful all-around collegiate venues in the nation. Fetzer Field sits in a natural valley in the center of campus surrounded by Carmichael Arena (the home of Carolina basketball from 1965-86), the Michael Hooker intramural fields, the Institute of Government, the Ed-die Smith Field House, Henry Stadium, the Navy Field football and lacrosse practice fields, Teague and Carmichael dormitories and Kessing Outdoor Pool.

From early 1989 to the fall of 1990, the playing field itself was reworked and leveled, the grandstand was refitted with new aluminum bleachers, a new track was installed, lights were added, two ticket booths were added to the front gate, a permanent concession stand was erected and a computer scoreboard/message center was installed.

Large crowds have been the rule at Fetzer Field since the inception of the women's soccer program in 1979. The two largest crowds attended Tar Heel matchups against Notre Dame. The third largest crowd was in attendance for the legendary Mia Hamm's collegiate finale when a total of 5,721 fans were on hand at Fetzer Field as Carolina routed George Mason 6-0 in the NCAA title game on November 21, 1993.

Currently Fetzer Field is the home facility for six of Carolina's 28 varsity teams—men's soccer, women's soccer, men's outdoor track and field, women's outdoor track and field, men's lacrosse and women's lacrosse. Fetzer Field is at the heart of the UNC athletic program. It is the home facility for four different sports which have won NCAA championships in their histories (men's soccer, women's soccer, men's lacrosse, women's lacrosse).

The facility has been home not only to women's soccer NCAA championship rounds and ACC Tournaments, but also to ACC Track and Field Championships, the N.C. High School Athletic Association Track and Field Championships, the National Junior Olympics in track and field, men's soccer, men's lacrosse and women's lacrosse ACC Tournaments, men's soccer NCAA first and second round and quarterfinal action, NCAA men's lacrosse tournament action in first round, quarterfinal and semifinal games and women's lacrosse matches in first rounds and quarterfinals. In the summer of 1996, the facility was the home training site for the U.S. Track and Field Team as it prepared for the Summer Olympic Games in Atlanta.

McCaskill Soccer Center

The McCaskill Soccer Center on the University of North Carolina campus was dedicated in a gala ceremony on April 11, 1999. Attending the event were members of the Educational Foundation as well as other University of North Carolina soccer enthusiasts and donors to the building project. Construction on the 6,600-square-foot soccer facility was completed shortly before its dedication.

The McCaskill Soccer Center is located on the same site as the former soccer offices adjacent to Fetzer Field. The old soccer offices were located in a building called the UNC Soccer Hut that dated back to the original construction in 1935. The new structure honored the McCaskill family, long-time supporters of Tar Heel athletics.

The two-story structure accommodates varsity men's and women's soccer locker rooms on the first floor as well as a common team meeting room between the dressing areas. The second floor houses coaches' offices for both sports as well as a conference room.

Carolina has one of the richest traditions in collegiate soccer, both men and women. The men's team attained varsity status in 1947 under legendary coach Marvin Allen. The Tar Heel men have suffered only one losing season since 1957. Carolina has appeared in the NCAA Tournament 22 times in the last 29 years. One of the high water marks for the Tar Heel men's team came in 1987 when UNC claimed the ACC championship and advanced to the NCAA semifinals under the direction of coach Anson Dorrance.

Under the auspices of head coach Elmar Bolowich, the Tar Heel men's team made great strides during the 1999 season, earning its first NCAA bid in five years. The 2000 season was an amazing one for UNC men's soccer as Carolina claimed the ACC cham-

UNC also advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals in 2005 and 2012 and in 2008 the Tar Heels advanced all the way to the NCAA championship game as the tournament's No. 13 seed. In 2009, Carolina made a return to the NCAA College Cup, falling on penalty kicks in the semifinals. The 2010 Tar Heels made it three College Cups in a row, advancing on penalty kicks in the second and third rounds and the NCAA quarterfinals. After Carlos Somoano took over as head coach in in college athletics. The Tar Heels have won 22 national championships in the 35 years in which tournaments have been held. The women have an all-time record of 792-63-32. The women have an incredible record of 339-26-11 at Fetzer Field. In 21 of the past 32 years, Carolina has had at least one player chosen National Player of the Year by a soccer organization. Eight Tar Heels were members of the U.S. National Team that won the title at the 1999 Women's World Cup championship and four played on the 2008 Olympic Team which claimed a gold medal. Six Tar Heels played on the U.S. team which won the World Cup in 2015.

The destruction of the Old UNC Soccer Hut was carried out in 1997. Construction of the new building commenced following the conclusion of the 1997 season. In the meantime, the soccer offices were housed in temporary facilities at Finley Field, the Tar Heels' practice facility near the University golf course. While the new center has over five times more space than the old facility, the expansion occurred without any loss of parking on campus, always a major concern.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Board of Trustees approved the selection of NBBJ Architects of the Research Triangle Park to design the project. Estimated cost of construction was approximately $1.7 million. The project was funded through Athletic Department funds and Educational Foundation gifts. The building was named in honor of Bud and Mildred McCaskill, long-time benefactors of the University.

Together, Fetzer Field and the McCaskill Soccer Center give Carolina two of the best facilities in collegiate soccer.

CHAPEL HILL

Home for a Lifetime

- Chapel Hill has been ranked the Most Livable Small City (less than 100,000) in America.
- Chapel Hill has a population of approximately 60,000 and neighboring Carrboro adds another 20,000 people.
- The Chapel Hill/Carrboro area offers a wealth of dining, shopping and entertainment options, with many more located nearby in Hillsborough, Durham and Raleigh.
- Chapel Hill's location is ideal, within an easy drive of North Carolina's beautiful beaches and mountains.

Often referred to as "The Southern Part of Heaven," Chapel Hill has been called the perfect college town by several publications, including Sports Illustrated.

Running along the north edge of campus, Franklin Street is the heart of Chapel Hill. It provides a mix of restaurants, shops and nightlife, and also serves as the town's meeting place. UNC fans rush Franklin Street to celebrate Tar Heel titles, and each year Halloween festivities draw thousands of revelers.

The Tar Heels won NCAA titles in both women's and men's lacrosse in 2016

• UNC has won more national championships and more conference championships than any other school in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

• UNC has finished among the top 10 in the Directors' Cup standings 13 times in the past 15 years and 19 times in the 23-year history of the competition. The Tar Heels were seventh in 2015-16.

• Carolina is one of three programs to rank in the top 10 in both the men's (second) and women's (fourth) standings in the Capital One Cup in 2015-16.

• Some of the best-known names in sports – such as Michael Jordan and Mia Hamm – wore Carolina blue.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

*Advancing to graduation,
Building Character,
Developing leadership*

LOUDERMILK CENTER FOR EXCELLENCE

- The Academic Support Program for Student-Athletes assists Tar Heel student-athletes in exploring their interests and abilities, enjoying a broad educational experience, and reaching or exceeding their academic goals.

- The Academic Support Program is housed in the Loudermilk Center for Excellence, a 150,000-square-foot facility that serves all of Carolina's nearly 800 student-athletes across 28 varsity sports. The Loudermilk Center's largest feature is the John W. Pope Student-Athlete Academic Support Center. This facility provides classrooms for teaching and tutoring, study lounges, office space and a computer lab. It also houses the Richard A. Baddour Carolina Leadership Academy, which offers leadership training for Carolina student-athletes, coaches and staff.

- The Academic Support Program helps freshmen transition from high school to college through a variety of academic programs such as academic counseling, individual tutoring, group review sessions and supplemental instruction.

- During the 2015-16 academic year, a record 356 Carolina student-athletes earned spots on the ACC Academic Honor Roll, a recognition that requires a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 for the year.

The Loudermilk Center provides plenty of space for study sessions, meetings and tutoring. Student-athletes can meet with academic advisors and counselors and also utilize the computer lab and writing center. Conveniently, Loudermilk also houses the strength and conditioning center and the student-athlete Fueling Station.

Seventeen Tar Heels were tapped for ACC Academic Honor Roll in 2015-16. Paige Nielsen earned honors for the fourth year in a row. Joanna Boyles, Cameron Castleberry and Darcy McFarlane were second-time honorees. Named to the List for a second year in a row were Megan Buckingham, Annie Kingman and Jessie Scarpa. First-time honorees were Julia Ashley, Dorian Bailey, Katie Bowen, Nicole Crutchfield, Sarah Ashley Firstenberg, Hanna Gardner, Kate Morris, Alex Newfield, Frances Reuland and Maya Worth.

CAROLINA WOMEN'S SOCCER

- The team had a combined grade point average of 3.053 in the 2016 spring semester.
- The team currently has a cumulative squad GPA of 3.051.
- Joanna Boyles was named to All-ACC Academic Team for second straight year. Alex Newfield, Paige Nielsen and Dorian Bailey made the team for the first time.
- Paige Nielsen was a finalist for the 2015 Senior CLASS Award.
- Six Tar Heels were on the fall 2015 Dean's List – Cameron Castleberry, Hanna Gardner, Annie Kingman, Darcy McFarlane, Frances Reuland and Maya Worth
- The Tar Heels did one better in the spring of 2016 with seven Dean's List honorees – Julia Ashley, Megan Buckingham, Nicole Crutchfield, Hanna Gardner, Annie Kingman, Darcy McFarlane and Frances Reuland

RICHARD A. BADDOUR CAROLINA LEADERSHIP ACADEMY

Developing World-Class Leaders for a Lifetime of Service and Success

UNC student-athletes have the opportunity to participate in the Richard A. Baddour Carolina Leadership Academy, now in its 13th year of ground-breaking leadership training.

As the nation's premier leadership development program in collegiate athletics, the Leadership Academy develops, challenges and supports student-athletes, coaches and staff in their continual quest to become world-class leaders in athletics, academics and life.

The Leadership Academy provides comprehensive and cutting-edge leadership development programming through interactive workshops, 360-degree feedback, one-on-one coaching, peer mentoring and educational resources.

The Richard A. Baddour Carolina Leadership Academy offers five programs for student-athletes:

Carolina CREED Program

Leadership training begins in the first year at UNC. All leadership begins with personal leadership, therefore first-year student-athletes are taught skills to effectively lead themselves. Training consists of monthly meetings featuring keynote speakers and small group discussion.

CREED Mentors Program

Upperclass student-athletes are selected to serve as CREED mentors, directing discussions and helping to build community. Special focus is on responsibility, accountability, making good choices, ethics and character building.

Rising Stars Program

Designed for a select group of "high potential" sophomores and juniors, the program provides future leaders with insights, strategies and skills necessary to become effective leaders. The program includes monthly meetings, interactive exercises and action learning experiences.

Leadership Lab Program

This level is an opportunity for continued leadership reflection, mentorship, and application. Leadership reflection entails authentically sourced curriculum for leadership workshops. Mentorship is offered by coaches, department staff members, and current team leadership. Leadership application involves a leadership project.

Veteran Leaders Program

This program is designed for team captains and veteran student-athletes. It provides advanced leadership training and support, teaches the critical skills and insights necessary to be effective vocal leaders and provides a strong peer network. Student-athletes meet regularly to learn and reinforce leadership principles as well as share successes, frustrations and lessons.

UNC's Veteran Leaders learn about leadership under pressure by visiting with the trauma, critical care and air care teams at UNC Hospitals

Fifteen women's soccer players have earned the Tar Heel Leader of Distinction Award, the Leadership Academy's highest honor. The most recent to be honored is Paige Nielsen (front), who was recognized in 2015-16.
